7 Teachers Retire

er turnover ratios of any county in the state. This fact has made the problem of teacher recruitment a lesser one than can be anticipated in the immediate future. At present from all of the institutions in the state training teachers there are only 1200 graduating annually. The state needs 3500 teachers annually to meet present-day demands, Mr. Hawkins explained. Nearly two-thirds of the teachers needed in the state must be recruited from other states. Garrett County has been able to fill all vacancies this far with well-trained certified people, among whom are both beginners and experienced teachers.

Retiring this year are:

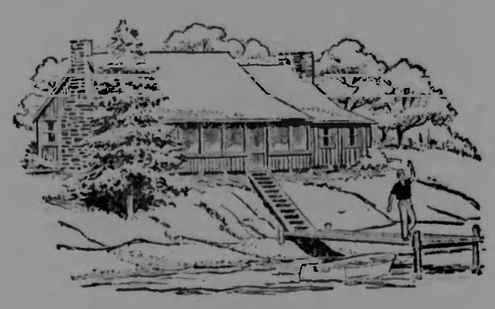
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT
Better Health Through Knowledge
Catching Trench Mouth
● Blood Cholesterol

Q. Is it possible to get trench mouth from glasses that have been washed and dried in the ordinary way?

A. Trench mouth is usually passed along by direct contact such as kissing. In the home, washing glasses in clean water and drying with a clean cloth would probably remove most harmful germs. It is not enough to simply swish a glass in a sink containing water that has been used to "wash" other dishes and "drying" the glass with a much used cloth. A glass washed in this way could be loaded with germs. Positive proof that such conditions as colds, influenza, and trench month can be passed along in this way is difficult to obtain but it would seem possible. One good practice is to give all washed dishes and silverware a final rinse with boiling water.



Q. Does blood cholesterol vary from time to time or does it remain constant? Is there a normal reading and, if so, what would it be for a person age 50?

A. In general, the blood cholesterol level remains fairly constant, provided the intake of cholesterol is not excessive. There are no precise figures that can be considered "normal" although blood cholesterol should be within certain average limits. Doctors generally agree that persons over 30 or so should have periodic cholesterol blood checks. If found out of bounds, the amount of cholesterol in the blood can be brought down by dietary and other means.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

100,000 Lunches Served at Southern

Over one hundred thousand lunches were served to Southern High School students and teachers this past year, according to the annual report prepared by Carl Everly, vice principal.

The exact number of lunches served to students was 104,136; to adults, 6,142 making a total of 110,278. While this represented a slight decrease in the number of lunches served as compared with last year's figures, student participation was 59.2%, an increase of about 8% over the previous year's record.

Other interesting figures showed that the cafeteria sold 181,300 half-pints of milk. Receipts totaling $42,605.76, were also shown on the final report. Expenditures, including food, labor and purchase of new equipment amounted to $42,722.08. While a slight deficit is shown, this is accounted for by the replacement of a dish-washing machine and also the purchase of an additional deep freeze unit. All labor costs and purchase of food and equipment must be borne by the school cafeteria.

Mr. Everly also pointed out that a sizeable cash reserve is maintained to meet unforeseen emergencies and to make it possible to pay all bills at the end of each month of operation.

David Gonder Wins High Scout Award

David Gonder, Oakland, is the fourth scout to be awarded the equivalent of the God and County award, one of the high honors in scouting. He qualified for the Altar of God in February, 1958, and received the award with 125 other scouts of the Archdiocese of Baltimore at the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen, May 15. The Altar of God award is the Roman Catholic equivalent of the Protestant God and Country award. It is given to Boy Scouts who have achieved the rank of first class or above and who complete the other requirements for the award in his church.

Gonder was a mass server since his fourth grade in school and served in the choir for five years. He also was active in other church functions and had to have a good knowledge of his Catholic Catechism. His most difficult task was to make a pilgrimage to the Franciscan monastery and the national shrine of the Immaculate Conception, both in Washington. Attending the ceremonies were: Miss Charlotte Jean Gonder, W. K. Johns, scout-explorer adviser; George Deems, and Charles Newman, Boy Scout Field Representative. Archbishop Francis P. Keough presented the award.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Last week's old picture was of the Deer Park Cornet band; this week another famous musical group of years past is featured.

Bert Browning, who supplied the photo, identified the group as the "Browning Brothers' Orchestra," which gained considerable renown throughout the area early in the century. The picture shows the musicians as they appeared in an old time fiddlers' contest in 1902 or 1903 in Grafton, W. Va. On this occasion, Mr. Browning remembers, seventeen fiddlers' groups appeared in the Brinkman Opera house in that city.

The Browning members of the orchestra were all sons of John L. Browning, and are shown in the first row of the picture. They were said by Mr. Browning to be Stephen, Ralph, Edward, John F., Abel and Thomas. The boy seated in the front row was not identified, nor were the musicians in the two rows to the rear.

One of their last appearances was in 1926, when they played over Radio Station KDKA in Pittsburgh and made one of their last contest appearances at the Maryland Theatre in Oakland, matching their fiddling prowess against the "Fiddling Mountainers."

Managers of the contest were the late T. A. Kimmell and the late J. W. Whorton, of Oakland.

Clarifies Musicians

Mrs. George Comp, who supplied the photograph of the cornet players published last week, has furnished a new list of musicians shown. The names printed, while substantially the same, were inadvertently taken from a similar picture.

She said those in the photo were Lee Bailey, Alexander Jacks, Harry Thrasher, Sam Speicht, Rev. Westfall, Tommy Garrett, W. D. Hove, W. M. Landis, Clarence Lashorn, Wilfred Chadderton, Walter Bowman, Russell Thrasher, Otto (Ode) Filsinger and Robert Thrasher. The young boy shown on the left beside the snare drummer is Harry Chadderton, son of Wilfred Chadderton.

Another Deer Park resident called to say the man in the lower right hand corner was Ode Filsinger and Clarence Lashorn was on the left of the bass drum.

Hooks Huge Pike

Jack Williams, a garage operator in Friendsville, last week caught the largest great northern pike ever netted in Maryland waters. The pike was 13½ pounds in weight and measured an even three feet at 36 inches. He hooked the monster in the Yough River where Mill Run, a trout stream, empties into the river. These northern pike were stocked several years ago by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission in Yough Lake. The fish have migrated into Garrett County's part of the river. Early in May a pike weighing 9 pounds and four ounces was caught by Raymond VanSickle of Friendsville in the same area. The pike caught by Williams was about a mile from the Pennsylvania border when hooked.

Fence-sitting isn't the safest occupation for the small fry, even if it is fun.

But fence-sitting for grown-ups is neither safe nor fun!

A man has to take a stand. He must let the world know his convictions. He must live them!

The principles in which we believe can perish while we dawdle uncommitted, uncertain, or unchurched.

Behind the Iron curtain men who are determined to overthrow freedom and faith hide neither their communism nor their atheism.

Here in America on a Sunday morning; no man can afford to sit on the fence IF he believes in God, and in the right to worship Him in the Church of his choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Good Fruits

Lesson for June 19, 1960

CHRISTIANITY is not an impossible religion. Some people think it is, but they don't understand it. Two very common mistakes are made at this point. One is to think that Christianity is essentially a set of dogmas, a creed too complicated to understand. Now of course, if you are going to talk about God, you are sure to strike mysteries sooner or later, in the nature of the case. God cannot be put into words. But Christianity is not words, though it has never thrived without them. Christ did not choose his first followers for their theological skills. The other mistake is to think that Christianity consists of the perfect performance of very difficult deeds. And since all of us who are honest must confess that our deeds are not terribly difficult and we do not do them with spectacular success (to say the least of it)—and so we are inclined to give up Christianity, because it's "not possible."

Dr. Foreman

What you can't see

The truth is, Christianity is neither ideas you can't grasp nor deeds you can't do. Nevertheless, Christianity is concerned both with ideas and with acts. In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus concentrates on acts: actions and habits, but also motives, for motives are part of every action. He speaks of them plainly, and also poetically. His figure of speech is "fruits." He mentions false prophets, and offers a simple way of telling a false prophet from a true one. "By their fruits you shall know them," he says. We must bear in mind that Jesus did not say, "By their fruits God knows them." God's wisdom sees into the hearts of all women and men, sifting the bad from the good. We ourselves can never fully explore one another's hearts. Indeed, who of us can fully explore his own heart? Who knows the full truth about his own motives, desires, disposition? When grain first comes out of the ground, a tiny green shoot, only an expert can tell whether this is wheat (say) or rye. It all looks alike to the city man dashing through the country. But when harvest time comes only a very unobservant city visitor could mistake wheat for rye.

What you can see

It is we human beings who need to see the fruits before we can tell about the plant, be it grain or trees. Kindly observe how practical Jesus is. He talks of "good fruit," not "perfect fruit." Some odd thinkers have thought that Christ, in the Sermon on the Mount, was doing his best to discourage us, to show that the Christian life is impossible. On the contrary, doesn't it sound as if Jesus were trying to encourage us? He assumes that people admire good fruit, and that there can be good fruit in their lives. Let us put that into non-poetic language. Jesus teaches here that all men understand what good actions are, that all men prefer—in others at least! good actions; and that we can tell whether a man is good by watching what he does. To make all this perfectly plain, Jesus draws a sort of picture of the Last Judgment. Some persons who have been quite "orthodox,"—that is, they always gave him the high title of Lord—will miss eternal life, because their lives show no fruits that can be called good. Right opinions never make up for wrong actions.

Not for credit

Jesus had little use, on the other hand, for people who were all wrapped up, so to speak, in their own good deeds; people who called attention to themselves and considered themselves better than others; people who want to be sure God notices their good actions so that they will receive proper credit. In Matthew 25 Jesus draws a picture of the Last Judgment which shows the kind of good deed which God finally rewards. The people who will stand at Christ's right hand are those who have done good as well as been good; but what kind of good? Unconscious acts, that is, acts which come out of a person's real character rather than being undertaken as a demonstration of one's own righteousness. Unselfish acts too; doing yourself a good turn (and how slick we are at it!) is not Christ's idea of good fruit.

What Does God's Law Say—"BETWEEN The Lines?"

Few Christians will deny that the Ten Commandments are God's design for human conduct. Some so-called Christians think they are out-moded.

But how many know what they really mean?

"Thou shalt not steal," for example, obviously forbids robbery, burglary and embezzlement. What many evidently do not realize is that this Commandment also forbids evasion of just debts, bribery to gain political and business advantages, lending money at usurious rates, and other sharp practices which are often dishonestly excused as "smart business."

The Commandments speak only in broad, general terms. Their full meaning can be understood only in the light of the teaching of the New Testament. "I am the Lord, thy God; thou shalt not have strange gods before me," is taken by some to mean only that they must believe in a Supreme Being. Actually, it obliges us to prayer, gratitude, hope and worship, even though these words are not mentioned.

Most Christians agree that The Lord's Day must be kept holy. Yet there is a wide difference of opinion as to how this should be done . . . indeed, there is even some disagreement as to when the Lord's Day should be observed.

When God said "Thou shalt not kill," He was not warning mankind merely against murder due to greed, lust or vengeance. He was telling us plainly that He, Who alone had the power to create human life, was reserving for Himself the right to take it away. And He made no exceptions for deliberate abortion and the so-called "mercy killings" which some Christians seek to justify today.

A wide variance of opinion also prevails as to the meaning of the Commandment: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." Some apparently think this is a prohibition only against perjury in a courtroom. Actually, it is a warning against lies of all descriptions and all acts of commission and omission which injure the good name and reputation of another.

You hear people say, with smug assurance: "I keep the Commandments—that's enough." And it would indeed be enough if they truly understood what the Commandments require. But we must read "between the lines" if we are rightly to understand God's instructions and to live according to His design. If you want to be sure . . . if you want to refresh your mind on the true and full meaning of God's rules of life . . . write today for our free Pamphlet No. KC-12. It will be sent to you in a plain wrapper, and nobody will call on you.

The church was decorted with white lilies, mums and pine. Mrs. Thelma Arnold played the traditional wedding music, and Mrs. Harold Sharpless sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Convention Names Fireman Of The Year

Allan M. Deffinbaugh, fire chief of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, last Thursday was named "Fireman of the Year" during the annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's association, which was being held in Deer Park.

Chief Deffinbaugh, who is a charter member of the company, has been chief for three years and prior to that served as assistant chief.

He is a Cumberland postal worker, married and the father of three children.

After the announcement was made at the convention, Chief Deffinbaugh was presented with a trophy and the fire company was presented with a larger trophy which will be held until another fire company is declared recipient.

This is the third year the awards have been given by independent insurance companies of the two counties. Last year James Lamberson was declared winner and in 1958 Joseph Durst of Frostburg was named the winner.

Selection of the winner is based on outstanding service to the individual fire company, the two-county association or the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

This outstanding service includes public relations, fire prevention, training, heroism in fire fighting, leadership on the fire ground, general leadership in the individual department, county or state association, development of new and more efficient effort of operation or outstanding cooperation and performance of the general duties required by all firemen.

Control Of Alfalfa Weevil

The alfalfa weevil has been reported on many alfalfa fields in Garrett County. Farmers are finding this pest difficult to control since the use of Heptachlor has been forbidden by the Food and Drug Administration.

The following sprays are recommended by Barry Carr, Asst. Agent:

Methoxychlor at the rate of 3 qts. per acre

Malathion at the rate of 1½ pints per acre.

Either of the above spray materials should be applied when the alfalfa is 10 to 12 inches tall but no later than 7 days before harvest or pasturing. If harvest infestation is severe, treat stubble as soon as crop is removed. Twenty-five gallons of water should be used per acre at 50 to 75 pounds pressure.

Methoxychlor is slightly more effective against the alfalfa weevil. It will also control leafhopper and spittlebug. Malathion should be used where pea aphids are a problem.

Methaxychlor and malathion kill the larvae or grubs of the alfalfa weevil, but will not kill the adults. Egg laying continues and the crop is likely to become reinfested in a week or 10 days. Then another application will be needed

Area Nature Laboratory Result Of Student Work

A project started back in 1952 to prepare a nature laboratory on the 134 acre grounds of Northern High School is beginning to bear fruit.

The nature laboratory is located in part of the wooded section of a tract owned by the school.

Fifty per cent of the school grounds is in farming or pasture land and the remainder in timber.

Back in 1948 when R. Rowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, was Garrett county superintendent of schools, the idea for a nature area was proposed.

Charles Strauss, science teacher instituted a program to prepare this outdoor plot.

Started In 1952

In the fall of 1952, with all students participating in science projects related with their studies, the laboratory was started. Trees and shrubs were obtained through class funds and bronze markers were placed on standards beside each one after they were planted. The plaques list the Latin and English names of the plants, and also the classes that donated them.

A flower garden with rocks in the shape of a star has been placed at the entrance of the woodland trail. A rustic wooden entrance was constructed to lend a finished touch to the trail leading into the forest.

Further on in the woods, one comes upon the outdoor amphitheatre which also was constructed by the shop classes. Sturdy posts were placed in the ground and on top of them rough lumber was nailed to give rows of sound seating on the section of the wooded hillside that was cleared. At the foot of the seas, a bandstand was constructed from rough lumber.

First Assembly Held

The first assembly program was held in the amphitheatre May 23 with the junior and senior bands playing before a backdrop of tall trees.

Expansion of the nature trails into the 60-odd acres of school forest is planned by the students under the gnidance of Strauss and the science teachers, Justin A. Riggs, Robert Wilson and Kenneth Keplinger. The school has not only taken advantage of this wooded area for applied education, but has utilized the flat fields for scientific farming practices.

A visit to the school will find tractors operating in the many acres of farm land. The outdoor agriculture program works hand-in-hand with classroom theory. For instance, potatoes and corn are planted to find the best varieties for the cool highlands of the Allegheny Plateau. Then the crops are harvested and sold to bring to the students first-hand practice in marketing.

Study Dairy Cattle

There is also pasture land where the boys can study dairy cattle and swine the 4-H and Future Farmers chapters raise.

The physical education program also utilizes the broad expanse of the grounds. There are Field Day activities, along with archery and softball. A tennis program is being instituted.

Of course, there is the football field for the Northern High Huskies for interscholastic competition.

Plans Bible School

"The Church" will be the theme of study in the Vacation Bible School to be held at the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, south of Grantsville, Monday, June 20 thru Friday, July 1 from 9:30-11:30 a. m.

Teachers and courses of study have been announced as follows:—Kingergarten, "Together In Our Church", Mrs. Guy Frickey and Ellen Ann McKenzie; Primary, "Everyone Needs A Church," Mrs. Walter Younkin; Junior, "Learning Ahout Our Church", Mrs. Vena Beachy and Janet Younkin; Junior Hi, "Who Are the Brethren," Mrs. Kenneth Hetrick.

Mrs. Walter Younkin and Rev. Clarence Moyers will direct the Bible School. Transportation is in charge of Mrs. Younkin.

98 Southern High Students Cited for Perfect Attendance

Ninety-eight students at Southern High school were recognized for having perfect attendance during the past school year at the final assembly held this past Monday morning just prior to dismissing school for the summer vacation.

Carl Everly, vice-principal, said that this was a most enviable record. Grade seven showed both the highest number and the highest percentage as twenty-three students were reported. The tenth grade was second with nineteen students. Other grades were reported as follows: grade nine, 18; grade eight, 13; grade eleven, 13; and grade twelve, 12. Last year eighty-nine students showed a perfect record.

In the graduating class, David Gonder had an eight year record. Carolyn Spoerlein and Earline Wise, also members of the graduating class, each reported seven years of perfect attendance while Shirley Snyder maintained a perfect record for her last six years. Franklin Fitzwater, of the seventh grade, was also recognized for having had perfect attendance for each seven years he has been in school.

Mr. Everly also recognized 331 other students who had missed less than five days of school during the past year.

The overall record of attendance at Southern for the past year which was submitted to John Fitzwater, County Personnel Supervisor, showed an overall average of 94.44%. In view of the unusual amount of bad weather which Garrett County experienced during the past year, this was considered an excellent record of attendance by officials.

Those having perfect attendance for the year were:

Hershberger-Salzman — St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, College Park, was the scene of an evening wedding on Saturday, April 2nd, when Miss Kathryn Virginia Salzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Salzman of Newburg, Maryland, became the bride of Daniel Dudley Hershberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Hershberger of Grantsville.

The seven o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold McGee, assisted by Rev. Wade Safford before the altar decorated with arrangements of all white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations.

Miss Phyllis Cramer, cousin of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length gown of silk embroidered organza over taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of silk organza flowers and seed pearls and she carried a white prayer book adorned with streamers of Stephanotis and covered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Harry Kelly of Washington, D. C., was matron of honor for her sister, wearing a hyacinth blue silk organza over taffeta gown, matching tiara with nose veil and carried a cascade arrangement of yellow iris, tulips, Freesia and daisies.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Hershberger, sister-in-law of the groom, Miss Carolyn Gross, and Miss Patricia Hershberger and Mrs. James Sanders. Their gowns and headdresses were identical to the matron of honor and they carried cascade bouquets of assorted colored daisies.

The bride chose for her traveling costume for their motor trip through the South, a white sheath dress with black jacket, black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hershberger is a gradnate of LaPlata High school and the University of Maryland and is now teaching at Palmer Park School in Prince Georges County.

Mr. Hershberger attended University of Maryland, and is a student at Strayer's School of Accountancy. He served four years with the United States Air Force, most of which was spent in France.

The young couple is residing at 3405 Toledo Terrace, West Hyattsville.

CHEVROLET
OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—
Chevy middleweights get ⅓ more work done in a day!
Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.
If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

GOP Convention Names Delegates After Floor Fight

After a hectic floor battle over seats on their delegation to the party national convention, Maryland Republicans Saturday approved former Representative Edward T. Miller as their new national committeeman.

Miller defeated White House speech writer Malcolm Moos 16-7 in a caucus by the freshly elected 24 national delegates.

The committee delegates were elected moments earlier at a tempestuous state convention which, in one of its tranquil moments, endorsed Vice President Nixon as expected.

Sparking the floor fight—an unusual Republican sight in overwhelmingly Democratic Maryland—were younger elements of the party challenging leaders on the composition of the national convention delegation. They got some concessions but lost the showdown when they tried for more.

State Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart, United States Senator J. Glenn Beall and other party veterans were reported to have urged before the convention that the city be given only three at-large delegates instead of the traditional five. City leader effected a compromise at four and also named at least three—Sekulow, Mrs. Moos and George D. Hubbard—who were not on the original list.

Besides naming Miller, the delegation to the national convention opening July 25 in Chicago voted to retain Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell as national committee-woman and to install Rinehart as its chairman. Sekulow was named secretary of the delegation.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) in this keynote speech to the convention, said the Democrats "have produced the best crop of brokenfield runners in recent political history but haven't come forward with any man qualified to call signals for the United States."

Scott said the recent U-2 spy plane incident "blasted another of their favorite political themes" that the United States was second to the Soviet Union in military preparedness.

"The incident revealed that the military has been gathering some remarkably accurate data on Russian military potential for several years," said Scott.

The Pennsylvania senator said Democrats had complained before the U-2 that the United States was at a disadvantage in "defense gaps, missile gaps, Air Force gaps, and others."

When the value of U-2 reconnaissance was shown, Scott added, Democrats began complaining about its discontinuance as a resultant "reconnaissance gap."

The convention elected these delegates to the national convention opening July 25 in Chicago.

At-Large—U. S. Sen. John Marshall Butler, U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, State Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart, Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell, former Rep. James P. S. Devereux, Mrs. Dorothy Auhinoe, State Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, Racing Commissioner Albert Shugar, Dr. John C. Woodland.

They also named two from each Congressional District. Garrett County's only representative was Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney, as an alternate from the 6th Congressional District.

Allegany County got three—two as delegates, and one as alternate.

Annapolis mother reports telephone saves $22.54 and 32 hours in two weeks...prevents destruction of neighbor's wooded land

We recently asked Mrs. John Whitmore to keep a two-week "diary" of her family's telephone calls—estimating the amount of time, money and traveling, if any, each call saved.

Mrs. Whitmore has a teen-age daughter, Betsy; is active in her community PTA and serves as president of a 160-member women's club, the Severn Town Club, in Annapolis.

She found that the telephone saved 32 valuable hours and $22.54 in expense, including the cost and trouble of 269 miles they did not have to travel.

But Mrs. Whitmore says, "While the time and money our telephone saves are important, the job it does is often more important. For instance, one call was to a neighbor across the lake—to tell him we could see what looked like a fire in his woods. It was a fire—and required three companies to bring it under control. How can one estimate savings on that item?"

If you should ever keep a telephone diary, we think you, too, would find that your telephone pays for itself many times over—not only in money it saves but in pleasure and usefulness.

OUT OF GRAIN ON YOUR FARM?

We can help you with a top quality dairy feed that is lower in cost than the price of purchased grain. Available in various protein levels and in pellets also. If your cattle hesitate to eat ground feed these days—try pellets—they will be eaten more readily than any feed that you have ever tried before. Pellets also cut down the fly problem in your dairy barn because they will leave no fly-attracting molasses residue in the mangers. This feed is not a local mixed ration, it is an evenly blended ration made from top quality ingredients that are backed by a quality control laboratory and research tested on our feed research farm. Try some today and see the results, you and your cows will be pleased. Come in or call today.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"THE YANKEES AT THE OLYMPICS"

In approximately two months a team of crack American amateurs will stream across the field of the Foro Italico in Rome for the 1960 Olympic Games. It is disturbingly probable they will be beaten, perhaps decisively, by another team of athletes from a nation dedicated to winning—the Soviet Union. To the Soviets the Olympics is a golden opportunity to score a propaganda as well as an athletic victory.

The reason for their probable success lies in a recent Soviet boast: "Let the Americans train their amateurs. We will train our professionals." The Communists are not concerned with subtle interpretations of amateur and professional ethics—they are concerned with winning at any price and by any means. They understand full well that the Olympics Games are not "games" at all but another duel for world opinion between the United States and the Soviet Union. And to win that duel the Communists will call upon a vast reserve of men and women who are neither "amateur" nor "professional" but simply athletes.

In stark and naive contrast the United States is entering the Games like a 100-yard sprinter with one leg tied behind his back. The recent Mathias decision is a distressing case in point. Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon champion in 1948 and 1952, has said publicly that he would like to make a comeback in an effort to stop what he believes could well be the Russians' first decathlon victory. He would be an undeniable asset to the American team and yet the honorary secretary of the American Athletic Union has flatly ruled that Mathias is "ineligible" because he has appeared on television and in moving pictures. Such an attitude is completely unrealistic.

Two remedies can and should be applied to correct this lamentable situation: (1) the AAU should lay down more sensible standards for amateurs, their services and their rewards; and (2) the International Olympic Committee should establish one set of rules of eligibility for all contestants instead of allowing, as at present, each country to determine the fitness of its own entrants.

Once this is done, it will be possible for American athletes to meet the Soviets on a more equal basis in the classic framework of competition: That it matters not whether you win or lose but how you play the game. At present such a philosophy only leads to defeat and nothing more.

VOLUME 81 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., JUNE 23, 1960 — PER COPY, 8c — NUMBER 17.

Good Advice - - -

Senator Barry Goldwater recently startled some political colleagues with a recommendation that diplomatic recognition of Soviet Russia be withdrawn.

In a recent book he suggested also that Americans place their foreign policy and their domestic governmental operation on the sound foundation of moral law and common sense.

He considers world Communism to be an evil force, our enemy in a "cold war" that we are losing. On the open record of history he considers the Communist leaders to be guilty of towering crimes against mankind. And he notes that the record of history shows you cannot do business with them without injury. He declares that in our government's present drive for "peace" our people and our government leaders must be made to realize that peace in which freedom and justice will prevail is a peace in which Soviet power will no longer be in a position to threaten us and the rest of the world.

He claims the real cause of our continuing defeat in the Cold War can be simply stated. Our enemies understand the nature of the conflict, they are determined to win and we are not. We have tried to pacify the world. The Communists mean to own it.

He urges that we maintain military superiority, keep America economically strong, behave like a great power, reflect strength and confidence and purpose, as well as good will. He feels we should furnish foreign aid only to friendly, anti-Communist nations, willing to join with us in the struggle for freedom, and make our aid loans, not gifts. We should encourage captive people to revolt against their Communist rulers and be prepared to undertake military operations against vulnerable Communist regimes.

Senator Goldwater may have something!

County and Towns Share $38,647.50 In Income Tax Funds

Almost forty thousand dollars in state income tax money will come back to Garrett County this week.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that checks totaling $38,647.50 are being mailed to the Garrett County Commissioners and to the various towns and taxing areas of the county.

The checks represent each subdivision's share of income tax revenue collected by the comptroller's office from returns filed for 1959.

For all subdivisions of the state the checks add up to $16,497,154.70. This, added to three previous distributions this year which totaled $1,693,796.73, bring the total distribution this year to $18,190,911.43, the largest amount ever returned to the state's political subdivisions in one fiscal year.

The checks will go to all 23 Maryland counties, the city of Baltimore, and to 159 incorporated cities, towns and taxing areas.

Of the $38,647.50 that will come back to Garrett county, the County Commissioners will receive $20,744.63.

The town of Oakland will receive $5,174.14. Grantsville will get $1,253.05. Other towns were listed as follows:

Accident, $212.58; Deer Park, $188.96; Friendsville, $192.95; Kitzmiller, $257.85; Loch Lynn Heights, $250.86; Mt. Lake Park, $372.48.

County On Film—Pictured above is Hal Wingo, director of photography, from the United States Department of Agriculture. He and Joe Doherty, information specialist, were recently photographing scenes in the county for a new, color motion picture, "Rural America, Opportunities Unlimited."

Among those scenes of a local nature were: several fishermen on Deep Creek Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Heise and grandchildren on the patio of their lakefront cottage, students entering Northern High School, and a group of businessmen at Oakland. The Oakland scene depicted Frank McDaniel, Fred Thayer, Beeson Snyder, James McHenry, Mack Propst, Irvin Rudy Jr., and Richard Davis.

The film when released this fall will receive national distribution to television stations and film lending libraries.

Cancer Group Winds Up 1960 Fund Drive

The Garrett County Chapter of the Maryland Cancer Society is winding up its 1960 Crusade for funds. Cannisters are being withdrawn from business places. Businesses, industries and individuals desiring to make contributions may send their donation to Frank McDaniel, treasurer, First National Bank of Oakland, or to Dr. Arthur Jones, general chairman Garrett County Health Department, Oakland. Checks should be made payable to the Maryland Cancer Society.

Dr. Jones, speaking for the Society, thanked all who had been active in collecting funds. In the early fall the chapter will meet for election of officers and planning for the 1961 Cancer Crusade. The society welcomes contributions throughout the year, either in the form of memorials to the deceased or as ordinary contributions.

Joins Marine Corps

William Green, son of Mrs. Nora Knotts, Kitzmiller, and a 1960 graduate of Elk Garden High School, recently enlisted in the Marine Corps for a term of four years.

He will go to Parris Island, S. C., for thirteen weeks of "boot" training and then to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for individual combat training of four weeks. Upon completion of this training, Green will be granted twenty days leave before being assigned to technical schools or a duty station.

TO DEDICATE ROAD SIGNS—Road signs such as the one shown above, erected by 4-H club members, will be dedicated at a special program to be held at the county 4-H camp fire at the Western Maryland 4-H center near Bittinger on Friday evening. A project of the Garrett County 4-H council, the signs serve to welcome and urge all drivers to drive carefully as they enter the area. The picture shows Garland Steyer and Kenneth Steyer of the Ryan's Glade 4-H club placing one of the signs on Route 219. Other signs were placed on Route 50 by the Co-Oriole club, both sides of Route 40 by Grantsville clubs, and Route 135 at Bloomington, by the Chickasaw club.

Summer Theatre Improvements Are Being Made

Sixth Season Will Start July 5th With "For Love Or Money"

Improvements to the Garrett County Summer theatre are being made at present in getting ready for the sixth season which will get under way on Tuesday, July 5.

Gene Yell, director of the Playhouse, who arrived last week from Albuquerque, New Mexico, said they are working on construction of a new front terrace, enlargement of the box office, and changing the front entrance to make the former Arden Boat club barn more attractive.

Yell said the actors and actresses would begin arriving next week. They are coming from Albuquerque, Dallas, New York, Pittsburgh, and Fort Wayne, Ind. There will be all new faces this year. The only old timer will be Ray Caton who served as technician last year, and Sallie Lutin, who was stage manager. Some local talent always is used for minor parts in several of the plays.

Mr. Yell said he felt the selection of plays had been excellent, and included well known recent Broadway farces, comedies and dramas.

The sixth season will open with the play, "For Love or Money," July 5 to 9. Other plays will include "The Gazebo," July 12 to 16; "Roomful of Roses," July 19 to 23; "Girls in 509," July 26 to 30; "Misalliance," August 2 to 6; "Three Men on a Horse," August 9 to 13; "Pursuit of Happiness," August 16 to 20; and "Anniversary Waltz," August 23 to 27. Plays will run each week, Tuesday through Saturday.

A surprise advertising gimmick will be used in Oakland and surrounding communities and will be used for the first time probably on the Fourth of July.

Al Ringer, in charge of subscriptions this year, said that they were coming in but that many more were needed to keep operating at present level.

General admission is the same as last year; Tuesday through Friday, $1.90 for adults and $1.30 for children; Saturdays, $2.20 for adults and $1.50 for children. A subscription of nine admissions will cost $12.50. A patron season ticket is $25 which includes a person's listing in the weekly program.

Assisting Mr. Ringer with the subscription sale are members of AAUW, Business and Professional Women's club, Oakland Civic, Junior Woman's Civic, Lions and Rotary clubs of Oakland.

The Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland has been approved for accreditation for another three years, it was announced by the Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of hospitals. Henry W. McComas, hospital administrator, was notified of the approval last Saturday.

The recommendation was made following an evaluation of the hospital conducted on May 11 by Harland I. Metz, M. D., a field representative for the commission.

Gives Reasons For Faulty Construction Of New 219 Section

Faulty construction of the new Oakland to Gortner highway, U.S. 219, coupled with the extremely severe winter weather, have caused numerous depressions to appear, making it necessary to make extensive repairs.

These repairs have been going on for the past two or three weeks.

The reason for the breakdown in the new road was explained by John D. Bushby, district engineer last Friday while he was in Oakland on business.

He pointed out the pavement section, as designed, consisted of two four inch courses of plant mix dense graded aggregate base, plus a one-half inch bituminous concrete leveling course and one and one-half inches of bituminous concrete surface course.

He declared:

"Due to the relatively open graded texture of the bituminous concrete band that was used, and the extremely severe winter which was recently experienced in the area, and the fact that traffic was not placed on the highway until late in the fall, some distress has been evidenced, particularly along the edges of the pavement. The shoulder construction was not completed except in a very limited area in the vicinity of the railroad grade separation structure. This condition meant that water could get in to the base material.

"As a corrective measure, shoulder drains have been made effective so as to re-establish the stability of the base course, and it is proposed to proceed with patching of the base where necessary. Subsequent to exhaustive investigations by the District and construction forces, and the S.R.C. Bureau of Soils and Materials, it has been determined that an addition of at least a 1" depth of bituminous concrete surface course, using a more closely graded hand, will be required. "This measure will effectively roof the pavement and minimize any infiltration from the top.

"Insofar as traffic is concerned and by comparison with other projects in the area, we believe that the pavement was properly designed originally. The weather conditions in this area, however, insert an additional factor which was not considered to the extent necessary. We feel that the additional construction proposed is essential to adequate final construction."

McComas Installs Auxiliary Officers

Officers of the Loar Auxiliary of the Garrett County Memorial hospital were installed last Thursday evening at a regular meeting. In charge of installation was Henry W. McComas, hospital administrator.

Mrs. H. G. Gortner, Cherry Creek road, was installed as vice-president and Mrs. W. A. Swartzentruber, Gortner, was installed as secretary. They will serve two-year terms. Mrs. W. J. Ritchey, president, has another year to serve. Retiring officers were Mrs. Edward P. Kahl, vice-president, and Miss Katherine O'Donnell, secretary.

Mrs. Rosa Felda, 81, Killed Sunday By B&O Freight

Was Struck On Deer Park Crossing While Returning To Nursing Home

Mrs. Rosa Felda, aged 81, was struck and killed by a freight train at the B and O grade crossing in Deer Park on Sunday afternoon.

She was identified by State police, who said she resided at the Bowser Nursing home in Deer Park.

Authorities said the accident occurred about 4:25 p. m. as the woman crossed the tracks near the nursing home, apparently on her way back to the residence.

Witnesses said Mrs. Felda crossed the westbound tracks and was on the eastbound tracks when she was struck by the train, a coal freight enroute from Fairmont, W. Va.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. Police said she sustained a crushed chest, fractured skull, broken left arm and leg and numerous other injuries.

Witnesses said she may not have seen the train. They said she threw up her hands and didn't move from the tracks after the engineer blew his whistle. The diesel dragged her 30 to 40 feet before coming to a stop.

Engineer John Hamilton Fraser, 45, of Keyser, told state police he saw the woman on the tracks and sounded the whistle. When he realized she wasn't moving off the tracks he said he threw the train into an emergency stop, but was too close to halt in time. Police said the crossing warning system was operating at the time of the accident.

Junior Argyle Avers, Keyser, was the conductor of the train. Cpl. Samuel Conrad and Tfc. D. A. Pucker investigated.

Convicted of Manslaughter

Mrs. Felda was convicted of manslaughter in the poison death of her husband, Michael Felda, in July, 1931, for which she was sentenced to serve five years in the House of Correction. She testified at that time that she had purchased strychnine to kill rats, but that in a period of depression she had placed a quantity of the poison in a bottle of moonshine intending to kill herself. She said her husband had found the bottle which she hid, and drank the contents.

It was also testified at the trial which was held in Cumberland, having been removed from this county, that Mrs. Felda had been committed at one time to The State hospital.

Native of This County

Mrs. Felda was born at Wilson, this county, on March 11, 1879, a daughter of the late Francis and Hulda Harvey McRobie.

Mrs. Felda formerly resided at Shallmar, but had been residing at the Deer Park Nursing home for the past month.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Albert Mates, Shallmar; Mrs. Jesse Paugh, Lancaster, Ohio; two sons, Frank Felda, a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital; and George Felda, of Grateford, Pa, a sister, Mrs. Martha Fike, Vindex, 17 grandchildren and 38 great grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Sharpless Funeral home in Blaine, W. Va.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sharpless Funeral home at Blaine, W. Va., with Rev. Clifford Schell, Kitzmiller, officiating. Interment was in the Short Run cemetery near Kitzmiller.

Unoccupied Home Is Destroyed by Fire

An unoccupied house located near the Weber greenhouse, just south of town was entirely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin on Sunday morning.

The Oakland firemen were called about 7 o'clock but the building was burned to the ground by that time.

Commission Hears Arguments For and Against Gas Hike

Arguments for and against the proposed gas rate hike were heard yesterday by the Public Service commission.

An opponent to the hike complained that C. and A. gas officials "spend money in the newspapers to pat themselves on the back and soften the public up for increases."

The company complained about advance newspaper stories of its attempt to obtain permission for an increase of $883,000 a year from Allegany and Garrett county customers.

The proposed hike would affect some 21,000 customers in the two counties.

The proposed increase would mean four cents a day more from the average non-heating customer and about $4 more on the average gas bill for heating customers, or a total of $48 per year.

It was pointed out that the company's rates already had gone up 53 percent in four previous rate increases.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

"Low Calorie" Ice Cream

- Night Kidney
- Tracheotomy

Q. What is the calorie content of "low-calorie" ice cream?

A. According to an editorial in a widely read medical journal, the calorie content of special ice creams is not too different from that of ordinary ice cream. Synthetically sweetened ice cream has 176 calories per serving. Special ice cream for reducing diets and for diabetics has 133 calories per serving.

Q. Will you please explain the term "two pyelonephritis, night kidney"? Is medicine necessary?

A. Our guess is that the reader is referring to some condition involving both kidneys which makes frequent trips to the bathroom necessary. Pyelonephritis (note spelling) is, of course, a definite and meaningful medical term. Simply stated, pyelonephritis means infection of the kidney. The germs that cause the trouble may reach the kidney during the course of a blood stream infection or as a result of obstruction of the urinary system. Symptoms of pyelonephritis include chills, fever, vomiting, and sweating. There may be severe pain and tenderness or merely a dull ache in the kidney region. Most early kidney infections can be successfully treated with drugs.

Q. What is the operation called where a hole is made in the neck to help a person breathe? Does it leave a large scar?

A. The operation is called a tracheotomy (pronounced tra-ki-ot' e-mi). It is generally performed as a life-saving measure when the upper windpipe (trachea) becomes blocked. There is some scarring but this is a small price to pay to ward off almost certain death from lack of air. Incidentally, the possibility of relieving obstruction of the upper breathing tract by tracheotomy was considered by ancient physicians. However, the first authentic operation was probably performed by a Dr. Brassavola in 1546. Until modern times tracheotomy was considered a hazardous procedure and was rarely attempted. Today, doctors are so skilled that a tracheotomy is considered whenever breathing is seriously hampered by obstruction of the upper windpipe.

Grant Is Approved For Opposition To Gas Cost Boost

The Board of Public Works Tuesday approved a grant of $7,500 from the state's emergency reserve fund to gather data for opposing a rate increase requested by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company.

The money was requested by Rudolf A. Carrico, people's counsel in the Public Service Commission, to hire outside auditing and legal assistance.

Gov. Tawes had earlier told Allegany and Garrett county officials he would grant any necessary funds for examining the proposed rate hike.

The governor, recovering from an intestinal operation, was not at the meeting attended by Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Hooper S. Miles.

When Budget Director James G. Rennie read the letter from Carrico requesting funds, Goldstein moved immediately that they be granted. "I don't see any reason for gas rates to keep going up in an area where natural gas is produced," Goldstein commented.

Cumberland and Allegheny is seeking to boost its net income in Garrett and Allegany counties to $830,056, nearly double the amount realized last year. If the increase is granted, it will be the fourth time since 1952.

BUEHLER Turbocraft
BRINGS THE JET AGE TO BOATING

An exciting new world of fun, thrills and adventure is open to boating fans once they pilot the revolutionary Buehler Turbocraft. With no propeller, no rudder, nothing under the hull, the Turbocraft races through as little as three inches of water . . . over logs and floating debris. It makes 180-degree turns in its own length—at full throttle. The Turbocraft is fast. It's fun. And it's the safest boat afloat.

Stop in now and inspect the Turbocraft. See the unusual features that make this boat completely different from any you've ever piloted. Ask us about demonstrations.

Jet Power—the Buehler Turbocraft operates on the same principle as jet aircraft. Water under high pressure is directed out the stern of the boat, providing forward thrust similar to that of jet engines.

Jet Performance—instant acceleration, unparalleled maneuverability and the ability to plane in as little as three inches of water give the Buehler Turbocraft performance unequalled by any conventional boat.

Jet Safety—with no propeller and no rudder, the Buehler Turbocraft sets an entirely new standard of safety. There is nothing under the hull to be damaged or cause injury to swimmers and skiers.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Orchestra Members Are Identified

T. A. Kimmell, of Mt Lake Park, who was manager of the music makers during their tours throughout the section, said he could remember each one pictured—and promptly proved it.

Mr. Kimmell said the picture, made in 1903, was taken in the Pritchard Photographic Gallery in Oakland.

Today's Picture

The old photograph printed today is another remembered by Mr. Kimmell, who loaned it for publication.

It was taken in 1903, he recalled, at Meadow Mountain. Pictured is an operation of the Meadow Mountain Lumber company, at that time engaged in timbering operations for the mills at Friendsville. The logs shown in the picture were transported by narrow gauge railroad some 30 miles to the mill.

Mr. Kimmell said he was employed in the operation, which lasted about five years and cut over 5,000 acres in the Meadow Mountain section including a large quantity of pulpwood.

Memories are precious things. I remember often the afternoon on our honeymoon when Jim and I visited these old cliff dwellings in Colorado. Later, we stopped at a mission church built of pink adobe. It was dark and cool inside, and you felt that many prayers had been said here, and many answered.

I thought of our own church back home — white frame, in a green New England valley. I was reared in that church, I was married in it, and you'll find Jim and me at worship in it each Sunday. It's a vital part of our life.

Unless you have a church that is vital to your life, you are missing something irreplaceable. Don't wait any longer. Select the Church of your choice — and start attending it this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Matthew 7:21-29; 21:28-32.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 3:10-15.

On The Rock

Lesson for June 26, 1960

PLEASE NOTE the title of this column. It is On the Rock, not On the Rocks. The English language is peculiar. On the Rocks is a nautical expression referring to a ship cracking up on a rocky reef. On the Rock is a builder's expression, referring to solid foundations. You could mix the metaphors by saying "You'll never go on the rocks if you're on the Rock."

Bypassing Jesus

We are not surprised when people who make no claim to being Christians low-rate Jesus and refuse to consider him an authority. But it is surprising, and saddening besides, to find professing Christians by-passing Jesus as Number One authority in their lives. One way of doing this is to say that Jesus was not giving directions for this life, even for this world; but that he was telling us how we should live when the Kingdom of God comes on earth. In other words, that Jesus was giving directions for some future era, not for then and there in Palestine nor for here and now in America. Another way of bypassing Jesus is to take the opposite tack, and claim that Jesus was speaking only for the old dispensation or period of the Law, and that all his moral directions and ideals went out when the Holy Spirit came at Pentecost. Still another way to bypass Jesus is to allege that his commands were impossible, and that he knew it; but he wanted to set the standard so high that people would give up trying to be good and rely on faith instead of works.

Dr. Foreman

Taking Jesus seriously

Jesus himself gave no support to such lopsided caricatures of his teaching and intentions. Everything he said indicates that he intended to be taken seriously. He speaks distinctly of some who would one day call him Lord—but "not do what I tell you" (Luke 6:16); and he has nothing good to say of such people. Jesus talked to real people with real problems. What main-line Christians have discovered down through the ages is, that what Jesus said to the people he met face to face is still good for our day and for all time. It is nothing better than double-talk to call Jesus "Lord" or even "God" and refuse to pay attention to him when he gives directions for living.

Building on the rock

The exact word (in the Greek) is "on THE rock," not "on A rock." Anywhere in the world, if you go down far enough, you strike rock; and all the rock of the world is connected together by the mighty forces God has created. So there is one Rock on which an enduring life can be founded: Christ and his teachings. But a question may come to mind. Human beings are of enormous variety. Their problems are innumerable. Jesus could not, and did not, give us his mind as to many of the most difficult problems of our time. How then can we say that his teachings are the bedrock of all truly successful living?

Jesus could say this, not because he was a new Moses, not because he was delivering rules for everybody on all occasions. He could say this because his teachings are the universal bedrock beneath all the variety of human personalities and situations. As we saw when looking into the "Golden Rule," Jesus gave us principles rather than rules. He does not do our thinking for us. He furnishes the foundation; each of us has to build his own house on it.

Tested by storm

A house of cards will stand up so long as no one breathes on it. A house with any flimsy underpinning, or none, will stand so long as the weather is good. The test of a house is not sunshine but storm. And if there is one thing certain about every man's life, it is that the sun will not always shine upon it. Bright days may be certain to come, too; but they are not the terrible test. The dark days, the blizzards and the floods and the hurricanes, are the times sure to come for each of us. Two houses may look just the same before the storm. How they look afterwards is what counts.

Find Old Flags

Several old flags, some dating back to 1907, were found recently while Harned and Proudfoot Rexall drugstore employees were readying an old store-room located in the back of the building, for elimination.

Seven staggered-starred flags, dating back when Oklahoma was admitted as the 46th state, along with one staggered and four regular 48-star flags, issued after New Mexico and Arizona became states in 1912, were found.

Also found by employees in the old and dusty building were an old fashioned ice crusher, old measuring scales, an ancient drug mortar, pewter pitcher, a bevy of herb cans, and advertisement slides for the drugstore which were shown in the local theatre around the 1920's.

The building is being torn down because of a leaking roof, and also because it has been gradually sinking into the ground. It has been there since the establishment of the drugstore by Joseph E. Harned in 1893.

Under Another Name - - -

Very few Americans would accept Socialism as a way of life for America—IF it was properly identified as Socialism when offered. But there is grave danger in the bit by bit growth of Socialism under some other label, warns Dr. George S. Benson, president of the National Education program.

Socialism that now largely dominates the Scandinavian countries, was identified as government aid programs, welfare state measures. Many European nations now are so deeply enmeshed in it they never throw it off. And Socialism gets worse, not better, as it evolves toward the totalitarian police state.

In America we face the danger that Socialism—big powerful central government—will gradually take over under the guise of social welfare or some other label.

Social security keeps going up and including more people, at the same time costing taxpayers more. Welfare programs continue to expand, and federal care for various classes of people is indicated. Federal aid schemes are advanced, all aimed at giving some class a break. In reality they are just saddling a heavier burden on the citizens.

Dr. Benson mentioned a study of voting records of Senators and Congressmen, analyzing all the votes of every Senator and every Representative for several years. The analysis is not based on whether or not the vote was for or against "agriculture," "labor," "big Business," or "Federal Aid," or any other category of legislation, but how the vote affected fundamental principles of traditional American government; what it did to Liberty for all Americans. The study shows whether these legislators voted to adopt more Socialism or tended to continue the kind of American political and economic system which has been the envy of the world for more than a century.

The results are showing that most of them are wittingly or unwittingly voting to dilute the fundamental American principles and replace them with the doctrines and functions of Socialism. The vote shows—not that they necessarily want to establish Socialism here but that they have been undermining constitutional principles and are carrying America further into Socialism.

There ought to be a general reappraisal of whither are we going!

4-H'ers In Contest to Improve Entrances

Four-H Entrance Improvement contest winners were announced by Roger Roderick, Vice-President of the 4-H County Council on June 24 preceding campfire activities at the Western Maryland 4-H Center. Winners of the Family class are Pat, Karen, Mary Shawley, Bittinger; Boys' Class—Larry Tichnell, Ryans Glade; Girls' Class—Dotty Hetrick, Bittinger. A green duffle bag was awarded to each of the class winners.

This contest was adopted by the 4-H County Council to encourage 4-H'ers to improve and make attractive their home or farm identification layout, and to identify 4-H members in the county.

Each participant in this contest erected a 4-H membership sign. All the members in each club decided as a group if they would participate in this project. Signs were obtained and erected according to the following regulations: 1. Easily visible from an automobile. 2. Within the farm or home identification layout at the entrance, 3. Not placed with any commercial signs.

One Revoked, One Reissued

Information from the department of Motor Vehicles this week showed one driver's license revoked, and one reissued that had previously been revoked.

Herbert B. Buckel, Jr., of Bittinger, had his driver's license revoked.

A license was reissued to Martin Delone Friend, Friendsville.

Assoc. Women Plan Farm Queen Contest

Plans for the annual Farm Queen contest were made recently at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associated Women of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. Mrs. Leslie Guard presided. Mrs Orval Glotfelty, regional state director, was a guest.

The contest will be held on Farm Bureau day at the County Fair. Candidates are now being sought. Any county girl 16 to 18 years of age, inclusive, with a farm family background, is eligible.

The county winner will receive a cash award of $25 and will represent the county at the state contest held in September at Timonium fair. Other entrants will receive cash awards of lesser amount.

Interested girls may contact either Mrs. Guard, Mrs. Glotfelty, of Mrs. Walter Maggroff.

Oakland FFA Chapter Gets Superior Rating

The Oakland FFA Chapter was awarded a superior rating at the FFA convention held at the University of Maryland June 22 to 24th. The rating was based on the outstanding efforts of the local chapter in developing a strong supervised farming program in beef cattle, swine, and dairy cattle.

Four members of the chapter were in attendance at the state convention along with Richard D. Bishoff, vocational agriculture instructor. Brooks Hamilton Jr., entered the tractor operators contest and placed 11th. Gary Uphole, Dick Dixon; and John Wildesen entered the land judging contest and placed 6th.

The convention was attended by 250 Maryland FFA boys and their VO-AG teachers. Harry McDonald, State Dept. Of Education, was advisor to the group.

WIN CONTEST TO IMPROVE ENTRANCES These three girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Shawley, of Bittinger, were declared the winners in a contest to encourage 4-H'ers to improve the entrances to their farms, conducted by the 4-H county council. They are Mary, Patty and Karen Shawley. A green duffle bag was awarded to each of the class winners.

Plans Progress For Annual Fair

Plans for the annual Garrett County agricultural fair are rounding into shape, it was announced by John J. Brenneman, president. The fair will be held this year Tuesday through Saturday, August 9 to 13.

Farm Bureau night will be observed on Tuesday, and all exhibits are scheduled to have been entered by that time. Judging will take place on Wednesday with a pet show scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. There will be pony judging Wednesday evening.

Judging of the vegetable and home furnishings departments will take place Thursday, with 4-H and F. F. A. senior beef judging also in the morning. Sheep, swine, horses and baby beef will be judged in the afternoon, with one of the two parades scheduled for that evening at 6:30.

The Lions club will repeat its chicken barbecue dinner that evening and the following evening.

A tractor contest is scheduled for Friday along with demonstrations in home arts and another parade.

A horse pulling contest is set for Saturday afternoon with 4-H demonstrations at 6 p. m., and a baby beef sale at 8 p. m.

There will be a free act every day and gate prizes will be awarded every evening, starting Wednesday.

Commercial Space Scarce

It was announced this week that all inside commercial space had already been sold with the exception of two spaces, and that in order to accommodate all exhibitors they were considering plans to increase the exhibition space by leasing or purchasing tents.

Fair officials announced they also were working on plans to erect a new office building.

Harold Garrett, principal of the Accident school, is the superintendent of a new school department. The premium book will carry the list of awards available.

Frankie's Amusements have been hired to have the midway again this year.

Two additional meetings were announced. The board of directors of the fair will meet on Thursday evening, July 7, at the Fair barn at 8 p. m. Fair superintendents of the Home Arts department are to meet on Tuesday, July 5 at the Fair Grounds, at 8 p. m. Advertising for bids for U. S. Route 219 project, originally scheduled for August, is now set for July 8.

Today Is Final One For Discount on Tax

Today is the final day when discount will be allowed on the payment of county taxes. For the past two months those paying have been allowed a discount of three percent.

Joseph Welch, county treasurer, said that up to this morning 71 percent of the 1960 real taxes had been paid and 46 percent of the personal property taxes. He added that 97 percent of the 1959 real and personal property taxes had been paid. He advised that the remaining three percent must be paid by August 11 or additional costs would be involved. Preparations to sell the property at tax sale will be made after that date, he said.

In regard to the sale of dog tags, there is a rush on at present, since all dogs are to have licenses by July 1. He said they are now selling from 100 to 150 per day, but the total number is only about 650. Last year for the entire period the office sold about 3,600 tags.

Demonstration Champs Named

Three Oakland 4-H Girls To Compete In State-Wide Events In August

Linda Oursler, 12, Sally Hoffman, 13, and Anne Lou Gibson, 11, were named District Champions in the baked foods division at the District Demonstration Day held Tuesday at Flintstone High school. Fifty top 4-H demonstrators from Carroll, Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties competed at district level for the right to demonstrate at State Fair to be held at Timonium in August.

Miss Oursler presented the champion individual baked foods demonstration by making an Apple Pie. Miss Hoffman and Miss Gibson were judged the champion team in the baked foods class with their presentation of "Pizza Sandwiches". All three girls are members of the Monte Vista Club.

It was the first time since 1956 that a county girl won district champion honors. Several have won blue ribbons in district events since that time, but there have been no champions for four years.

Helen Emory, 12, Bittinger Club, was awarded a blue ribbon for her presentation, "Breakfast is for Everyone". Mary Shawley, 10, Bittinger, demonstrated "Sewing On Apron Pockets", received a red ribbon. Assault and Battery Charges Passed Out Neighboring property owners in the Green Glade section of Deep Creek Lake filed charges and counter charges of assault and battery during the week in the office of Robert Maroney, trial magistrate.

On a charge of J. P. Runner, W. E. Ruehl pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on the person of Runner's wife, Goldie Runner. The magistrate found him guilty, however, and levied a fine of $15.00 and costs.

Ruehl charged Mrs. Runner and her son, Kenneth, with assault and battery on his person. On this count, the magistrate found Mrs. Runner not guilty, but Kenneth was fined $15.00 and costs by the magistrate.

The two families own adjoining triangular plots of ground with narrow shoreline, and the charges grew out of alleged disputes involving property boundaries.

Phone Directories In County Total 7,980

Delivery of the new 1960 Garrett County Telephone Directory is proceeding according to schedule according to C. L. Stem, C. & P. Telephone Company manager in the area.

Mr. Stem said that almost all of this year's 7,980 directories should be delivered by Friday, June 30.

Noting that the 1960 book contains an even 100 pages, hitting three figures for the first time, he pointed out that there are almost 1,000 listings this year as opposed to 3,609 in the 1959 issue.

Nearly a ton of paper was required to print the new directories, and if the pages were laid end to end, the names and telephone numbers of Garrett County subscribers would reach from Oakland to Westminster.

Wins Dairy Halter In Dairy Judging

A Dairy Show Halter from Hub's Harness Shop was awarded to Glenn Canan 4-H'er from the Sunnyside area by John Morris, extension Dairyman, for top placing in the dairy judging demonsiration held on the farm of Claude Wagner, Jr.

Three other 4-H'ers, Larry Schenk, Dale Wagner, and Ronald Beitzel also placed first by judging a class of four milking Holstein animals. Glenn won out over the other participants by his reasons for placing the animals.

"Dairy judging develops one's ability to observe, make decisions and express ideas clearly and positively" according to John Morris. He pointed out that this can be used in many areas besides learning how to select useful and profitable dairy animals.

This program was developed by the Garrett Dairy Committee in order to stimulate interest in dairy animals and provide a learning experience to select top quality dairy animals. Members of this committee include Claude Wagner, Jr., Robert O. Glotfelty, Forrest Sanders.

Season's First Play Set For Next Week

A naive young receptionist will become secretary to a famous actor simply by ducking rain-drenched into the matinee idols house, when the Summer Theatre puts its production of the Broadway comedy, "For Love or Money," into rehearsal at the playhouse Friday in preparation for the opening night of the season next Tuesday, July 5. The play, by F. Hugh Herbert author of the play, "Kiss and Tell," will continue for five performances through July 9.

"For Love or Money" is a complicated story of a middle aged star who becomes enamored of a naive young lady, twenty-five years his junior, on the very day he has buried his wife, for twelve years an invalid. Obstacles in the actor's amatory progress are his jealous leading lady, an ardent young veteran and suspicious servants. All of the action takes place in the actor's drawing room on Long Island.

Peggy Lewis will be seen as Janet Blake, while Fred Burrell and Jim Friedman are her respective beaux. Eloise Tibbetts, and Steve Wayne will portray the boyish suitor's alarmed parents and Judith Wiemken will portray the part of the actress. Sally Lutin and Marty McGuire will play the hired help.

The cast is new this year, with drama experience from the drama department of the University of New Mexico, where Gene Yell, the director, is an associate professor.

This is the sixth season for the Summer Theatre, and next week's presentation is one of eight scheduled throughout the balance of the summer week.

Va. and Cincinnati, O.

Six Taxpayers Institute Legal Action Against Commissioners

Claim Payment To A. C. Brenneman And Son For Work Was Illegal

Six taxpayers of the Friendsville and other nearby sections of the county last Friday filed a petition in the Circuit Court against the County Commissioners as individuals and as County Commissioners seeking a writ of mandamus in connection with the payment of $16,206 by the Board to a former commissioner and his son for drilling work at a quarry in 1955.

Listed in the suit were Blaine Friend, James Ross, Donald Frazee, Friendsville, Arthur C. Savage, McHenry; Parker Warnick, New Germany; and James Broadwater, Sang Run.

The petitioners said payment was ordered February 4, 1959 to Aubrey C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman.

The petition pointed out that A. C. Brenneman was elected as a commissioner in 1954 and as such functioned as a member of the County Roads board, set up to maintain and supervise roads in the county. In 1955 the board entered into a contract with John J. Brenneman to drill 1,500 feet of rock at Bishop's quarry at $2.19 per foot. The contract was completed in four months. He continued to drill without contract on what is known as overburden, with the price reduced to $2 per foot and submitted a bill for $21,438 for 12,219 feet.

It was some time after this that Ervin Roth, commissioner, instituted suit in which an injunction was sought to restrain the county commissioners from paying for further work, and with having Brenneman "doing business for himself." Former Judge George Henderson heard the case and issued the injunction.

The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld Judge Henderson's opinion but did not pass on the question of the work done in the overburden. The high court indicated this would be determined by future proceedings.

The taxpayers in last Friday's suit claim the action of the commissioners in paying the claim was "arbitrary, reckless with public money, without warranty in law and illegal."

Fire and Lightning Cause Heavy Losses

Fires of undetermined origin and from lightning have caused extensive damage in this county during the week.

One fire of unusual circumstances is now being investigated by authorities. This was the David Weber home, south of Oakland, which was gutted early last Sunday morning about 5 o'clock. The time of the fire was approximately the same time that an unoccupied house on the property of the H. Weber and Sons Company was destroyed completely just a week previous. This fire was not discovered until it had burned to the ground.

Last Sunday, however, someone spotted the blaze at the David Weber home and called the Oakland Fire department which succeeded in extinguishing the flames before it was consumed. Mr. and Mrs. Weber recently moved to Terra Alta and the home was not occupied. Some furniture still remained. It was a two-story frame structure.

Lightning on Friday, June 24, set a barn afire on the Amos Martin farm just north of U. S. route [illegible] at Red House, owned by Benj. Kreps, Sr. and completely destroyed the building and contents. Firemen estimated the loss at $2,000 on the building and $3,000 on the contents.

During the severe early morning electrical storm lightning also struck and killed nine cows owned by Woodrow Bolt at his farm just south of Red House along 219. One other cow was injured.

Oakland firemen also were called Sunday morning, about 11 o'clock to the home of Harry F. "Dewey" Rice in Loch Lynn Heights, to extinguish a fire [illegible] damage.

Attends Leadership School In Harrisburg

Thomas Mayruder III, of near Westernport, represented Maryland from June 19-24 at Pennsylvania's 4-H Leadership school along with Alice Stanley of Washington county. All of the sessions were held at the Pennsylvania State campus near Harrisburg.

These 4-H members were selected to represent Maryland according to Loren Goven, State 4-H Club Agent, on the basis of their leadership in 4-H Club work.

An active participant in 4-H, Tom is now serving his third year as president of the Garrett County 4-H Council. "Tom lives 4-H," says F. Rankin Lasby, Assistant County Agent. "In addition to helping his fellow club members in carrying out county events, he is enrolled in nine different projects."

At graduation from Bruce High school this June, he was named Salutatorian of his class. In addition, he received the American Legion medal, the Danforth Foundation award, and the John Philip Sousa award for outstanding music ability. Tom has been awarded an alumni scholarship to Potomac State college, Keyser, W. Va., and a $500 teacher education scholarship.

Hiker Stirs Interest

Dr. Barbara Moore, runner far behind schedule in her cross country walk to New York City, caused a lot of stir and interest in the Northern part of the county Tuesday.

England's famed Russian-born vegetarian hiker, showing signs of fatigue and bothered by a swollen ankle, arrived in Frostburg by Tuesday night.

She was met by scattered groups of spectators as she walked from Markleysburg, Pa., to Frostburg, traveling approximately 40 miles. She left the Spear Rest home in Markleysburg about 1 a. m.

She told a Cumberland newspaperman she had been slowed by television and radio interviews, pausing for photographs and autographs.

She noted that much of her route through Pennsylvania and Western Maryland had been over narrow roads which forced her to be alert at all times especially at night.

Dr. Moore was at Keyser Ridge around 1:30 p. m.

Since leaving San Francisco on April 13, Dr. Moore has covered approximately 2,800 miles.

Boat Owners In No Hurry For Permits

Maryland boat owners apparently are in no hurry to purchase licenses for their crafts under the new state boat act.

Thomas H. White, supervisor of boat registration, said slightly over 40,000 applications had been received up to Monday. This is less than half of the 95,000 to 125,000 boats expected to come under the provisions of the new law which goes into effect July 3.

White said 29,000 applications had been processed, an estimated 10,000 returned for further information and the remainder are in the works. There were no plans to extend the deadline.

White said the public seemed to be under the impression that the coast guard registration is still in effect. Persons licensing their boats with the Coast Guard must also have a license from the state.

Owners of motor boats over 7½ horsepower and sailboats over 25 feet are required to register them. Boats not licensed by July 3 deadline will be subject to fines up to $200.

Boats on Deep Creek Lake come under these provisions.

Chopping Concludes Boys' Vacation

Three teen-age boys chopped their way out of a vacation this past week-end.

Assistant state forester William H. Johnson said the youths had gone to Swallow Falls forest recreation area for a week's vacation.

On the first day there the boys' parents left them alone at their campsite for several hours. Left to themselves the youths promptly chopped down several sapling trees, stripped the bark from several others and also chopped through a small utility pole carrying telephone lines to forest headquarters at Swallow Falls.

The damage was discovered by forest foreman John Foley who discovered the three youths who had gone on the rampage with their axes.

Taking the youths into custody the forester located their parents and detailed the results of the youths' chopping binge. After apologizing for their sons' actions and paying damages the parents promptly cancelled their vacation and took them home, possibly to face additional punishment.

"A New Look at Old Chesapeake Bay"

This Friday, July 1, a U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey plane equipped with infra-red cameras will take off for the first official look at Chesapeake Bay since 1912. The flight will mark the beginning of a cooperative survey project between the Federal Government and the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, representing the Free State of Maryland.

Scheduled to be completed before the end of fiscal year 1961, weather permitting, the survey will supply the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Department of Commerce with up-to-date maps and charts of the Chesapeake Bay and the Tidewater Commission with maps of the entire Maryland oyster area in the Bay. The cost of the survey to Maryland will be $50,000, which will bring a proposed 57 special maps of seafood areas for use and study by the Fisheries Commission.

There will be field surveys of the Bay as well as plane photos of the shoreline and oyster bed areas. It is expected that some 80 maps of the Coast and Geodetic Survey will be revised on the basis of the new photos and field findings. The work is to start at the mouth of the Potomac River and proceed upstream where, upon completion of that phase, the teams will shift to the southern limits of the project in Chesapeake Bay and progress northward. Included in the project is the first Federal examination of the waters leading into Baltimore since the 1930's.

The joint venture reflects the continuing independence of Maryland which does not want nor need Federal largesse but is willing and able to contribute its share to a project which is mutually beneficial to the State and the Federal Government. The survey also demonstrates vividly the proper function of the Federal Government, which is to stimulate, and assist when necessary, in programs which are advantageous to both itself and the state.

Because of the cooperative spirit and oversight of the Fisheries Commission and the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Chesapeake Bay will be photographed and mapped as never before. The new charts will be of particular importance to Maryland's Seafood Industry. For example, oyster bars have shifted or become barren since the former charts were drawn. This newest look at the Old Bay should produce valuable information to make "the land of pleasant living" an even more pleasant and abundant place in which to live.

Engineers Say Dam On Potomac Would Ease D. C. Problems

A Potomac River dam and the 40-mile Lake it would form could eliminate many of the water problems of the Washington area, a representative of the Army Engineers has stated.

Donald Birrell told the Northern Regional Planning Commission that such a reservoir also would help assure the area of a continuing water supply and would pay for itself through the creation of recreational facilities.

He said the dam and reservoir also would keep the lower Potomac from becoming clogged with mud and silt, would prevent floods, and would cut one million dollars annually from the water bills of nearby Maryland and Virginia residents.

The engineers are making a study for Congress on how best to store water and prevent flooding in the four-state Potomac river basin. The dam referred to by Birrell is but a part of the study. He said the engineers at this time were not making any recommendations about it.

The dam would be some 10 miles upstream from Washington. It would not interfere with plans for proposed dams along the north branch of the Potomac.

Is Your Name GLASS?

Glass has been used extensively as a surname for many centuries. The consensus of opinion among authorities on nomenclature is that it is of occupational meaning and was often bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who made or sold glassware. It is said also that Glass, particularly in its Scottish usage, is obtained from "glas" which signifies "gray", thus giving it the literal meaning of "son of the gray man". Early records show that Alexander Glass lived in Bute, an island in the Firth of Clyde, Scotland during the 14th century.

George Glass (1740-1802) served as a sergeant in the Northumberland Co., Penn-sylvania troops during the Revolutionary War. Another patriot was Seriah Glass (1745-1837) of the Massachusetts militia.

Virginia is apparently the ancestral home of a substantial number of the present day members of the Glass family for the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has twenty-five listings of persons by that name who were residents of the state and head of families at that time. In contrast, the census records of Maryland for the same year contain only six references to individuals by the name of Glass.

Joseph Glass (1791-1867), an English philanthropist, was the inventor of a chimney sweeping machine which gained widespread use.

Henry Glass (1811-1908) was rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

Carter Glass (1858-1946) was Secretary of the Treasury in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson and thereupon served until the time of his death as U. S. senator from Virginia.

Hiram Bentley Glass, a scientist of note, is professor of biology at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Leslie Charles Glass, a British diplomat, has held posts in various parts of the world and is now director general of British Information Services in the United States, with offices in Washington, D. C.

J. Fuller Glass is vice-president and a member of the board of directors, United States Fire Insurance Company, New York City.

Six Taxpayers

The petitioner further stated that the present Commissioners should be required by mandamus to follow the course "suggested by the courts" and have the claim judicially determined in a court of law. In case it was shown such payment was proper no further proceedings would be necessary but if the court decided that payment was unlawful then further proceedings should be ordered to seek recovery of the money.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley signed a show cause order giving the defendants until July 15 to reply and show a reason why the writ of mandamus should not be issued to the plaintiffs.

Will Make Reply

Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney to the County Commissioners, said that a reply certainly would be made within the prescribed time. At the time the several taxpayers appeared before the commissioners in April threatening to enter suit unless action was taken to recover the money, Mr. Hamill declared that the Commissioners had made a thorough investigation as to merits of the claim and that he had investigated the court proceedings when Aubrey Brenneman as a commissioner had been brought into court on the charge of "doing business with himself." Mr. Hamill declared at that time there was never any evidence or testimony that the work had not been performed or that the price was not reasonable. He pointed out that the county had received the benefit from the Brenneman company's labor, that it was in accordance with an agreement with the company and that there was nothing in the court of Appeals record which indicated the claim could not or should not be paid or that the company was not entitled to be paid.

Hamill further stated at that time he felt it was inconceivable that any person would object to payment of a bill which the court had considered fair and just.

He made no further statement this week other than to say that an answer would be made.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Watch That "Benefactor"!—The spenders, those do-gooders who automatically favor any and every measure for spending public funds on so-called benefits, have a problem: how to get money from the taxpayer without disturbing the voter.

Down The Homestretch—Congress is expected to adjourn before the opening day of the Democratic National Convention, Monday, July 11. The Republican National Convention will follow, starting on July 25. Then, campaigning! This means that the 86th Congress must wind up its business in the next four weeks. Any bill not passed before adjournment is dead and can be revived only in a subsequent Congress. Many bills have gone through, or almost through, committee, where most of the work is done, and they now await final action on the Senate floor. Bills are being tabbed by the leadership in Congress for consideration. Many will be passed, and some rejected, during these final days.

Defense funds, to an extent beyond that which the Administration requested, will be provided. It looks as though this Congress will not pass the kind of medical-care-for-the-aged bill which the Administration requested. Old-age pension coverage may be extended to doctors, and to policemen, firemen, and others working for non-profit organizations. The age minimum for disability insurance is likely to be removed, and the minimum benefit payment to retired persons may be raised from $33 a month to $40. There may be a compromise on the minimum-wage law, raising the minimum to $1.25 gradually over a period of three years, and extending the coverage. Doctors, lawyers, and other self-employed persons are likely to be given the right to defer income taxes on income up to $2500 a year that is set aside in a regular retirement plan. Federal subsidies of around $300,000,000 a year for three years to help finance school construction may be provided. Federal housing agencies are scheduled to get added authority to insure mortgages and to provide loans for college dormitories. Provisions for home improvement loans will likely be extended.

The Senate worked last week on a bill to set up a new wheat program calling for a 20-per-cent cut in acreage, 80-per-cent support, and payments "in kind" for land taken out of production. White House action in this is uncertain; the President opposes the farm subsidy philosophy. There will be a liberalizing of operating rules for small-business investment corporations, and the Small Business Administration is expected to get authority to raise its loan fund by $150,000,000. Mutual Security funds as requested by the President may be cut. There may be a new law providing for withholding taxes on dividends. It's not clear yet just what will happen in regard to excise taxes. It appears that neither the President's request for an increase in postal rates nor his request for removal of the 4.25% ceiling on long-term bonds will be granted by this Congress. Relief measures for areas hit by chronic unemployment have little or no chance now; the President vetoed one such measure as too costly, and the leadership in Congress does not seem interested in the President's less-expensive proposal.

This is a report on the outlook on major issues, and does not necessarily reflect my own position on all the measures mentioned.

The Man's Credit Rating: "N.G."—What would you think of a man who had an income of $8,000 a year, had run up a debt of $29,000, of which $5,000 was payable on demand and $8,000 more within a year, and was going deeper in debt every year? Well, don't be too quick to criticize him. Add seven zeros to each of those figures and you've got your Uncle Sam.

The Thirst For Knowledge—Census figures on school enrollment indicate that more and more 5-year-olds are being entered in kindergarten, that more youths are staying in high school until graduation, and that there is a growing appreciation of the value of a college education.

Cuba's Castro Not Smiled Upon—The irresponsible and provocative behavior of the Castro regime in recent days has been a blow to those in this countrty who had hoped that Castro's victory over Batista opened a brighter and happier chapter in Cuba's history. Castro has seized property belonging to Americans. He has lied about the United States, and has gone to great lengths to arouse the Cuban people against us. He has boasted of having fired on one of our Navy vessels. He has carried the favor of our enemy in the cold war. As a great power, this nation must be slow to anger and must show great patience. We wish to live in peace and friendship with both the Cuban government and the Cuban people, but whether we can or not depends upon what is done and said in Havana.

A Lapse Of Patriotism?—"Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself has said, 'This is my own, my native land.' " A deep feeling of thankfulness for his country wells up within the returning American traveler as his ship steams into New York Harbor. Inspiring thoughts are ours as we fly over this great land, over "the rocks and rills and templed hills." Our hearts are quickened by the raising and unfurling of the Stars and Stripes. We push back a tear of pride when our soldier boys go marching by. A tingle of emotion goes up and down our spines when we hear the music of the "Star Spangled Banner". To be patriotic to our country is the very essence of being an American.

Among Communist sympathizers in the United States, it has always been considered smart to be unpatriotic. There was a brief period in our history when patriotism actually seemed unpopular. That was in the heyday of Communism in the United States, in the late '30s. I knew of one radio commentator who lost his program during that period because there were complaints against his espousal of the American way of life. Our movies were filled with Communist propaganda—attacks on things typically American. That black period passed.

However, now that opposing ideologies are locked in world combat in a cold war (the same as a hot war so far as national danger is concerned)—the ideology of freedom and democracy and faith in God as opposed to the ideology of Communist totalitarianism and godlessness—people are taking sides, true colors are being revealed, the pink is showing up here and there in America.

Nikita Khrushchev has belittled and insulted the President of the United States, the man who, as Supreme Conunander of the Allied Forces, helped to save Russia from the yoke of Hitler. Khrushchev now says that President Eisenhower is fit only to manage a home for children, and recently he called the President a "thief". And some of our politicians and writers are giving aid and comfort to the enemy by joining with Khrushchev in repeatedly harping on the U-2 incident, which the President could not possibly have avoided without exposing the American people to the danger of surprise attack—and every bit of captious and carping criticism again our President is being reprinted in the Moscow papers.

What price "aid and comfort to the enemy"? Should patriotism be less strong than the desire to win an election or carry on a partisan crusade? Am I old-fashioned because I cannot accept the cynicism which insists that the President of the United State shall be pilloried by politicians in the manner prescribed by the Soviets?

I like to believe that the lack of patriotism is limited to an infinitesimal percentage of our people—possible not more than 1 in 100,000 Americans. With the great rank and file of Americans, I know that patriotism is second nature. I like to think of my fellow Americans as the men and women of every generation since Washington's time who would not let the Stars and Stripes lie in the dust, who have given to the American way of life a living faith.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Freedom is every man's God-given birthright. Governments do not have any freedom to give. Governments may restrain or limit or take away freedom — or protect it. Protecting freedom is the basic function of Government in the liberal tradition. Comparatively few men who have walked the face of the earth have enjoyed any considerable degree of freedom, probably not more than 5 per cent. Yet, very few Americans have a genuine appreciation of freedom or clearly understand its source. Thus many are standing by unmoved while the protective structure of freedom is dissipated.

Freedom can live only when coupled with justice. Otherwise, the strong take away the freedom of the weak. Justice lives only where men recognize the authority of God. The strong have no other restraint. God alone transcends the principles of both freedom and justice, and it is only when man fears God that he is able to harmonize freedom and justice, through the exercise of self discipline.

The well-being of every society of mankind over any long period has always been in direct relationship to its respect for God. In no area of society can man ignore God and succeed for long. We like to look on the classic painting of General George Washington, kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge. We likewise can draw from history the scene at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, when the men who wrote the Constitution prayed to Almighty God for guidance. We are impressed by the fact that each session of Congress today is opened with a prayer.

Preceding Washington and our war for freedom, there was the landing of the Mayflower at Plymouth. The ship swung into the bay on Saturday, and there before the Pilgrims' eyes was the shore of their new world. But they didn't go ashore. They remained on board over Sunday and conducted their worship services. Then, before they set out for shore, they drew up the Mayflower Compact. It began: "In the name of God, Amen." Even after 340 years, this is a thrilling moment just to remember.

God was mentioned in every one of the Colonial charters. A church building was one of the very first structures in every new settlement as our sturdy families moved westward across America. Our social standards, our political system, our economic laws and our religious laws took into consideration the Bible. Our government has made a conscious effort to preserve through all these years our God-given freedom.

The nation has expanded much, however. Many immigrants have been admitted. The world has become much smaller with speed of transportation and communications. International relations have become much more complicated and maintaining freedom has become increasingly difficult. It must become the central task of every American citizen — or else we may lose freedom. Great and powerful forces are at work to destroy it. Unless we mobilize the citizen-strength of America and utilize all our resources, our nation could fall and the world could be plunged into another Dark Age.

America is truly at a critical crossroads. Freedom is in jeopardy. Our nation needs you — whoever or wherever you are. The first call upon you is to get an understanding of the source of Freedom, how it must be protected, and the nature and strategy of the forces seeking its destruction.

Nixon backers won key posts for the Republican National Convention meeting, scheduled in Chicago for July 25.

Brings Swimming Right to the Door

There are ways and ways of getting in one's swimming. Some go to Herrington Manor, some go to Swallow Falls, and some go to Deep Creek Lake, New Germany lake or the Youghiogheny lake. But other people bring the water right to them—especially the Dick Pagenhardts.

The Pagenhardts have had constructed in the back yard of their home on 8th street, Oakland, a swimming pool, 16 by 32 feet, with a depth varying from three to seven feet, for the benefit of themselves, their two children, and the neighbors' children too—if their parents are there to watch them.

The pool is lined with vinyl plastic, guaranteed for ten years. It takes 15,000 gallons of water to fill the pool but once it is full there is nothing more to do. A filter system keeps the water fresh and it won't have to be replaced, unless there is a gigantic "splash party."

Pagenhardt said the cost is amazingly low compared to what swimming pools would have cost even five years ago. The fad seems to be sweeping the country. But this is the first one for Oakland, and probably the entire county.

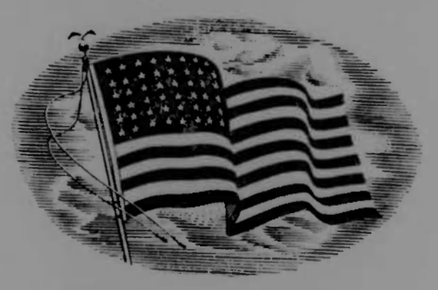
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

INTERNAL PROTECTION
● Low Forehead
● Stained Teeth

Q. What is the medical opinion regarding the use of vaginal tampons and especially their use during swimming?
A. This is a rather delicate subject that might best be answered individually. For a brief discussion of this subject, write to SCIENCE EDITORS.

Q. I have a very low forehead. Is there any way to raise the hairline by permanently removing the lote-growing hair?
A. Regardless of where unwanted hair is situated, there is only one method of permanent removal and that is by destruction of the hair sac with the electric needle. On the lips and chin the results are fairly good although some scarring may result. On the forehead, where the skin is quite smooth and tightly drawn over the skull bone, any degree of scarring might be very noticeable. This would be the chief drawback. However, you should be guided by your doctor's advice on this matter.



Q. I have been told that multiple-vitamin products cause staining of teeth in children. Would you have any information about this?
A. There seems to be no medical reports that mention staining of teeth by such products. It is very hard to stain tooth enamel although some discoloration may result from use of iron preparations. All children should, of course, visit a dentist regularly. Any unusual condition such as tooth discoloration should be discussed with him at that time.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

The Old Log School House

by Ross C. Durst

Several interesting accounts of the old Compton School have already appeared in previous issues of The Glades Star. Since this is one of the few authentic log schoolhouses still standing in its original location, it seems to deserve some further attention. If an attempt is to be made to preserve it, it must be done soon.

In the court house in Cumberland is the record of a deed issued by Elizabeth and David Compton to the School Commissioners of Allegany County, Md. The date is Oct 28, 1863. This was a few months after the Battle of Gettysburg and 10 years before Garrett County was born.

The description of the lot to be conveyed is as follows: "Beginning at a chestnut tree standing at the County Road leading from Grantsville to Swauger's Mill at a point where the Glade Road crosses said County Road and running thence W. 66 ft. to a stone; thence S. 88 ft. to a stone; thence E. 66 ft. to a stone; thence by a straight line to the point of beginning".

The consideration was $10. This might seem to be a small sum to pay for a school lot but it must be borne in mind that the lot was small, containing only .13 of an acre. This figures out to nearly $80 per acre; surely a good price for farm land in 1863. It suggests the possibility that the log building was already in existence. Although not mentioned in the deed, it is possible that the Comptons were to continue living in the building until the School Commissioners were ready to use it as a school after the close of the Civil War.

David Compton died Aug. 14, 1866. His son, Ross Compton and his bride, Martha Engle lived in the building. Possibly the big Compton farmhouse was not yet completed. Their daughter, Armada Compton, married Daniel Enlow. She is still living in Akron, Ohio and has repeatedly told the writer that she was born in the old log building. However, when she reached school age, she attended school in the same building in which she was born. This would indicate that the building was taken over for school purposes some time between her birth (1872) and 1878.

To the list of teachers of the Compton School can be added another name. Rev. Lawrence Green of Stockton, Calif., remembers that his first teacher was Gertrude Hone. This was probably about 1889.

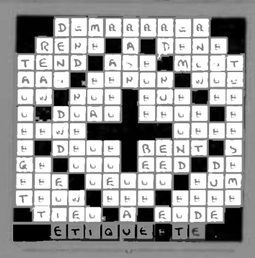
On Aug. 5, 1901, the Board of Education of Garrett County purchased from Arnold Jenkins a ½ acre tract along the same road but more than a mile further north toward Grantsville and more centrally located. A frame building was built. The lot was carved out of an old grant known as the Mars Hill Tract. The name of the school was accordingly changed from the Compton School to the Mars Hill School.

One of the first to teach at the new location was Lawrence Green who had spent his school years at the old site. I taught there during the school year of 1910-11. It was my last one-room school and also my largest enrollment. If my memory serves me correctly we had 52 students during the year. The building was literally "bursting at the seams".

Early in February 1911 we held a school "entertainment" on a Friday night. A deep snow lay on the ground and the temperature was frigid. People came in sleds and sleighs from all directions. The program consisted of the usual recitations, declamations, music both oral and instrumental and the inevitable "newspaper" which chronicled the humorous and imaginary doings of all the young people of the community. Sara Roberta Getty, the charming writer of verses was living at the time in Grantsville. I asked her to write something to be read at the meeting. She responded with a poem which she entitled "The Mars Hill School." This poem was printed in the September 1957 issue of The Glades Star. I have the original manuscript in the author's own handwriting which I am donating to The Garrett County Historical Society for Preservation.

On Aug. 11, 1940, the Board of Education sold the lot to Edward O. Jenkins, a son of the original owners. Thus, officially came to an end a long era in the educational life of the community. I understand that the frame building burned to the ground some years ago but the old log building still stands. For the hundreds of students and teachers who passed through her doors, only nostalgic memories linger on. This thought was expressed in the closing lines of Mrs. Getty's poem:

"When looking back in years to come, no matter what your lot,
Your heart will point you back and say, "Be true",
For, next to home, and dearer far than any other spot,
Your Mars Hill School will always be to you."



—Reprinted from The Glades Star

Fishing Activities Favorable Around Deep Creek Lake

A resume of fishing activities in Deep Creek Lake, with the official inauguration of the summer vacation season, by Cecil C. Edwards, fish culturist assistant showed much success in recent days.

Sunny and warm weather June 8, proved satisfactory to Andy Newman, fish enthusiast at Deep Creek Lake. He checked in an 18½ Walleye which he hooked on a nightcrawler near the Deep Creek Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Stauffer, Scottdale, Penna., fishing near the breast of the Dam June 9th caught a 30½" Northern Pike and 15" Smallmouth Bass, using minnows for bait.

Sunday, June 11th, was apparently the best day for fishing thus far this month. Charles Shilke, Bedford, Pa., took a 24" Northern Pike while fishing with a minnow in Turkey Neck. The pike weighed 3½ lbs.

Ten year-old Mike Grable, Jr., a Frostburg fisherman, creeled a two and three-quarter pound Walleye on a worm. This 21½ incher was taken from Cherry Creek inlet.

Chester Evans, Kitzmiller, also reports good success on Sunday, June 11th. He brought ashore a 5½ lb., 23 and 3½" largemouth Bass. This big one was landed on a flatfish near Green Glade.

Two other Kitzmiller anglers, John Snyder and James Brady, displayed a catch of three Largemouth Bass measuring 21", 17½", and 11½", three Smallmouth Bass measuring about 10" each and one Eastern Chain Pickerel. They were using live lizards and fishing in the Pawn Run area.

Rain on Sunday, June 12, didn't discourage George Brady. While still-fishing in the Holy Cross section of Deep Creek, Mr. Brady, Kitzmiller, landed four nice bass. One Largemouth weighed 6 pounds. He recommended bass fishermen to use lizards for bait.

Large Walleye Caught

Hustin Scheermesser, Luke, Maryland, and Charles Smith, Westernport, took home two walleyes measuring 27" and 20½". The 27" Walleye was the largest fish of this species caught so far this year. They also creeled four pickerel with flatfish tackle. These fishermen were trolling in the Green Glade inlet.

June 14, another rainy day, found Gig Marucci, Brownsville, Penna., landing a 24" 2 lb. Eastern Chain Pickerel across from Shingle Camp. He was using one of last year's favorite lures, the shiner minnow.

On the same day, Junior Hetz, Grantsville, caught an 18" Smallmouth Bass and several Black Crappies near Turkey Neck.

Charles Smith, Jr., reported hooking a 17" Largemouth Bass last Friday, June 17. He was casting from the bank with a flatfish lure.

G. W. Stonebreaker, Shallmar, reported some success fishing in the Deep Creek Cove. He landed a 20" Great Northern Pike while fishing with a minnow baited hook.

Edwards said the Lake water temperature for this past week was 68-70 degrees.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee accused Eisenhower administration of mishandling the U-2 spy plane case.

IT ONLY FEELS LIKE POWER STEERING
(Corvair doesn't need it)

Corvair's ingenious design simply places the engine in the rear. That means less weight on the front wheels and a lighter, happier feel in the curve of your hands. No power assist is needed in a car that's naturally nimble.

See what a fresh engineering approach can do? From handling and parking ease right on, there just isn't anything ordinary or conventional about Corvair. Look at its practically flat floor, four-wheel independent suspension, fold-down rear seat. Its air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or anti-freeze or radiator repairs... and leaves engine heat and noise back where you've been. All these special advantages are standard in every Corvair. Just wait till you see how much they add to your driving pleasure. But why wait!

Pictures Out Of The Past

Today's old photograph is believed to represent some of those who were to participate in the Fourth of July parade of 1905. The picture was taken in front of the former Thomas Martin livery barn on Oak street and the presence of the flags adorning the carriages leads to the belief that a patriotic observance was scheduled.

Mr. Martin, who operated the business beginning in 1862, came to this county with his parents in 1850 during the period of heavy Irish immigration. He purchased land at the corner of Oak and Third and engaged for many years in a general livery business.

The building later served other purposes and was torn down only last year, to make way for the construction of the present property housing Carroll's Mountain Top Tire and Sport Shop.

The picture was furnished for publication by Henry Arnold, who received it some time ago from Mrs. James Bell. It has been dated as 1905.

Patriots Prepare To Hail The Fourth

Things might have moved at a slower, quieter pace in the "Good Old Days," but this was certainly not true of the observance of our national holiday, the Fourth of July.

In Oakland, as in many small towns and cities throughout the country, the day meant festivities and fireworks, and, of course, parades.

Protect New Grain From Insect Damage

It costs too much to produce a good crop of heavy grain to put it in storage without protection from insect damage, points out Ted Bissell, University of Maryland Extension entomologist.

If you are going to store grain on the farm, you should first clean the bins to prevent trouble from insects. Angoumois grain moth, granary weevil and rice weevil are the most troublesome grain insects. They live year around in stored grain and corn, and move from one year's crop to the next. They ruin quantities of grain and make it unfit for human use or for livestock. When grain like this is left in the bin, and new grain is put on top of it, the insects move right into the new.

In cleaning the bin, pay particular attention to the corners, ledges and joints in the framework and walls, cracks in the wall and floors, and any old feed sacks lying around. There may also be accumulations that have gone through the floor to a room or ground beneath. The thing to do, says Bissell, is to sweep out the whole place top to bottom. Then take the sweepings away from the granary and bury or burn them. A vacuum cleaner will do a good job of cleaning, too. Follow the sweep down with a good spraying of walls and floor with methoxychlor, pyrethrum or malathion.

Old stocks of corn or small grain, that you want to hold over and feed out, should be fumigated before the new harvest is done.

It is also wise, Bissell suggests, to mix a protectant with the new crop grain as it is put into storage. You may use either pyrethrum or malathion, either in dry or liquid form. See your County Agricultural Extension Agent for details on working out a distribution system for applying the protectant material.

Four-H County Wide Campfire Is Held

"Listen well, my braves, tonight we hold council", were the words spoken by "The O'Chief", Judy Buck-I, as the Garrett 4-H County-wide Campfire began at the Western Maryland 4-H Center, last Friday, June 24.

One hundred and sixty 4-H'ers, parents and friends participated in a program of cheers, skits and songs. Cynthia Nace served as "Iskata" or "Keeper of the Fire". Bittinger 4-H boys and girls were in charge of the music and leading of the songs.

Eleven chiefs representing clubs throughout the county participated in the traditional peace pipe ceremony. Tommy Wildesen served as pipe bearer.

An Indian story was told by Lois Breedeman. Vespers, given under the leadership of the Finzel Club, concluded the program.

Bankers Awards for outstanding 1959 4-H Club programs were presented to Monte Vista Girls, Chickasaw, and Bittinger Boys' Clubs by Frank McDaniel, representative of the Maryland Bankers' Association. All three awards for Region 1, consisting of Allegany and Garrett, were won by the county clubs.

Trooper Shot While Removing Gun Belt

Trooper First class R. C. Deshong was shot accidentally Sunday afternoon at Deep Creek Lake as he was removing his gun belt to begin a two-day leave.

Deshong is stationed at LaVale barracks. He was reported in good condition in Garrett County Memorial hospital and was released from the hospital Monday.

The accident occurred as the 38 special service revolver started to fall from the holster as Deshong began to remove his gun belt.

Lt. W. E. O'Hara, LaVale barracks commander, who investigated said the gun discharged as Trooper Deshong grabbed it. The bullet went through the bottom of the holster, entered the right leg below the knee and came out above the ankle. No bones were broken.

The trooper was admitted to the hospital for treament and shots to guard against gangrene and infection.

The accident occurred about 4:30 p. m. in the Turkey Nook section of the lake and as the trooper was getting out of his car to enter his trailer. He was taken to the hospital by Marshall Wilson Westernport, who occupied a nearby trailer.

THE INVITATION

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Galatians	5	13-11
Monday	Psalms	36	7-9
Tuesday	II Timothy	2	19
Wednesday	Psalms	107	28-31
Thursday	Ephesians	2	12-18
Friday	Luke	1	77-79
Saturday	Psalms	89	5-8

Everyone recognizes the great Lady standing in New York harbor holding her flaming torch. She welcomes the tired, the poor, the homeless, to this land of freedom. She symbolizes hope.

Back of the Lady, back of the welcome, stands the Church. The words on the statue do not mention the Church, and many of us do not realize the role it plays, but the Church inspired the principles on which our nation was built. It is the spirit of Christianity which extends the welcome to our shores and makes our nation a haven.

On the anniversary of our independence, we are proud of our freedom and opportunity and hope.

No statue with flaming torch stands at the door of the Church. But the Church is the real guardian of our heritage.

Strengthen your nation and yourself. Join the Church.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: 2 Kings 11:23-29; Amos 7:7-17.
Devotional Reading: 1 Peter 1:10-16.

Speakers For God

Lesson for July 3, 1960

"TOMORROW" Is almost a magic word. It is the wonderful day when our dreams are going to come true. It can also be the black day of dread, the day when we get what is coming to us, the day when we have to pay for our follies and our sins. Sometimes neither dreams nor nightmares collect around that word "Tomorrow," it is a word of mystery. We do not know what is going to happen, and we wish we did. Of course we shall know soon enough . . . but the trouble is, we'd all like to get an inside peek before any one else does.

Dr. Foreman

No crystal ball

Now there have been men and women who profess to have that inside peek. Sometimes they do it with tea-leaves, sometimes with a crystal ball, sometimes they claim to have a friend on the "other side" who gives out special information. Sometimes they just "see" tomorrow by shutting their eyes. But it is very seldom that such people are highly respected. They are regarded as rather comic characters — Old Man Mose for example. Crystal balls appear in countless cartoons. Sensible people don't take them seriously—for the good reason that most forecasters make too many mistakes. If the tealeaf reader really could tell you which stocks would go up, she would be much richer than she ever will be by telling fortunes.

A large part of the Bible was written by "prophets;" and they are low-rated by many who ought to get better acquainted with them. They are low-rated because the very word "prophet" suggests crystal balls, palm-reading and all that stuff. As a matter of fact, the Bible word "prophet" did not mean forecaster. It meant spokesman, a person who has the authority to speak for another. The Other for whom the Bible prophets spoke, of course is GOD.

One of the greatest prophets, Jeremiah, once drew a clear line between a genuine prophet and a fake. If a man has a dream, he said, let him tell it if he likes; but a Word from God is another thing altogether. Prophets said what they said because they knew what God wanted them to say. When a man thinks what God wants him to think, especially if no one has ever had the thought before, we call it Revelation. And if a man who has had a revelation feels the urge to write it or to preach it, that is called Inspiration. Revelation has to do with the truth as it bursts (or perhaps grows quietly) within a man's mind. Inspiration has to do with passing on God's truth to others. The point is, the prophets of the Bible never said "I think," "I guess," "The probabilities are . . ."—they all said "Thus saith the Lord." Of course the woods were full of people saying "Thus said the Lord," and it was pretty confusing at the time. Who knew who was right, or whether any of them were? But history, which in a sense is the handwriting of God, sifted out true from false prophets. Men and nations who took heed, and men and nations that paid no attention, found out in time who were the real spokesmen for God.

Prophet and people

The Sunday School lessons, as followed by the more than 80 denominations using the "Uniform Lessons," are going to be looking at some outstanding Old Testament prophets for the next three months. We should try to get it straight in our minds that a prophet and a priest were two different things. A priest had an official position; a prophet had none. Priests were very well paid, but prophets drew no salary, and some (like Amos) were very poor. Priests were born to their positions; only men of certain old families could be priests at all. Prophets might be distinguished and wealthy men; most of them were neither, at the time. Priests kept their mouths shut. They were supposed to teach, but they generally neglected to do this. Prophets could not keep their mouths shut. God had given them something to say. Jeremiah once said that when he tried to keep silence, the Word within him was like a fire in his bones. These men had to speak.

A Hollow Victory For Ivy League Professors—By interesting coincidence, it was on Flag Day that U. S. Senate debated the Kennedy bill to knock out the so-called disclaimer affidavit as a requirement to be met by students applying for loans under the National Defense Education Act. The disclaimer affidavit is to the effect that the student applying for a loan of United States money for his education does not believe in and is not a member of and does not support any organization which has as its purpose the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force and violence. The proponents of the Kennedy bill—those wanting to knock out the affidavit requirement—argued that college professors objected to the affidavit on the grounds that it "unfairly singled out students" and was "an attack on freedom of thought" and, further, that some of the Ivy League universities refused to permit their students to take part in the loan program because of the affidavit requirement. Those wanting to retain the disclaimer affidavit said that (a) the movement against the affidavit requirement was instigated by "fellow-travellers" and that the core of the movement is made up of pinks, Communist sympathizers, and those Americans of warped minds who hate everything American; (b) well-meaning people, particularly college professors wanting to be counted as "liberal", have been misguided into supporting the movement; (c) the students themselves, about whom everyone seems concerned, are not disturbed by the affidavit requirement; (d) 1300 college and universities have accepted the requirement and are participating in the student loan program; (e) the few Ivy League universities which refuse to participate, while defending "freedom of thought", are actually denying to their students the right to exercise that freedom of thought and apply it in the case of these Government loans; and (f) students are not "singled out" by the requirement; all Civil Defense volunteer workers, all legislative employees, and a great many other groups are required to make such an affidavit.

Senator Prouty of Vermont offered a substitute measure as a compromise, and it was accepted by the two opposing sides; the Prouty substitute incorporates into the law, in place of the disclaimer-affidavit requirement, a strong penalty clause making it a criminal offense for a member of any subversive organization or one concealing past subversive ties to apply for or accept Government funds under authority of the National Defense Education Act. An oath of allegiance still would be required.

Nearly all the students who have written me say that they are not in sympathy with the movement to abolish the disclaimer. I believe that the students consider it an honor to express—on any occasion—not only their love, devotion and allegiance to the Flag and to the Constitution, but to declare their abhorrence of any cell or organization which proposes to overthrow the Government by force and violence. In today's world, it behooves all of us who believe in the American system, which has given us the greatest culture and the highest standard of living the world has ever known, to welcome the opportunity to express our faith in that system. It will be a sad day if it is ever considered improper for one not only to pledge allegiance to the Stars and Stripes, but to avow one's faith in the American system. If that day ever comes, we will have lost the contest which is being waged today for the minds and hearts of men and women all over the world.

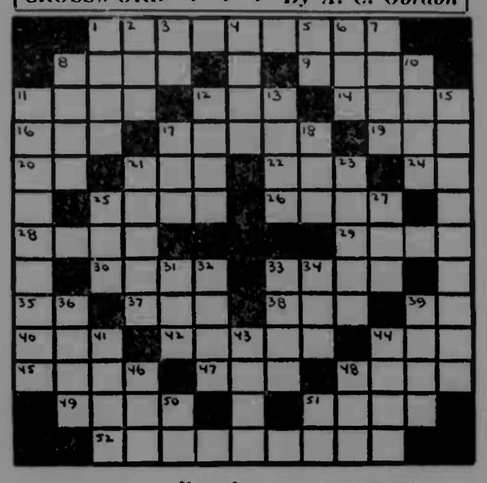
Maryland Gains 1 Seat In House—Due to her phenomenal growth in population—31.1 per cent in 10 years, according to the new census—Maryland is likely to pick up another seat in the U. S. House of Representatives. Maryland will then have eight Congresssional districts instead of seven, as at present. The total number of seats in the House remains at 435, and these are apportioned to the States according to population. (Temporarily, there have been 437, 2 too many, due to the admission of two new States.) Roughly speaking, the States which have gained in population more than the national average will gain one or more seats; and the States which have gained less than the national average will lose one or more seats. The Census Bureau must transmit to the President by December 1, 1960, the final population figures for each State, together with the Bureau's plan for reapportioning the House. The President will send the prospective reapportionment to Congress early in January, and Congress must approve it. Congress will then notify those States which are to gain or lose seats, and the respective State legislatures will decide on the new boundaries for its Congressional districts, and the changes will go into effect with the 1962 Congressional elections.

According to preliminary figures, California stands to gain 8 seats; Florida, 4; Maryland, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Arizona, and Hawaii should gain 1 each. The preliminary count shows New York and Pennsylvania each losing 3 seats; Massachusetts and Arkansas, 2 each; Alabama, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, and West Virginia stand to lose 1 each.

"More Fun Than Swallowing Gold Fish"—Communist sympathizers and fellow-travellers over the world, including the rats in this country, no doubt were made very happy over the success of the demonstrators in Tokyo in forcing cancellation of President Eisenhower's good-will visit to Japan. It has been revealed that the demonstrations were staged by professional Communist agitators who paid $1.65 a day to the college students who took part. Students looking for excitement, and being at the age of rebellion, and needing $1.65 (big money in Japan), were willing pawns in the Communists' deadly game. We like to believe that the rank and file of decent Japanese—the millions who appreciate our rebuilding their country and our returning them to a position of economic stability—resent the disgraceful actions of their young people who made up the Communist-led mobs in Tokyo quite as much as we resent the disgraceful actions of the Communist-led mob of students who last month in San Francisco disrupted official Congressional committee hearings, the purpose of which was to investigate significant Communist activities in the Bay Area. I am sure the great rank and file of decent Japanese would hate to be judged by the actions of their Tokyo mobs, just as the great rank and file of decent Americans would hate to be judged by the actions of those stupid, misguided hooligans in San Francisco.

My Park Plans Near Realization—Progress is being made on my program for a national historical park along the famous C & O Canal between Cumberland, Maryland, and Washington, D. C. We now have a bill, the Beall Bill, which should go safely through.

Making Citizens of District Residents—Congressional action was completed last week on a Constitutional Amendment to give the now-voteless residents of the Nation's Capital the right to help elect Presidents and Vice Presidents. Approval of 38 States is required for a Constitutional Amendment. Efforts to give home-rule to the District of Columbia will continue.



U. S. Exports Increase—The Department of Commerce has announced that U. S. exports in the quarter of this year increased at a rate to approximately 18.2 billion dollars a year.

Before Socialism! Remember?—I heard of a fellow the other day who actually retired on his savings—he worked for years when they didn't take Social Security, health benefits, pension funds, union dues and unemployment insurance out of his pay checks.

The United Nations, 5 years old June 26, was getting so many new members it was outgrowing its 66½ million headquarters.

Avoid Summer Drop In Milk Production

Avoid the summer slump in milk production. Now is the time to think about feeding your dairy cows additional good quality forage, suggests J. R. Schabinger, Extension dairyman, University of Maryland College of Agriculture. The quality of pastures usually falls off in July and August, he adds.

You can get more forage into your cows by feeding good hay and silage in the barn or in racks that are convenient to the barn. Keep feed available to the cows at all times. Even when pastures are lush cows will eat some good quality forage if it is offered to them. Provide plenty of cool water and shade around the supplemental feeding area, he suggests.

More and more dairymen are feeding green forage. Chopping supplemental pastures and bringing it to the cows will help to avoid the summer slump in milk production. The combination of green forage feeding and pasturing will provide a uniform supply of nutrients for your milking herd, says Schabinger.

However, the quality of the green forage is just as important as the quality in hay and silage. Cut early to get the most milk production. Mature or old forage is not utilized by dairy cattle as efficiently as young growing plants. Caution should be taken to prevent heating of green forage. Fresh green material must be cut for the cows at least once a day and preferably twice a day, he says.

If additional forage is not available on your farm in the form of hay, silage or supplemental green forage, Schabinger suggests feeding the milking herd additional grain to maintain the energy needed to produce milk in hot weather.

VOLUME 84 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., JULY 7, 1960 — PER COPY, 8c — NUMBER 19

Police Seek Youth To Give Him Credit For Special Act

State Police are looking for a young man, but this time it isn't that they want to lock him up in the county jail or give him a ticket for violation of the motor vehicle laws. They want to give him proper credit for performing a meritorious service.

Corporal Sam Conrad, of the State Police, said that when they were attempting to hitch a line to the automobile that had drifed into Deep Creek Lake a few weeks ago, carrying a seven-year-old girl to her death, that this young man appeared and volunteered. He shed most of his clothes, dived and succeeded in attaching the line but in the ensuing pull it broke.

Shortly afterward a wrecker appeared, this time with a heavier line of metal and the police asked the young man once again, "Do you think you can do it just once more?" "I'll try," he said, and succeeded on the first attempt once more.

This time the line held, the car was brought to shore, and in the ensuing excitement the man left and no one seems to know who he was. His girl friend kept calling, "Be careful, Jerry!"

Now the State Police would like for any person who recognized him to let them in on the secret.

Double Life Led By Former County Man Is Revealed

The double life of a former Garrett County man who drowned Saturday was revealed this week when authorities began investigating the true identity of the man and learned he was married to two women.

The drowning victim, who was first identified as Ted Rine, 51, of West Annapolis, later was identified from police records as Carl Perry Jamison, formerly of Oakland.

Jamison or Rine was drowned Saturday, June 25, in a boating accident and was identified as Ted Rine by Charles E. Armstrong, 23, a neighbor who was in the boat with Rine when it overturned. Armstrong was unable to save Rine, a non-swimmer, but finally managed to reach shore himself.

The body also was identified as Rine by Mrs. Anna Mae Rine, who said the victim was her husband, Ted, and the father of her three children.

However, police received a phone call from Mrs. Esther Rhodes, 22, of Baltimore, who said the body was her uncle and his name was Jamison.

Later, Mrs. Rhodes and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Cosner, also of Baltimore, viewed the body and Mrs. Cosner said it was her brother, Carl Perry Jamison.

Mrs. Cosner said she had last seen her brother in 1949 when he deserted his wife, Mrs. Emma Jamison, and their 11 children. She added the Jamisons were married in 1926 in Oakland, and that Jamison had left his family in 1943 but returned in 1917 to stay with them for two years.

Police fingerprinted the body of the drowning victim and identified the man as Carl Perry Jamison who served time in the House of Correction about 10 years ago for non-support of his first wife and 11 children.

Breaks Into Filling Station; Steals $150

One breaking and entering interrupted the peaceful celebration of the Fourth of July, particularly for Isadore Skeweris, of near Gormania. His filling station and store were broken into early Tuesday morning and approximately $150 stolen.

Mr. and Mrs. Skeweris live nearby, but the man's father was sleeping in back of the storeroom. He heard a commotion and his investigation succeeded in scaring the man or men away. They were preparing to go through another cash drawer in the storeroom when the father entered the room.

He was aware of one man and was not sure whether he had an accomplice.

Sheriff James E. Frantz, who investigated, said they saw where an automobile apparently had been parked while the robbery was taking place, and in which the burglar apparently escaped.

Garrett County Man Gets 3-Yr. Sentence

William W. Wilson, Bloomington, yesterday was sentenced to three years in the Maryland penitentiary by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in the Allegany Circuit court for breaking and entering a business establishment in Westernport last June 7.

Wilson assumed full responsibility for entrance into the building. He said Thomas H. Green, 32, Keyser, just went along with him. The judge found Green not guilty.

The Potomac Candy company was the place entered where cigarets, candy and cigars valued at $85 were taken. Entrance was gained through a side door. William McIntyre, who lives on the upper floor of the business place, testified he saw two men enter the building and called police. Officer David Wright, Westernport spotted two men along the railroad tracks and ordered them to halt. Green stopped but Wilson leaped a passing freight. Wilson was picked up the next day in Keyser.

"The Gazebo" Is 2nd Playhouse Offering

A paradoxical combination of mirth and murder sparks the second attraction at the Garrett County Playhouse, a melodramatic farce entitled "The Gazebo." This Broadway play by Alec Coppel, author of "The Captain's Paradise," will open July 12th for five performances through July 16.

The opening play, "For Love or Money," which continues through the balance of this week, was attracting good audiences.

The story of "The Gazebo" carries a television mystery-writer spinning through a ludicrous series of murderous events. In the cocky belief that his ability to spin homicidal webs so skillfully for audiences of the cathode tubes qualifies him to commit a perfect murder in real life, the writer attempts to do away with an unsavory fellow who is trying to blackmail his wife. He accomplishes his mission with the help of an elaborate check-list of clues he must conceal, but he overlooks one thing: he commits the crime in the dark, and the possibility looms up, once the body is carefully sealed away in the foundations of a newly erected gazebo—a fancy summer house on his lawn—that he may have done away with the wrong man. One pulse-quickening, rib-tickling event follows another, climaxed by the sale of the gazebo (thus threatening the exposure of the corpus delicti) by the wife, who knows he has always hated it.

Jim Friedman (Elliot Nash) will be starred in the role of the whodunit author who discovers that it's easier to write the story of a murder than to perpetrate one, and Judith Weimken (Neil Nash) will play his decorative spouse who is unaware of the nefarious deed her husband has done in behalf of her good name.

Others in the cast will include Fred Burrell (Harlow Edison) as the district attorney who is the writer's best friend, and who, unknowingly, supplies the strategy for the "murder"; Sallie Lutin (Mathilda) as the bossy maid who rules over the house with an iron hand, Richard Dorian (The Dook) and Judy Knaiz (Louie) as a pair of underworld characters, Steve Wagner, Ray Caton (Jenkins, Dr. Wyner) as the long arms of the law, Peg Lewis (Mrs. Chandler) as a chattering dowager who wishes to buy the writer's house, Marty McGuire (Mr. Thorp) as a nightwatchman puzzled by the mysterious doings on the lawn.

The combination of humor and homicide has been directed by Gene Yell.

Sustains Broken Leg

Victor Hoffman, Lake lot owner, sustained a broken right leg yesterday evening when it was caught between a boat and a post.

He was brought to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in the Minnich ambulance where he remains a patient. He told Minnich a man was backing a boat into the dock and was traveling too fast. He stuck out his foot to lessen the pending impact against the dock when it slipped and was caught. The break occurred below the knee. Both leg bones were involved.

Minnich also brought to the hospital yesterday W. C. Stevens, who had suffered third degree burns on a coal tipple at Coketon, W. Va., several days ago. He had been hospitalized at Parsons since last Friday.

The burns resulted from a gasoline explosion.

Crowd At Tent Meeting

A large crowd attended the tent meeting at Mt. Lake Park on Tuesday evening to hear David, a boy preacher since nine years of age.

He told of how he began his ministry and of the trip to Russia he and his wife just completed.

David is scheduled to return to this area for further meetings about September 4, according to Rev. Jim Harding, local sponsoring pastor. Upon his return he will show a film taken during his Russian tour.

Go Ahead Given On Gridiron Lights

With $4,500 received in a campaign to raise $6,400 the Southern High athletic Boosters last Thursday evening authorized those in charge to proceed with ordering material for the lights on the high school football field.

Marvin Jones, president, said the material had been ordered from the National Mine Supply Service of Morgantown. This includes the lights and everything except the poles, he explained. The eleven poles needed have been purchased from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and the poles are ready for delivery when needed. The material is due for delivery on or before August 15, so that all work will be completed and the lights installed for the first home game against Romney School for the Deaf on September 16.

Jones said eleven poles were needed, three 40-foot poles for the lead-in line and transformers, and eight 65-foot poles for around the field. These will be sunk in the ground to a depth of 8 feet, leaving 57 feet above ground.

There will be 64 lights on the eight poles, eight on each pole, and each light will be 1500 watts. A 12,000 KW line is now being constructed by the West Maryland Power company to the football field.

Jones said that the electricity would cost approximately $5 per hour when in use.

Labor for the project is being donated and the president pointed out that the club has taken out compensation insurance covering those who offer their services if injured in any way. The policy also pays 60 percent of a person's normal pay at his occupation, in case of injury. The coverage is for any number of men up to 100.

Booster club officers are still seeking volunteer laborers. Contributions also are being requested from individuals and business places. Donations may be made to Marvin Jones, Mt. Lake Park, or Dr. H. R. Gibson and Earl Adolfson, Oakland. Gibson is chairman of the canvassing committee, while Adolfson, football coach at Southern, is chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Jones said he was hoping that the fund would reach the quota of $6,400 by September 1. A thermometer has been erected on the lawn of the court house in Oakland where the amount of money raised is shown each week.

The lighting of the football field was a project undertaken by the club last winter. A minstrel show raised about $1,100 and contributions since that time have raised the total thus far to more than $4,500.

Lake Property Owners To Meet Saturday

The Property Owners of Deep Creek Lake will meet Saturday, July 9, at 10:00 a. m. at the Deep Creek Lodge at Mellenry. Hosts and hostesses are being asked to assist the group with filling out name tags giving lake area, and serving refreshments. They include Mrs. Gomer Gibson, Mrs. Ward Ashby, Mrs. J. R. Wherle, H. L. Kennedy, and E. J. Bouldin.

Four persons will receive dues of members. They are Mrs. H. L. Kennedy, Mrs. E. J. Bouldin, Mrs. John E. Beck, Mrs. Walter L. Reed.

Two members will initial membership cards for receiving their new $100 reward signs. They are Mrs. R. R. Keener and Mrs. T. J. Laskey.

A short business meeting will include committee reports: legislation, Dr. T. G. Bennett; safety, Earl Zepp; membership, H. L. Kennedy; fishing, E. J. Bouldin; roads, C. M. Railey; sanitation, John E. Beck.

The program speaker will be George B. Shields, Chief Enforcement Officer of the Game and Inland Fish Commission. Pres. R. R. Keener says the group will hear of the new boating laws and will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Draws $50.00 Fine

A charge of being drunk and disorderly brought a fine of $50.00 and costs to John Carroll Hudson, when tried before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney. The offense was said to have occurred at Thayer's Barn on July 2.

On complaint of Mrs. Edith Mae Cruthers, Elvin Cruthers was found guilty of non-support of their three minor children. Cruthers was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction, which was suspended on condition that he contribute $25.00 weekly toward their support.

Historical Society Officers Retained For Another Term

All officers of the Garrett County Historical society were re-elected at the annual dinner meeting held last Thursday at the William-James hotel in Oakland.

They included Mrs. William W. Grant, president; Harry C. Edwards, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Edward P. Kahl, 2nd vice-president; Miss Elizabeth West, secretary; Miss Edith Brock, assistant secretary; E. Herbert Shaffer, treasurer.

Dennis Rasche and Ervin Smith were continued as editors of the Glades Star, with Felix G. Robinson and Miss Viola Broadwater as contributing editors.

Lewis R. Jones was named to the Board of Directors to fill the place of Ross Speicher, who has moved away. Other members of the board were the same as last year, Lowell Loomis, Paul B. Naylor, W. Dwight Stover, Vernie R. Smouse, and J. J. Walker.

Radcliffe Is Speaker

Former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, president of the Maryland Historical society, emphasized Maryland's attitude during the civil war in his address, which was the main event of the dinner session. Senator Radcliffe spoke on Maryland also as a state of contrasts, and stressed world conditions. He pointed out that although Garrett county was the youngest county in the state, yet its historical society was older than that of any other county in Maryland.

Mrs. Kahl, 2nd vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Grant who was hospitalized. The Rev. Shelby Walthall, Episcopal rector, gave the invocation, and Mrs. Jay Bell sang three vocal selections. The speaker was introduced by Felix G. Robinson.

Reports of officers and committees were heard. Paul B. Naylor gave an account of the plaque that had been erected at Hove Crest, highest point in Maryland, atop Backbone Mountain, near Silver Lake.

Caleb Winslow, who represented the local group at a meeting of the Maryland Historical society, gave an account of the meeting.

Some 65 to 70 persons attended the annual meeting.

Power Company Is Busy With Projects

The new street lighting plan for the city of Oakland, approved by the Mayor and Town council at a May meeting, will wait until next year because of the unusual press of projects which must be completed this year by the West Maryland Power company.

The agreement to wait patiently was approved by the city council in session Monday night, whose members also agreed to sign a new contract for the work, to be completed sometime next spring.

Mercury vapor lamps are to replace the present lights when the time comes, giving two and one half times as much as existing light.

The Power company explained that the work load for new electric service construction was now greater than at any time since 1950.

Company employes are converting a line to Mt. Lake Park to 4,000 kw's. A 12,000 kw line is being constructed from Red House to the top of Backbone mountain which will take a full crew two weeks, designed to provide improved service to Bayard and Gormania.

The company said it would take several weeks to extend the 12,000 kw line for the football field lights which are to be put in use this fall at Oakland.

The C. and P. Telephone company has asked for service to the top of Backbone mountain by the middle of August which will take two more weeks to complete. Hareo Lumber has asked for service to its new location by August. This means considerable line construction and many days of work for a full crew. Many poles are also needed to provide electric service to individuals and stores.

K. Of P. To Attend Game

Members of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, plan to attend the Little League baseball game Friday evening as a group. The team sponsored by the organization will play the Legion team at 7:00 o'clock.

Following the game, the regular meeting will be held at Castle Hall when reports of officers will be heard and an audit made by the trustees.

Sanitation Problems In the 9th St. Section Are Tossed About

The County Health department, in a letter from the sanitarian, asked the mayor and town council of Oakland to condemn certain home on Ninth street for living quarters but the council threw the problem back in the lap of the Health department.

The department's letter complained of unsanitary conditions in the Ninth street area south of Oak, and pointed out nine residences where there were problems of city water, outside toilets and kitchen wastes going into the stream, and stated that many times there was stagnant water in several basements providing breeding places for mosquitoes and which caused foul odors.

The City clerk was advised by council to write to the Health department pointing out it was the obligation of the health department and not a case for action by the town.

Howard White presided over the Tuesday night session in the absence of Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, president.

Permits were granted to David E. Hardesty, to place a trailer 10 by 45 feet on the Arthur Warnick property on High street, and to five persons the right to use town equipment at prevailing prices. These were William A. Shirer, C. W. Englander, Leighton Brothers garage, Gerald Minnich and Cheston Browning. The council tabled a request for a permit for Regis Kerins to construct a trailer court off First street, between Huldah Littman property and Oakland Machine Shop, pending approval by the Health department.

The clerk-collector reported receipts for June amounting to $20,182.34, and expenditures of $14,345.72. Among miscellaneous collections of $12,347.81 was $5,471.86 from traders' licenses. Among expenditures was a payment of $5,000 for money borrowed, with interest.

Sunday movie tax for June amounted to $31.75.

Second Flood Project To Get Started Soon

The contract for building the second in a series of flood control dams within the area will probably be awarded within a few days, it was announced yesterday morning by Lewis R. Jones, contracting officer for the local Soil Conservation district.

The date for opening the bids was yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The George F. Hazelwood company was the only bidder, but Mr. Jones pointed out that the bid was well within the limits of estimates of engineers. The low bid was $25,304.

Work on the structure, located on Cherry Creek run, a tributary of Wilson run, north of Oakland, was expected to begin in the near future. The dam would be located on the Casteel estate.

The contract called for work to begin within 20 calendar days after the bid was actually awarded and that it would be completed within 90 calendar days from the date of receipt of notice to proceed.

The first of the series of structures aimed at flood control in this county is now under construction by the Hazelwood company and is scheduled for completion this summer at a cost of about $80,000.

The structure is located near Deer Park on the headwaters of the Little Youghiogheny river.

The structures are being built with federal funds under sponsorship of the Garrett Soil Conservation district with the town of Oakland and the County Commissioners.

Louis T. Michael, music instructor, who operates a music studio in the Fazzalari building, has purchased The Music Shop on Second street from E. Paul Stockman.

Mr Michael plans to continue to operate the studio as well as The Music Shop.

Will Hold Vacation School

The Vacation Church School of St. John's Lutheran church, Red House, will begin Monday, July 18, and continue for two weeks. Mrs. Robert Dodge is the director of this year's school. The theme is "Missionaries for Christ", and is based on the missionary work being done in Africa. Classes begin at 9 a. m. each morning, Monday through Friday, and end at 11:30 a. m.

STILL A LONG WAY TO GO—Marvin Jones, president of the Athletic Boosters of Southern High, points to the thermometer on the Court House lawn which indicates the amount raised to date in the project to raise money for lighting the football field. He emphasized that there was still a long way to go and urged that citizens help the club in reaching its goal of $6,400.

Pharmacy to Expand

The Oakland Pharmacy is planning an expansion program this fall, it was announced this week by Harold Harned and Robert Proudfoot, owners of the Rexall store.

Mr. Proudfoot said the expansion would include the first floor of The Republican building, now housing The Fair. The room will be leased by the pharmacy, and the wall separating the pharmacy and Republican building will be removed so that both storerooms will be opened into one large area.

The Oakland Pharmacy has been at its present location since 1893. The owners plan to remodel inside and out, and provide an area approximately three times the present store space. They plan to have the enlargement completed by December. They also announced they would expand the present line of merchandise, and give customers more freedom of movement.

Four-H Older Youth Week-end Camp will be held July 9 and 10, at the Western Maryland 4-H Camp.

"Growing as a Leader" is the special topic which will be introduced by Rev. Shelby Walthall, Oakland, on Saturday afternoon. A special slide program entitled "More Mileage From your Meeting" will be given on Sunday by Tom Magruder, president of the Garrett 4-H County Council.

Square dancing under the leadership of W. B. Vanderford, Assistant County Agent, Calvert County, will highlight the Saturday evening program. A talent show will be presented during intermission.

A special guest from Germany, Marguerite Hold, an International Farm Youth Exchangee, will attend the camp and tell about the life and customs of her country.

Personnel in charge of the camp include E. Rankin Lusby, Mrs. Johanna M. Stull, Garrett County; James Arnold, Nancy Marsteller, Allegany County; Richard Schukraft, Washington County; and Phillip Beeman, lifeguard.

Arrest Two For Fishing Violations

Two persons were charged by state officials with violations of the Maryland fish laws during the week. Both violations occurred at Deep Creek Lake and in both cases the persons forfeited collateral.

Willie H. Barrett, of Ferndale, Mich., was charged with possession of an undersize bass and forfeited $15.00 collateral.

Kenneth A. Gewertz, of Philadelphia, Pa., charged with fishing without a license, posted collateral of $20.00.

Weather Is Cool

A cool wave settled over the mountain top during the week which dropped the thermometer to 41 degrees yesterday morning. For the most part days have been clear and moderate. The afternoon temperatures ranged in the low 70's. Not too much change is expected for the week-end.

Mt. Lake To Elect Two Councilmen

Citizens of Mt. Lake Park will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect two councilmen to serve for a term of two years, and also vote on a referendum question, whether or not to accept the town's new charter which was approved by the Mayor and Town council last November 10.

There are three candidates for city council. They are Harry C. Coddington, Aubrey O. Savage and Robert B. Sincell.

Held over members of council are Alfred Calhoun, Glenn Simpson, and Raymond Welch. C. C. Mason has another year to serve as mayor.

The new city charter was drawn up by city attorney, Fred A. Thayer. He explained that the old charter had been sketchy and left in doubt a number of items. The new charter provides for a definite budget and specific taxation.

It also indicates definitely the duties of the Mayor and members of the council.

The original charter was granted April 17, 1931 and in September of that year the authority of the mayor was questioned. A hearing was held on a suit for injunction to restrain the newly elected authorities from assessing, levying and collecting taxes upon the assessable property of the owners of the Park. Those seeking the injunction lost.

The incorporation had been opposed by the Mt. Lake Park association and the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist church which owned and controlled all of the public buildings, several hotels and much of the unimproved real estate.

Trust Group Seeks Bids For Buildings

The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce Development Trust is seeking bids this week for construction of two buildings for the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Plans and specifications are available by calling DE 4-2111. A deposit of $50 is required for the plans and specifications.

Bids are to be opened Friday, July 22, at 11 a. m. in the office of the First National Bank.

The trust is planning to construct two buildings which will be used by the Hareo Lumber company in its operations, and will be located on the recently acquired property along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad just east of town, formerly owned by the H. Weber and Sons company.

Frank McDaniel, Irvin Feld and Earl Zepp have been on three trips recently with Elmer Grimm, president of the Hareo Lumber company, to inspect a number of metal buildings similar to what the Trust would need in its project.

Don Holland To Address Rotarians Friday Night

Don Holland, industrial development manager of the Monongahela Power company, of Fairmont, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Oakland Rotary club at the William-James hotel.

Mr Holland will speak on Industrial development of small communities. John Forman is program chairman for July. Henry Hupp, manager of the West Maryland Power company, will introduce the speaker.

Water System Bids Accepted On 4 Projects

Authority Given To Borrow $450,000 For New Town System

Authority to set in motion the machinery by which the city of Oakland would borrow $450,000 for the installation of a new water supply for the town, was given Tuesday night at a regular session of the Mayor and Town Council, and contracts were awarded for four separate projects.

A notice of the issuance of the Water Supply bonds appears in today's issue, the bonds to be used for construction of the things needed to bring the water supply for the town from the Youghiogheny river. The bonds are to be paid off in thirty-one years.

The four bids accepted by the Mayor and Town Council will mean an outlay of $287,084.77. The four contracts were as follows:

Contract No. 1, raw water intake and pumping station. Seven bids were received ranging from $60,815.15 to $111,998, with completion of contract varying from 150 to 450 calendar days. Bid accepted was that of J. F. Savage, Columbus, O., for $60,959, with 450 calendar days for completion.

Contract No. 2, water mains. There were four bids ranging from $82,285 to $108,910, with completion anywhere from 180 to 450 days. Successful bidder was Tri-W Construction company, Inc., Pittsburgh, with a total of $77,777.77. This was the alternate bid on this project and will require 180 days to complete.

Contract No. 3, water treatment plant. Six bids were received, ranging from $212,740 to $288,530, with completion anywhere from 270 to 150 days. Successful bidder was White, Reznor, Marion company, Pittsburgh, for $212,740, with completion set at 360 days. The bid was lower than the estimate of the Chester Engineers of Pittsburgh, which prepared the plans and specifications for all projects.

Contract No. 4, electrical work. There were four bids, ranging from $35,608 to $50,000, with completion set from 180 to 360 days. Successful bidder was Perry Electric company, Pittsburgh, for $35,608, which was lower than engineer estimates.

The bonds are being offered for sale to the highest bidder, and bids are to be opened on Tuesday, July 19.

Of the twelve bidders involving construction of the various phases of the water filtration and distribution system, only one concern bid on all four projects. Acceptance of his bid was contingent upon acceptance of all four.

The new system had previously been recommended by the Chester Engineers and approved at a public meeting in Oakland in May of this year. The system involves taking water from the Youghiogheny river, filtering it and using this surface source instead of the present deep wells which have been termed inadequate, particularly in the summer months.

The City council announced Tuesday night that agreement had been reached with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, whereby the latter has given permission to the former to lay the new pipe line under the railroad tracks.

Lot Outline Clarified

In a story in The Republican last week, dealing with assault and battery charges preferred against each other by J. P. Runner and W. E. Ruehl, of the Green Glade section, Deep Creek Lake, it was stated that the two owned "adjoining triangular plots of ground."

Mr. Ruehl stated this week that his plot of ground is actually rectangular, only his access over the safety strip to the water being triangular. He brought along a map to prove it.

To Show Film At Meeting

Impromptu Ashby Reunion Is Held

An unusual reunion of members of two widely scattered and long-lost branches of one of the oldest families in the county took place Tuesday when Isaac Sanford Ashby and wife, Agnes Duncan Ashby, of Centertown, Ohio county, Kentucky, arrived from Washington, D. C.

They were enroute to their home from Fort Meade where they had spent the Fourth with their son, DAVID R. ASHBY. They left Oakland Wednesday night by train for Cincinnati where they will board a plane for Louisville, and thence to Centertown by auto.

Isaac Ashby is a son of Jesse Ashby, who, with several brothers and numerous other families, set out from Virginia soon after the Revolution for Kentucky. William Wilton Ashby and wife, Sarah Williams Ashby, and some of their children remained in then Allegheny, now Garrett county, where they died in 1805 or 1801 after rearing ten children from whom many Garrett Countians are descended.

Jesse Peter, George, Henry and Joshua Stephen Ashby went on west and were lost to the Garrett county family. Now Isaac, son of Jesse, has been back to the old county where relatives were delighted with this rather unusual and welcome reunion.

Near Centertown, in Ohio county, Isaac and Agnes Ashby live where Jesse settled in 1793 and died in 1827. He was born in 1738 and is buried near Centertown.

Research is being done on the other members of the Ashby family and it is hoped more data of interest to the many relatives in Garrett county will be made available soon.

nterest Being Sought For Retarded Children

Efforts are to be made to form an organization in this county in the interest of retarded children.

Making contacts locally was Fern Smith, of the state association for retarded children, which is a unit of the national organization.

Those interested locally are attempting to find out first of all how many retarded children there are in the county. Persons having knowledge of these persons are being requested to contact Mrs. A. Dr. Mance, who was contacted originally by Mr. Smith, said it is estimated that three percent of the population throughout the United States is retared in some degree.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT...

Better Health Through Knowledge

Public Beaches

- Exercises For Cramps
- Luminous Clocks

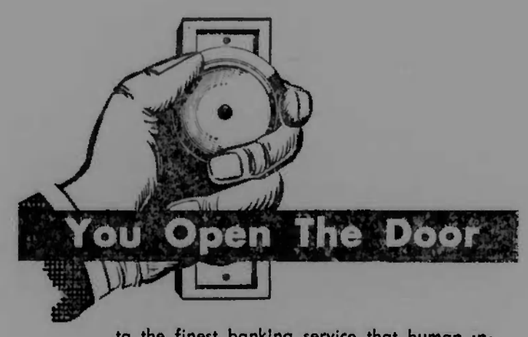
Q. Is overcrowding of beaches a health hazard to swimmers?

A. The Public Health Laboratory Service Of England made a 7-year study of this problem. Samples of sea water were collected from over 40 different beaches. The English investigators seemed to agree that while heavily contaminated sea water (but not fresh water) at certain beaches could theoretically cause a great deal of disease, the fact of the matter is that it doesn't.

Q. Are exercises helpful in overcoming cramps and discomfort during certain days?

A. Some doctors advocate stretching exercises for dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation). Others either are not so sure that it helps or attribute the good results simply to enthusiasm for this method of treatment. If exercises help the individual, then it doesn't matter whether there is medical agreement as to the whys and wherefores.

Q. I have had a radium dial clock beside my bed for years. Could such a clock give off enough radiation to cause cancer?



A. The amount of radiation given off by a radium dial clock would not in itself be sufficient to cause harm. However, it adds to the total radiation we receive and in this sense it might be considered undesirable. Man cannot escape some radiation. We are constantly exposed to "background" radiation originating within and above the earth. This amount of radiation — and more — isn't harmful but there is a limit. Because the hazards of radiation are not fully known it is best to avoid unnecessary exposure. A radium dial watch or clock is a drop in the radiation bucket but why add the drop when it isn't necessary?

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, MARYLAND

Review of The Play

If Mother Nature would just cooperate somewhat by providing weather which was more seasonable, then Oakland and the Deep Creek area would be assured of a most delightful summer season. But even if the warmer weather is lacking, we have one thing to be thankful for and that is the opening of the annual summer season of the Garrett County Playhouse.

On Friday evening, proud papa, Gene Yell, unveiled for all to see his 1960 edition of the players, a group of earnest young actors all new to their viewers. This is the first time in five years of the playhouse where there hasn't been seen a familiar face other than that of producer-director Yell and his charming wife, Barbara.

From what was seen Tuesday night it would seem that the potentialities for a most interesting season of summer stock have been assembled. We venture the opinion that come the middle of August we will find it the best yet.

This week is the first time any of the group has ever worked together, hence there is some tendency to be slightly on edge and with this at times, occasional errors in timing, all of which will, we believe, vanish after another week or so of working together.

Fortunately there has been selected as the opening production of the 1960 season, a comedy which does not present too many problems in its staging, and at the same time provides an opportunity for the various performers to give an idea of their abilities and possibilities. "For Love or Money," as a play is not particularly good theatre. It was written by F. Hugh Herbert, the English born playwright and novelist, who gravitated into show business after serving a term in the advertising department of Selfridge, London's famous department store. "For Love or Money" was written before the author's eminently successful "The Moon Is Blue". As a matter of fact, one might say that Herbert was prepping for "The Moon Is Blue", when he wrote "For Love or Money". This being true since we have young adolescence combined with somewhat decadent but entertaining middle age cynicism—similar to the situation in "The Moon Is Blue."

Briefly our show this week is concerned with the effect of an unspoiled young woman on the life of a popular matinee idol as the latter changes from a manner of living of "Noblesse Oblige" to that more of his liking.

While there are eight characters in the opus, basically it is a four person play and these entrusted with these four leads turn in very creditable performances. These are Fred Burrell as Preston Mitchell, the actor; Peggy Lewis as Janet Blake, the naive receptionist; Judith Wiemken as Mitchell's leading lady; and Jan Friedman playing Bill Termaine, the romantic interest.

Perhaps the best delineated characterization of these four was provided by Miss Wiemken in portraying the part of a thwarted and theatrical leading lady, the victim of unrequited love. This young actress is not only most attractive in a physical sense but gives an comely attractive and well studied performance as the gal who doesn't get her man.

Whether intentionally or not, Fred Burrell reminds one of Alfred Drake in some of his mannerisms, which incidentally fit well into the interpretation of the part. Peggy Lewis, the young lady who is the romantic interest has one scene where she does perhaps the most cover up strip ever seen in show business. All possible because of a moumou type of garment she is wearing at the time. Jan Friedman, the boy who loses out in the end, should on the basis of this week's showing provide more interesting characterizations as the season progresses. Marty McGuire, as Wilbur, Preston Mitchell's houseman is not only very droll but also an excellent scene stealer.

As in the past Ray Caton's technical direction adds much to the enjoyment of the play.

Tuesday night's opening crowd, one of the largest in the past few years, seemed to enjoy itself. By Thursday night hesitancy and rough edges will have worn off so get down and give yourself a treat by seeing some living theatre.

Hosts Gladys and "Bud" Vanneri inaugurated the theatre dining excursion on Tuesday night. It will be continued each Tuesday and Thursday during the playhouse season.

Pictures Out Of The Past

View of Alder St. Taken Prior to 1900

Today's old photograph is a view of Alder street in Oakland, looking east from Second. It is interesting in a number of ways, but most interesting is the history of the little frame building shown second from the left foreground.

When the picture was taken, in 1898 or 1899, the structure was used by G. S. Hamill for his law offices. Later, it was moved to a triangular lot at the Second street railroad crossing owned by Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft, and put to work as a meat market, operated by Browning Brothers.

There it remained for a few more years before being moved farther down the railroad tracks toward the station, serving as a shoe shine parlor and lunch room.

Business declined on this street, but the little building's usefulness was not at an end. Moved again, this time to Third street, it housed a lunch room operated by Eugene Baumgartner.

But time brought more changes and the lot on which it was situated was purchased by Dr. N. I. Broadwater to construct the present building, now owned by Joseph Hinebaugh.

This called for another move, and the structure was taken once again to Alder street where it remains today, almost straight across from its original site. After all its moving around it is used, perhaps appropriately enough, as a lunch room and taxi headquarters by Mrs. Lula Stark.

To return to the picture, the first building on the left was the Central hotel, torn down to make room for the First National Bank building on the corner of Alder and Second streets.

Moving up the street, one finds the many-moved building already described; the B. Friese bakery sporting the large awning, now the DeWitt and DeBerry store; the former Sturgiss Pharmacy, still standing and used by the Maryland Department of Employment Security, and Hyde's Jewelry store.

Moving from front to back on the right side of the street are shown the former West's saloon, since torn down; John A. Peters' tailoring shop, Felty's store and the Matthews building, since torn down and replaced by the present structure. Next is one of the old post office sites followed by Nelson's Meat Market and the Townshend building.

The others in the picture have not been identified.

Also plainly visible are the crooked wooden walks, then called "platforms," and the numerous hitching posts. These latter have since been replaced with parking meters.

This is another picture furnished by Henry Arnold, and the accompanying information has been gleaned from his numerous scrapbooks.

Three Men Enlist

Enlistment of three Garrett County men was announced by M Sgt. Joseph E. Sherren, US Army recruiting sergeant. They are Pad Veron Clary, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight V. Clary, Loch Lynn; George Frederick Glotfelty, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glotfelty, star route, Oakland; Donald Lee Clark, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Vindex.

They enlisted in the regular army for three years service, as of June 28. All were members of this year's graduating class at Southern High school.

While in school Clark was active in the audio-visual club. Clark and Glotfelty were members of the Agriculture club, while the latter was a member of the baseball team.

They enlisted under the "buddy" assignment plan and selected armor as their career field, for overseas duty in Europe upon completion of advance training.

Fishing Successes Continue In Lake

Fishing pressure continued quite heavy in the Green Glade-Pawn Run area of Deep Creek Lake, according to Delores Vetter, of the information center. Fishermen reported good fishing for all species in that section. The rest of the lake did not find fishermen having as much success until the week-end. There were large numbers of anglers active Friday, Saturday and Sunday catching mainly bass and pickerel.

The weather took a turn for the better Saturday, June 25. Cold, rainy days vanished leaving warm, sunny weather for the week-end and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week.

Good Fishing in Youghiogheny

Two fishermen recently hooked six Great Northern Pike in the Youghiogheny Reservoir, north of Friendsville. All of these got away breaking 25 pound test line. The anglers at the Yough are now using 50 pound test line with wire leaders. They are casting and trolling with small minnows and flatfish lures.

Black Crappie and Smallmouth Bass fishing has also been reported as being very good at the Yough. Large catches of Black Crappie have averaged 8 to 10 inches per fish.

Two large Pickerel and a Walleye were caught by Pennsylvania hook and linesmen. Lawrence Mank, Venetia, hooked a 23", 2¼ lb. Pickerel. He was still fishing in the Red Run inlet with minnows. Ralph W. Unks, Pittsburgh, caught a 21", 2¼ lb. Pickerel. This one was also taken on a minnow near Paradise Point. The Walleye, a 26", 5¾ pounder, was creeled by James Feather, Ebensburg. He was trolling a Canadian Wiggler in the Cherry Creek inlet.

E. E. Lee, of Alexandria, Va., caught a 23½", 6⅜ pound Largemouth Bass on a minnow near Red Run.

Two brothers from Pittsburgh reported large catches. One angler, J. R. Hahn, took a 23" Walleye while still fishing from a boat across from Bee Tree Hollow. His brother Sidney Hahn, hooked a 21" Pickerel opposite the Deep Creek Yacht Club. Both men were using nightcrawlers successfully in opposite ends of the lake.

Harold E. Davis, Perryopolis, and Joe Raybuck, Brookville, Pa., caught thirteen Pickerel in the three days they were fishing. Davis and Raybuck were trolling with minnows in the Pawn Run section. Their Pickerel ranged between 16 and 24 inches in length.

Another fishing party, Frank Williams of Cumberland and Dale Paugh of McHenry, had some luck when they checked in seven Pickerel ranging from 16 to 24 inches; two 12 inch Smallmouth Bass, and a few Yellow Perch. Williams and Paugh were trolling with spinners in the McHenry vicinity.

Harold Garrett, Accident, landed a 24" Pickerel. He was still fishing from a boat anchored in the Smith's Run area.

A 22", 6 pound, 2 ounce Largemouth Bass was caught by John Rathgeb, McKeesport, Pa., who landed this trophy while fishing from the bank with a Creek Chub Minnow.

Ashby-Porter Nuptials Solemnized At St. Paul's

Anita Sue Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Porter of Oakland, became the bride of Artie Dale Ashby Jr., son of Mr. Artie Dale Ashby of Crellin, and Mrs James Campbell of Havre de Grace, at 3:30 o'clock the afternoon of June 4th, at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Oakland. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Pastor, Rev. Charles Godwin Julius B. Littman played a program of organ music including the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white chantilly-type lace over net and taffeta, fashioned with a sabrina neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bouffant skirt was cut in an apron effect, revealing a cascade of net ruffles in back. Her short veil of bridal illusion was held by a garland of feather carnations and white rosebuds, and she carried a white Bible with a corsage of white carnations and rosebuds with ribbon streamers.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Carol Sanders. Her gown was of a sheer print in shades of blue with a wide, collared neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a bouffant skirt. She wore a headdress of white carnations and blue net and carried a nosegay of matching carnations and net. William Henline served as Mr Ashby's best man, and Jerry Ashby and George Porter, brothers of the bride and groom were ushers. The bride's mother wore navy blue voile with matching lace, white accessories and red rosebud corsage. The mother of the groom wore pale blue lace with white accessories and red rosebud corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, with Mrs. H. Robert DeWitt and Mrs. James Friend serving the punch and wedding cake. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs James Casteel and daughter, Mr. Edward Pechowiak, Mr. Charles Pearman, Mr. Frank Cockrell, Mr. Thomas Haddock, and Mr. Anthony Forlenza, all of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. R. H. Keske and son and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ashby, of Cumberland, Md., Mr. and Mrs. A. Dale Ashby of Crellin, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Casteel of Terra Alta, W. Va., Mrs. James Campbell and children of Harve de Grace, Md., Mrs. Delores DuBree of Aberdeen, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. James Friend and sons of Hyattsville, Md., Mr. and Mrs. H. Robert DeWitt of Romney, W. Va.; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Santelmann and children of Adelphi, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Casteel and daughters of Rowlesburg, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs William Casteel and children of Somerset, Pa.

After the reception the young couple left for a short wedding trip through Virginia ending at Ocean City. The bride chose for this a dress of avocado and white checks with white accessories.

Mrs. Ashby is a graduate of Southern High School and Cathermans' Business School. Mr. Ashby is also a graduate of Southern High School, and is attending Johns Hopkins University. Both are employed in the Electronics Division of the Friendship Plant of Westinghouse Corp. in Baltimore. They are residing at 4807-A Westland Blvd. Baltimore 27.

What is it about fishing that appeals to so many men? Is it the tang of the out-of-doors, the salt spray, the play of the reel — or is it a part of that age-old challenge of pitting oneself against the forces of nature?

Probably, it is mostly the challenge, for man is forever excited by a dare. Yet, while life is full of challenges, all of them are not fun. When it comes to meeting the greater tests successfully, you need a lot more than a fishing pole. Then it is that Faith comes into its own; then it is that the teachings of the Church are put into practise.

Don't walk by your church next Sunday — walk into it. Equip yourself for your own spiritual future now.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Social Justice

Lesson for July 10, 1960

THE CHRISTIAN religion is said to be a religion of love, and so it is. It is love that makes it beautiful and gives it meaning. But just as the beauty and meaning of literature is built on the humble foundation of the alphabet, just as the beauty and the security of a house go down to the unseen foundations, so love itself is a stammering weak thing if it is not built on the foundation of justice. Love without justice is sloppy sentimentality, it is double-talk, it is drivel.

Dr. Foreman

Social Justice

God's prophets, whose writings are part of the Christian Bible, were interested in social justice. They were interested because God was interested. People who think that social justice is no affair of religion at all, either haven't read the prophets, or really don't believe them. Let us get straight what "social justice" is. It has nothing to do with socialism, or with social affairs as written up for the society pages. It is different from political or legal justice. (These two, of course, should also be a concern of Christians.) An example of political justice would be giving major parties equal time on the radio and TV. An example of legal justice would be getting paid a fair price for land the government has taken for a highway.

Social justice is broader and more basic than that. In a word, it means fair treatment all around. It does not mean treating everybody exactly alike, because people's needs are not always the same. But it does mean giving everybody a "fair shake," an honest deal; it means not handicapping people for "reasons" that make no difference. It means giving every one a chance to develop all he's got.

In the time of the prophet Amos, the people who needed social justice and were not getting it were the poor. He speaks of them, and of the Israelites' mistreatment of them, over and over. They were cheated out of justice in the courts because they could not afford to offer the handsome bribes that richer people gave. They were cheated in the marketplace because the merchants used dishonest weights and measures. They had no one to speak for them—no one but the God who spoke through his prophets.

Social justice now also is often needed by the poor. Discrimination—a fancy word for unfairness—is practiced also against racial groups—Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Chinese and others. But the poor, of all races, always need help. For example, housing projects are not a way of wasting the taxpayers' money. They are a way of helping people live in humanly decent surroundings. There is a city which is the capital of one of the states of the Union. In it there is a slum that can be seen by any visitor to town. The city has had a slum clearance authorized now for some years; but they are doing little about it. Why? It is against the law to move a family out of the most rotten tenement except into a better house. But most of the people who live in that particular slum can't afford to move. So there they sit.

Backlash of Injustice

Amos told his people that unless they paid more attention to the welfare of the bottom layers of society, the whole country would not only suffer—it would be destroyed. Social injustice is always self-destructive. Consider only one modern example. Here in America we need educated leadership—scientists, thinkers, men of trained minds and skills. One of the reasons we do not get enough of them is that (as studies have demonstrated) many capable young people do not have the money for an education. Some who have the capacity never show it, for the simple reason that their homework in high schools has to be done in crowded, leaky, insanitary "homes" where you could hardly raise a prize pig, let alone a prize boy. Every time we in America, for reasons of poverty, or race or any other reason, deny a good education to young people who could take it, we are weakening our country by just that much.

THE MAYOR & TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

WATER SUPPLY BONDS OF 1960

Sealed proposals will be received by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, at the Town Hall, Oakland, Maryland, until 11:00 o'clock, A. M., Eastern Daylight Time, on for the purchase of $450,000.00 Water Supply Bonds of 1960, to be dated June 1, 1960, to be in $1,000.00 denominations, numbered consecutively from No. 1 upward, to bear interest at the rate or rates named by the successful bidder, not to exceed five per centum (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually (June 1 and December 1) until the respective maturities of said bonds, and to mature and be payable in numerical order, without option of prior payment in thirty (30) varying annual serial instalments on June 1 in each of the years 1962 to 1991, inclusive, as follows:

Years of Maturity	Annual Amts.
1962 and 1963	$ 5,000.00
1964 to 1974, inc.	10,000.00
1975 to 1981, "	15,000.00
1982 to 1986, "	20,000.00
1987 to 1991, "	25,000.00

All of said bonds will be in coupon form, registrable as to principal only. Both principal and interest will be payable at the principal office of The First National Bank of Oakland, Oakland, Maryland, Paying Agent. Said bank has also been designated by the Town as Registrar for said bonds.

Under existing laws, said bonds and the interest thereon will be exempt from taxation in the State of Maryland and such interest will be exempt from direct Federal income tax.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying the cost of an additional source of water supply for the Town, together with appurtenant facilities and improvements to the existing water system.

Said bonds will be issued pursuant to the authority of Sections 31 to 39, inclusive, of Article 23-A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition), and pursuant to authority conferred by the Town Charter. Said bonds have also been authorized by an Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, adopted pursuant to the above mentioned statute and said Charter. Principal of and interest on said bonds will be primarily payable from the net revenues derived from water rates imposed by the Town in accordance with a schedule calculated to produce sufficient revenue to pay the operating costs of the water system and debt service on the bonds hereby offered for sale. In addition, said bonds will constitute unqualified general obligations of the Town, a municipal corporation of the State of Maryland. By the above mentioned Ordinance, the net revenues from said water rates are pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds, and provision is also made for the payment of such principal and interest from the proceeds of ad valorem taxes levied to the extent necessary by said Ordinance pursuant to said Charter, which empowers the Town to levy ad valorem taxes without limit as to rate or amount upon all taxable property within the corporate limits of the Town, sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal of and interest on the indebtedness of the Town.

Bidders are requested to name the rate or rates of interest, in multiples of one-eighth (⅛) or one-tenth (1/10) of one per cent, to be borne by the bonds, on which rate or rates their proposals are based and submitted. Bidders may name different rates of interest for the several maturities of the bonds offered but may not name more than one rate for any one maturity. No rate of interest may be named in excess of five per centum (5%) per annum. No proposal for less than all of the bonds, nor at a price less than one hundred per cent (100%) of the par value thereof, plus accrued interest to date of delivery, will be entertained.

All of said bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose offer to purchase said bonds results in the lowest net interest cost to the Town. Such lowest net interest cost will be determined, with respect to each acceptable proposal, by deducting the total amount of the premium bid, if any, from the aggregate amount of interest payable on the bonds, at the rate or rates named in such proposal, from the date of issue of such bonds to their respective dates of maturity. Where the proposals of two or more such bidders result in the same lowest net interest cost, the bonds will be apportioned among said bidders but, if this should prove unacceptable the Town will determine to which of said bidders all of the bonds shall be awarded. The right to reject any or all proposals is reserved to the Town.

Each proposal must be submitted on the prescribed form accompanying the Official Circular, must be for all of the bonds, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Town and marked "Proposal for Water Supply Bonds of 1960." Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check upon, or a cashier's or official check of, a responsible banking institution, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of The Town of Oakland, for $9,000.00. Upon making of the award, checks submitted by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them. The check submitted by the successful bidder will be retained as fully liquidated damages in case such bidder shall fail to take up and pay for the bonds; otherwise the amount thereof will be applied on account of the purchase price of the bonds at the time of delivery. No interest will be allowed on such amount.

The legality of these bonds will be approved by Messrs. Niles, Barton, Yost and Dankmeyer, of Baltimore, Maryland, and the unqualified approving legal opinion of these gentlemen will be delivered, upon request, to the purchasers of the bonds without charge.

Delivery of said bonds, without expense to the purchaser, will be made by the Town to the purchaser or his agent within thirty (30) days from the date of sale or as soon as practicable thereafter, at the place designated by the purchaser, and thereupon the purchaser will be required to accept delivery of said bonds and pay the balance of the purchase price due thereon. The bonds will be accompanied by the customary closing documents at the time of delivery, including a no-litigation certificate effective as of the date of delivery.

An Official Circular, containing the required form of proposal and setting forth factual and financial data concerning The Town of Oakland, may be obtained from Alex Brown and Sons, 135 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

THE REPUBLICAN

It's Variable - - - -

There is one thing about this Garrett county weather—it i. never monotonous, sometimes it is dry, sometimes hot Sometimes it provides small tornadoes; sometimes inches of rain at one clip. Recently it was unseasonably cool, which may not be to the liking of our summer visitors, but the least one can say about it is that it is unusual.

Last winter the season was also considered unseasonable by some, particularly those who looked for skiing weather every week-end but did not get satisfied until after the middle of February. Then they got so much that drifts blocked the highways leading to the ski area, and winter snows continued almost without interruption for the ensuing six weeks.

So we feel reasonably certain that the mountain top will warm up in time to give our summer visitors satisfaction, and perhaps for those who might visit us this fall.

We would like to comment also on the noticeable pick-up in church attendance. It appears that more and more summer visitors are believing that even on vacation the responsibility to attend worship service continues. The slogan "don't take a vacation from God," seems to have been taken more seriously. Protestant churches were unusually well filled over the Fourth of July week-end, and St. Peter's Catholic church had so many it needed five masses to take care of all the visitors. It had a count of 1,740 at the five services, 600 at the 8 and 10 o'clock masses and 500 additional in three other services, held in the school hall.

It's a mighty good habit to get into—to worship your creator, while on vacation as well as when you are at your home.

School Plants Being Improved

Work On Buildings Continues Through Summer

Improvements to a number of school buildings in the county continue during the summer, and most of the buildings are now in a good state of repair and usage, it was stated yesterday by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent. Constant maintenance, he emphasized is a necessity for any school plant, including new ones.

During the past several years the school board has set up a program calling for a major overhaul of all old buildings, plus new buildings and numerous additions to old ones. Hawkins said every elementary school in the county was in need of major repairs and in many cases additional facilities. All of these buildings now in use have received such improvements as asphalt tile flooring, acoustical ceilings, better lighting, new windows and roofing as needed, improved radiation and heating facilities, removal of many fire hazards, painting, improved cafeterias, libraries, audio visual aids rooms, better shelving, storage, new furniture, classroom equipment and teaching aids.

To further serve the educational needs of the children of the county the following new improvements have been added: an all-purpose room, kitchen, and office at Kitzmiller, two new classrooms at Red

Boat Act Violators Are Given Warning

Violators of the new state boat act, which became effective July 1, can expect no mercy after July 15.

Chairman H. C. Byrd of the Tidewater Fisheries commission, and director Ernest A. Vaughn of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, set July 15 as the deadline for issuance of warning tickets.

Enforcement officials of both agencies have been issuing tickets to unlicensed boats and giving the owners 10 days to comply with the new law.

Owners of motor boats over 7½ horsepower and sailboats over 25 feet are required to register them. Boats not licensed are subject to fines of up to $200. By Sunday some 37,000 applications had been processed. Approximately 95,000 boats are expected to fall under provisions of the law.

Tally Ho!

Believe It or Not

Jerry Paugh, of Deer Park, stopped by the Court House last Tuesday to get his bounty for a fox he brought in. That in itself isn't too unusual. But the way he got the fox is.

Mr. Paugh was walking through a hay field when all of a sudden a half grown red fox darted out in front of him. Since Mr. Paugh didn't have a rifle with him, he started running after it. After a vivacious chase, he managed to get the fox with his foot. This is one time man out-foxed the fox.

Boat Regulations Concerning Lake Outlined At Meet

Shields Addresses Session Of Property Owners

Boating regulations applicable to Deep Creek Lake were explained by George B. Shields, chief law enforcement officer of the State Game and Inland Fish commission, at a meeting of the Property Owners association held last Saturday at the Deep Creek lodge at McHenry. Approximately 200 persons attended, with R. R. Keener, president, in charge.

Mr. Shields pointed out seven special regulations applicable to the lake as follows:

1. All vessels on said Lake shall carry one Coast Guard - approved life preserver, buoyant vest, ring buoy, or buoyant cushion, in good and serviceable condition, for each person on board.
2. No vessel, exceeding thirty (30) feet in length shall be operated on said lake. Length shall be determined by measuring the greatest overall length stem to stern.
3. No vessel, other than an authorized patrol vessel, shall use a siren on said Lake.
4. No houseboat of any description shall be permitted on the waters of said Lake.
5. No garbage, sewage, or other like waste material may be dumped, discharged or otherwise placed in the waters of said Lake from any vessel.
6. No vessel, except those manually propelled, shall be operated inshore from yellow buoys which designate wharves, piers, docks, and bathing beaches on said Lake, except for departure and landing. The positioning of said buoys on the waters of said Lake shall be determined by the Game and Inland Fish Commission.
7. No aircraft of any description shall be permitted to land, remain or take off on or from the waters of said Lake without written permission first having been secured from the Game and Inland Fish Commission and the Pennsylvania Electric Company.

Mr. Shields also pointed out that all vessels using a 7½ horsepower motor and over would need a license with the numbers in contrasting colors, placed on the boat three inches below the edge. Out of state persons may bring in their boats and use them 90 days with the license they purchase. Mr. Shields emphasized the importance of recording the license number in a safe place at home, so that in case the boat is stolen or lost, it can be reported.

It was also explained that buoys were to be painted traffic yellow. Leo Friend, enforcement officer, said he hoped to work with the property owners on the placement of their buoys. He said when there was a planned water skiing event he would appreciate the planners talking over their plans with him.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, commented on the greatly improved communication system. He and Mr. Friend suggested, in case of accident or trouble, to first call the hospital or fire company, and then the enforcement officer or the state place of Ward Ashby, forest superintendent.

End of Pollution In Yough River Is Aim of Conferences

A conference leading to the end of mine and other pollution in the Youghiogheny river, was held Tuesday at the Blackwater Falls lodge, with representatives of two states participating.

Cooperation of both states was promised. Further meetings are scheduled following some surveys. State Senator Bernard I. Gonder said the West Virginia representatives declared they would do their part in sealing off mine openings that are at present allowing sulphur water to enter Laurel run, which empties in the Youghiogheny river.

Mine pollution for the past forty to fifty years has completely eliminated the Youghiogheny from its once important position as an ideal trout stream. Senator Gonder said the group also planned to meet at Crellin on Tuesday, July 19, to make a complete survey of pollution sources on Laurel Run and Snowy creek and make recommendation to clear up any such pollution.

He said the group would make a report of its findings at another meeting of the group at Blackwater Falls lodge on Tuesday, August 2.

Senator Gonder said both Governor Underwood, of West Virginia, and Governor Tawes, of Maryland, were actively interested and cooperating in this project.

Attending Tuesday's meeting besides Senator Gonder were Bern Wright, secretary, West Virginia Water Resources commission; Leslie E. Savage, house of delgates, Friendsville; James H. Fund For Football Lights Reaches $4,800

The fund for the lights for the Southern High school athletic field reached a total of $4,800.00, it was announced yesterday by Marvin Jones, president of the Southern Athletic Boosters. The club has set a goal of $6,100 to cover cost of installation of poles and equipment and to fence the field.

The total did not include a contribution from the Oakland Rotary club which has been ordered but the amount has not yet been determined.

Mr. Jones said the eleven poles needed for the installation arrived this week from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yards at Green Spring. There were three 40-foot poles and eight, sixty-five foot poles and required an enormous trailer to haul them to Oakland. Two state police were required to travel with the trailer, one in front and one in the rear.

Jones said any contributions could be made to Dr. H. R. Gibson, Earl Adolfson or himself.

State Forests Bring $122,838 to State

The state forests of Maryland brought a total revenue to the state in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, of $122,838.73, according to a report by Asssistant State Forester, William H. Johnson.

Three state forests in this county and one in Allegany county together brought in nearly two thirds of that total, or $78,310.

Income from the Savage river state forest amounted to $33,824, of which $25,007 came from timber. Potomac State forest listed income of $22,752, with timber cutting bringing in $5,198.

Swallow Falls state forest had an income of $15,688, but only $984 was from timber. Green Ridge in Allegany county had an income of $1,586, all but $231 coming from timber.

Johnson said that Maryland's forests have a number of other values besides the actual dollars and cents income from timber removed from the forests. Among these are coal leases, recreational charges, rental of cabins, parking fees, etc.

State forests also provide some of the best hunting grounds in the area. The proximity to state forests was a factor in the decision of the Harco Lumber company to locate its new industry here.

The annual report covered other activities. Boys from the forestry camps planted 24,000 trees on two tracts in that period. They cut hardwoods from 451 acres of pine plantation on 14 tracts. They improved four and one-half miles of roads by clearing brush, installing 19 water bars and one culvert and they salvaged 10 truckloads of pole wood for cabin firewood and pulpwood.

The report also covers physical improvements and recreation. It is stressed that the state forests, particularly in the two western counties, continue to increase in popularity for picknicking and camping.

"Roomful of Roses" To Be 3rd Offering At Summer Theatre

"A Roomful of Roses," a drama of the heartaches of a teenage daughter of a broken home, which was warmly received when it was produced in New York in 1955-56, is being presented at the Garrett County playhouse July 19 to 23 as the third play of its season.

Judith Wiemken will be starred as the anguished mother of the teen-ager, who will be portrayed by Jennifer Yell. Fred Burrell will act the youngster's genial stepfather trying to help both his wife and the adolescent over a difficult period.

The plot of the play details the thawing out of the junior miss who has been living with her father after the divorce of her parents, and then finds herself shunted off to stay with her mother and step-father. She arrives in a mood so resentful that she frostily snubs every effort of well-meaning people to give her warmth and affection.

The play pivots on the desperate efforts of the mother and her understanding second husband, to reach out toward the daughter who receives all advances with hostility. The puzzled and confused elders manage to open the youngster's heart only through her contemporaries in their neighborhood.

The story of the winning back to cheerfulness of the sweet-sixteener is threaded with funny and human lines and situations that gave the play during its New York run, a reputation of being one of the most endearing slices of family life seen in a long time.

In addition to Misses Wiemken and Yell and Fred Burrell the cast will also include Richard Dorion as the girl's surly real father, Galen Fontaine, a modern miss, Jim Friedman, callow youth, Peg Lewis, Judy Knaiz and Ronnie McDaniel.

Only six hundred attended the first week's offering and this week appeared to be improving somewhat in attendance. "The Gazebo" will be presented the rest of this week.

The group toured various parts of Garrett County including Swallow Falls, Herrington Manor today.

To recognize outstanding 4-H Club work in conservation and develop greater interest in this important phase of the 4-H Club program is the purpose of this camp according to W. Sherard Wilson, State 4-H Club Agent and camp director.

Thieves Hit Twice In Friendsville

The county sheriff's office and state police are continuing their investigation of two breaking and entering events, according to James E. Frantz, sheriff, who revealed that the culprits did not make way with much loot.

The two places victimized were in Friendsville, one of them being the one that was broken into a couple of years ago when cash and bonds were stolen.

The robberies occurred early Friday morning and each was discovered when employes reported to work. Entered were the Friendsville Milling company and the Fox hardware.

Employes at the milling company said an inventory revealed that a ham and two frozen chickens were missing from a deep freeze unit. Entry was made through a basement window, and they apparently left by the front door.

The Fox hardware was entered by forcing the back door. Nothing was reported missing here.

The Fox store was robbed of some $12,500 in cash and an estimated $25,000 in non-negotiable bonds in the previous entry. This robbery was solved with the arrest of a Friendsville man and a Baltimorean who was picked up in Tennessee. Each was found guilty of larceny and sentenced to prison terms. The Friendsville man has since been released.

Phone Expansion Nears Completion

Project Totals $324,000 For Building Addition And Circuit Facilities

Another expansion project for the Oakland office of the C. and P. Telephone system is about ready to be termed completed.

This includes increasing the size of the building to about twice its former size, and the addition of numerous toll line and local circuit facilities. Cost of the improvement program has totaled $324,000, with an additional expenditure of about $71,000 yet to come by the end of this fall.

Information about the improvements was received from Clarence Stem, local manager for the telephone company. Mr. Stem said that the central office addition was constructed at a cost of $48,000, with the cost of toll cable placement $120,000, and the central office equipment $156,000. Additional local equipment this fall will cost $68,000, and a repeater hut for Backbone Mt., $3,000.

Although this is the first enlargement of the central office, located on Oak street, Oakland, there have been three equipment additions since the original structure constructed in 1952. At that time, Mr. Stem said there were some 1,200 local circuits, compared to about 3,150 at the present time.

Now available are additional toll circuits to Baltimore, Clarksburg, Pittsburgh, Piedmont, Keyser, Cumberland and other points which greatly increases the capacity of the overad trunk lines.

Stem said some of the increases in local circuits was due to summer activity around Deep Creek Lake. Over 400 telephones are in use in the lake area during the summer and many summer residents keep their telephones all year.

Construction of the addition to the central office was started last August with completion of the exterior occurring in January. There are still several weeks of work to the interior before it will be completed, he said.

School Plants

House, freeing basement space for cafeteria and assembly room, two new classrooms at Accident and remodeling of interior of building, two new classrooms and all-purpose room at Loch Lynn, new band room and connecting corridor at Southern High School, connecting corridor at Northern High School, two new rooms with full basement at Yoder, new all-purpose room at Center Street, new two-room building at Swan Meadow, new elementary school to serve children in Oakland area new elementary school to serve children in the Avilton, Route 40, and Finzel areas.

Exact construction at the present time is a new library room for the Kitzmiller School and an additional classroom and enlargement of the all-purpose room at the Red House School. Painting and repair work is also being done this summer, both inside and outside, to the Red House, Deer Park, and Friendsville Schools. Friendsville cafeteria, shop building at Northern High, gymnasium at Southern High and the Kitzmiller School. Another improvement underway is the conversion of the unfinished basement space at Route 40 into a suitable area for the school cafeteria, thus freeing the all-purpose room upstairs for broader usage. The present kitchen at this school will be converted into the school library and the present library into a regular classroom to accommodate the addition of an extra teacher in September.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that all of these improvements have been made at a relatively small cost to the county taxpayers. The large portion of the cost of these improved facilities will be taken care of through the state incentive fund for school construction.

When schools open in September the physical facilities of the Garrett County schools will be in excellent condition.

In analyzing future building needs in the county, much will depend upon population trends which at present seem rather static, Mr. Hawkins said. Within the near future there could be a need for an extra room or two at Bloomington. At the Crellin School the School Board is waiting to see what the population trends might be before making any move. Southern High School, with over 1100 pupils, operates at full capacity and an additional science unit might be helpful. Both high schools need auditoriums but the board has taken the posiion that the initiative for these two improvements will have to come from the parents. While many of the buildings do not compare with the multi-million dollar structures that can be found elsewhere in the state, they are adequate enough to provide the highest quality education for boys and girls. No children in Garrett County go to school on double shifts, in church basements, in overcrowded conditions, or in a classroom that is other than safe, attractive, comfortible, and fully equipped with modern furniture, adequate textbooks and teaching aids. The school board felt that it has gone a long way in its effort to place the Garrett County school program abreast with the best to be found anywhere in the state.

16-member state executive commission began an investigation into the problems of illegitimacy in Maryland.

Fishing Sucesses Listed For Week

Fishing pressure remained higher than average this past week at Deep Creek Lake, according to Cecil C. Edwards, Fish Culturist assistant. The water temperature was remaining steady at 68 to 70 degrees.

Fisherman interviews indicated better fishing in the southern end of Deep Creek, especially in the areas of Pawn Run, Green Glade, Turkey Neck and Harvey's Peninsula. Many successful catches of Large and Smallmouth Bass, Pickerel and Black Crappie were reported.

A father-son team, George Brady Sr., and Jr., Kitzmiller, caught 4 Smallmouth and 1 Largemouth Bass in the Pawn Run-Green Glade Section. They were still fishing from their boat. The Brady's catch averaged 16" and they were using lizards. Les Braaten, Pittsburgh, took a 20", 4¾ lb. Largemouth Bass on an "injured" minnow while fishing in the Meadow Mountain inlet.

Victor Forsini and his grandson, Richard, creeled a 22" Pickerel, a 16" Smallmouth Bass and 2 Black Crappies while trolling near the Deep Creek Bridge. They were using large minnows. Andy Newman, a summer resident also reported three Smallmouth Bass ranging from 16" to 10½. He was still fishing with big minnows and also caught a few Black Crappies.

Some of the other fishermen taking Bass were: Dave Lewis, Monessen, Penna., a 20" Largemouth, a 15" Largemouth, and a 15" Smallmouth. Lewis was trolling with a plug at Paradise Point. J. C. Davis, Perrypolis, Penna., caught a 20" Smallmouth and a 14" Largemouth while trolling nightcrawlers in the Red Run inlet. Another nice Smallmouth Bass was taken by J. Frank Williams, Bedford, Penna. He was still fishing in the Turkey Neck area of Deep Creek. Williams' Bass measured 17½" and was caught on a crawfish.

A thirteen year old fisherman, Bruce Frazee, caught a 25¼". 3¾ lb. Pickerel at Turkey Neck, Saturday. Other nice catches of Pickerel were made by Charles Shilke, Bedford, Penna., and B. G. Bennett, Morgantown, West Virginia.

Mr. Shilke landed a 21", 2¾ lb. Eastern Chain Pickerel in the Turkey Neck waters. Mr. Bennett took his 21" Pickerel while still fishing with minnows in the Bull's Arm Run, near Penn Point.

Ray Purbaugh, Meyersdale, Penna., caught the only large Walleye this week. This one weighed 6½ pounds and measured 23½". Purbaugh was trolling minnows around Harvey's Peninsula.

A vacationer at Will O' the Wisp, I. S. Noland, Arlington, Va., caught several Black Crappies. The largest one reported was 13½" and weighed 1½ pounds.

License fees at Deep Creek Lake are as follows: $3.00 for a resident fishing license, $10.00 for a non-resident season license, and $3.00 for a non-resident 3-day tourist fishing permit. Fishing licenses may be purchased at several places in the Deep Creek Lake and Oakland area.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT... Better Health Through Knowledge

Meningitis Not Inherited

- Jaw Click
- Diabetic Outlook

Q. What is spinal meningitis and is there a cure? Is there any danger or possible risk to offspring of a person who has had the disease? Is insanity the eventual outcome of meningitis?

A. Spinal meningitis is inflammation of the cellophane-like covering of the spinal cord. Meningitis occurs when the spinal canal is invaded by germs or virus. With modern drug therapy the outlook for a person with meningitis is far better than it was only a few years ago. In severe cases there may be some after effects but insanity is hardly one of them. Meningitis is not "handed down" or inherited.

Q. I have recently developed quite a click in the right side of my jaw. It is loud enough to be embarrassing when I eat. Would you advise treatment or will it go away?

A. Many people have this experience at times. There is no cause for alarm, provided the jaw functions in a normal manner. It is very likely that the click will disappear in time. If not, a competent oral surgeon should be consulted.

Q. I have a 10-year-old son who has diabetes. He takes 15 units of insulin once a day. Here are my questions. Will he outgrow it? If not, will he require more or less insulin as he gets older?

A. At the present time diabetes must be considered a chronic and incurable disease. There is a tendency for it to get worse with time, but there are many exceptions to this general rule. One doctor observed 45 diabetic patients for more than five years. The insulin requirements increased in 21, decreased in 10, and remained the same in 14. The important thing in diabetes is to keep the disease under control by proper diet and, if needed, insulin or insulin-like drugs for necessary adjustment of blood sugar levels. The diabetic who abides by these measures has every reason to expect a normal, happy life.

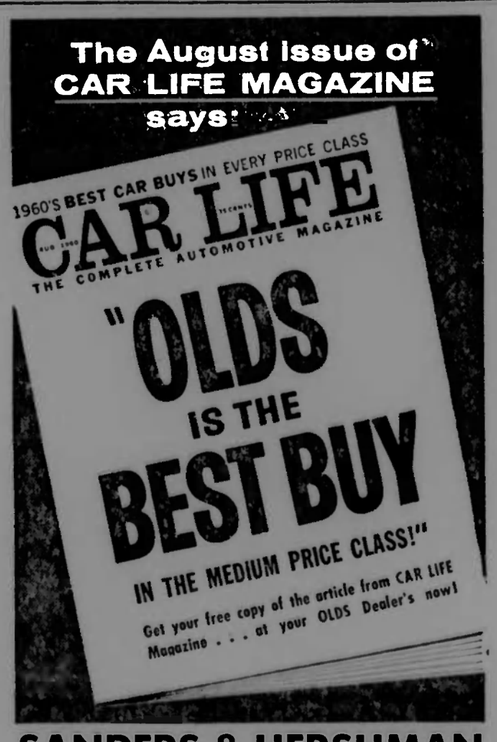
"Your best bet is GAS for economy and all-around performance"

Your best bet is Gas. A five-word statement the nation's homeowners are hearing more and more often today.

And for good reason, too. People everywhere are becoming cost-conscious. Not only in building homes, but also in considering monthly fuel bills, redecorating costs and future appliance replacement costs. That's why the great majority of new homes built today feature the preferred fuel—natural gas—for all purposes in the home.



The only comparable automatic fuel costs three to four times more a year than gas for house-heating. And gas provides other substantial savings over electricity for cooking, water-heating, clothes drying and other household chores.

Yes, your best bet is gas. Natural gas—today's bargain fuel—is always at your service because your gas company invested millions of dollars into plant facilities in recent years to supply this preferred fuel the year-round.

Visit the next All-Gas or Blue Flame home in your area and see firsthand how modern, automatic Gas appliances suit your needs and, just as important, save you money.

Review of The Play

"The Gazebo" by Alec Coppel, the second play in the series offered by the Garrett County Playhouse opened with a bang to a receptive audience Tuesday evening. This play had its Broadway opening in November 1958, during the New York newspaper strike. Despite little publicity it enjoyed a good run on Broadway. Its stars were Audrey Meadows and Walter Slezak. This is a pseudo-mystery that is sustained by the turning of the plot and climated by a twist at the end.

Jim Friedman did an excellent job of building suspense as Elliott Nash, a frustrated, T. V. Mystery writer who finds himself submerged in suburbia. The plot thickens when the gazebo, a 19th century summer house, is presented to her husband by Nell Nash, who is ably played by Judith Wiemken. Judith, by the way, adds quite a dash of decorative, enthusiastic sparkle to the farce. Marty McGuire as Mr Thorpe gave a first rate performance for the second time this season, and from comments we have heard, he is fast becoming one of the favorites at the Playhouse. We look forward to enjoying Judy Knaiz and Richard Dorian in future plays. These promising newcomers are introduced to Garrett County Playhouse audences this week. Sally Lutin as Matilda gives her usual excellent portrayal of the maid. Sally is a very busy gal as she doubles as Stage Manager also. Competent performances were given by the rest of the cast.

This is a family play. Light and frothy, so if you can tear yourselves away from the Convention on T. V. come to the Playhouse and bring your friends.

By the way, if you think you see that wonderful guy, the director and the one responsible for the Playhouse, Gene Yell, in this play, you are not seeing things. He does drop in.

Garrett County summers would indeed be dull without the Playhouse. Gene gives up his vacation to bring us entertainment. We can take advantage of it by attending the Playhouse this week and every week the rest of the season.

Old Photo Recalls Terror of Ku Klux

The old photograph today has a particular interest, at least to the writer of this series, for two reasons. First, it marks the end of one year of regular publication of the feature, and second, it is the first photograph printed during that series which the writer can recall from personal experience. That is, if the recollections of a five year old boy can be credited.

On July 4, 1925, Oakland put on one of the largest parades ever staged here, including those of the Centennial of 1949. Included in the line of march was a contingent of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, complete with band, a portion of which is shown above. Altogether, more than five hundred persons participated.

The parade was held in the early evening, following a day of picnicking and celebrating on the old Fair grounds on west Liberty street. When the picture was taken, the writer in company with his parents, was standing on the corner of Second and Liberty streets beside the man who took the photograph, the late James Bell.

Today, a young boy would probably consider the white-sheeted procession merely a commercial for a household detergent; but thirty-five years ago the masked marchers evoked only feelings of near-terror, and caused an involuntary tightening of the grip on his father's hand.

This feeling was borne out later in the evening, as recollections return of the burning of fiery crosses on Totten hill, south of town, and Crook Crest, which followed a program of patriotic addresses and a band concert after the parade. Later that night, the appearance of an airplane over the town, with the KKK cross illuminated on its wings and fuselage, completed the awesome picture of the Klan, likened in a small boy's memory only to that of the infamous "Black Hand," a supposed band of foreign gangsters set to prey on the young, caught in the darkness without parental consent.

The local chapter of the Knights of the Ku Klux flourished from about the time of the first World war until the late 1920's, when the national group of which it was a part disbanded.

Founded on patriotism, partisanship and prejudice, the secret order was an outgrowth, in 1915, of the former Ku Klux Klan which spread terror among negroes and carpetbaggers in the south following the War Between the States, although, contrary to popular belief, there was no direct connection between the two orders.

The local Klan apparently devoted its activites to those of a normal fraternal body and probably would be in existence today except for evidences of scandal and fraud in the national headquarters, which led to dissolution of the order in 1930.

Wheat Referendum To Be Held July 21

A wheat referendum will be held on Thursday, July 21, it was announced by Lenwood Bittinger, Chairman of the County ASC Committee. The purpose is to determine whether or not growers will approve the marketing quota program, with penalties for excess wheat, for the 1961 crop. This program has been approved by growers in each of the past seven years.

All farmers who plan to harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain from one farm in 1961 are eligible to vote. Because of the small number eligible to vote in this county only one polling place will be established. This will be at the County ASC Office which is located at 65 Third street in Oakland. Voting hours are from 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m..

If marketing quotas are approved by two-thirds or more of the farmers voting in the referendum nationally they will continue in effect for 1961. If quotas remain in effect those farmers who harvest more wheat than the average allotment established for their farm and also more than 15 acres will be required to pay a penalty on the excess wheat. Price support at 75% of parity will be available to all farmers who do not exceed their wheat acreage allotment if marketing quotas are approved. Marketing quotas and acreage allotments appy to all wheat to be harvested as grain regardless of what the wheat is to be used for, and also to mixtures of wheat and other grains. However, farmers may receive approval to grow up to 30 acres of wheat when all of it is to be used on the farm where produced.

If marketing quotas are not approved there will be no penalties for producing excess wheat, however, in this case the level of price support will drop to 50 percent of parity for those farmers who harvest within their acreage allotment.

Wheat acreage allotment notices will be mailed to wheat growers on July 8, Mr. Bittinger concluded.

Not over population but under production causes half of world to be either hungry or badly nourished, said director general of food and health organization.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Mark	4	26-32
Monday	Matthew	25	1-13
Tuesday	John	6	1-11
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Thursday	Proverbs	22	1-6
Friday	Psalms	103	13-18
Saturday	Matthew	18	1-6

Maybe you like smiling babies? Sorry to disappoint you, but I've got a lot on my mind.

There's something wrong in America . . . and I'm the chap who is getting hurt!

Our Constitution says that no one can be denied the right to worship God. I'm an American! According to the Constitution I have the right to learn about God, to hear the Bible Stories, to be taught the Christian Way of Life.

But here's the hitch. While the Government can't deny me the right to attend Church School and Church — MY PARENTS CAN. They can rob me of my most sacred right just by neglecting my spiritual needs.

Did you know that about half the children in America are growing up without religious training? And yet there's a church in every village!

Yessir, I'm serious! Instead of talking about juvenile delinquency, we ought to do something about it. We ought to crowd our churches with children . . . and parents! And we ought to start Sunday!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Bible Material: Amos 5:14, 15; 6.

False Security

Lesson for July 17, 1960

ALARM whistles blew, sirens sounded, signals flashed. The whole city should have been in an uproar, but it was going about its business as usual. Excited officials telephoned everywhere—a mistake has been made, this is no drill, just pay no attention. But nobody paid attention to the apologies, because nobody had paid attention to the alarm. Headquarters had many phone calls that day, but—and this is the interesting point—everybody supposed there must be some mistake. Not a soul took it seriously.

Dr. Foreman

That little story, if true (it got into the newspapers at any rate), shows up very nicely the American state of mind. We cant believe anything is wrong with us, we can't see how anything can go wrong with us. People who drive out a few miles from any city in America may see signs: Evacuation Route . . . Feeding Station, and so forth. But how many Americans actually expect ever to stand hungry at a feeding station?!

As It Was, So It Is

The prophet Amos, speaking for God, faced a nation (Israel) smaller than ours by far, but just as complacent, just as sure that nothing could go wrong, just as gently cushioned by a feeling of national security. The facts and factors that made them feel so safe and happy are familiar to any who take time off to observe the American scene. For one thing, they were a nation operating by military power. Many of its kings, if not all of them, had been generals of the army. In case of rival claimants for the throne, the man with the most troops usually got the prize. The country had knocked off its enemies one by one. Just at Amos's time, the boundaries of the country were wider than at any time since Solomon. What armies had done, armies could do again, they thought . . . and so do we. "We have never been beaten in war, so shall never be beaten." Football coaches know that no winning streak lasts for ever.

Wealth and Culture

The little country of Israel was not only safe at the moment from military attack, it was prosperous. People built homes of ivory—that is to say, decorated with ivory in a lavish way. They had money for summer and winter homes. They drank the finest wines, they had money and leisure for the arts. As Amos pointed out, all this luxury was only on certain streets. There were other streets where people went hungry and cold. But the people Amos talked to were mostly from the country-club suburbs. They never did believe what Amos told them, that prosperity is not the same thing as security. There's no point in throwing a big party if the house is burning down over your head. We are a little like the Israelites, aren't we? Many Americans think we can buy our way out of any trouble, we can make friends with any nation just by spending money there.

The Enemy Within

After all, enemy armies were not the greatest danger to Israel as a nation. When a wind blows down a tree in the forest, we say that the wind was to blame. But was it the wind, or was it the slow rotting inside the tree-trunk? The same wind struck other trees but they did not fall. This one fell because it was hollow, a little push sent it tumbling. What concerned Amos most, looking (we may say) through God's eyes at Israel, was not foreign politics and foreign wars, but conditions inside Israel. Oh, people would have said to him, conditions are not bad here. Look at the temples, they are filled every week. The number of sacrifices has never been greater. But Amos was not impressed. God did not care for all their religion; it was only religiosity, which is another thing. God is more impressed by justice and righteousness than he is by elaborate "worship services." Amos made it clear that church attendance is no guarantee of a nation's safety. The burning question is: What do the people who go to church do to other people the remaining six days of the week? If the nations heart is not sound, what use are her defences?

The Bible is a CATHOLIC Book

People differ radically in what they think about the Bible. Some seem to think it was handed down from Heaven written in English and bound in morocco. Many accept it as the inspired Word of God without knowing why they are justified in doing so. And others say that the Bible is full of contradictions and must be taken "with a grain of salt."

A proper understanding of the Scriptures can exert a tremendous influence for good in your personal life. You should, therefore, know where we get the Bible... what it means... why you can believe its every word.

Nowhere in the Bible text will you find a list of the 73 inspired books of which it is composed. This list was given to the world by the Catholic Church almost three full centuries after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Between the time of the Crucifixion and the time the Scriptures were gathered into a single Book, millions had received and accepted the teachings of Jesus Christ...and had died without ever seeing the complete Bible.

Established by Jesus Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his books of the New Testament.

For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.

Yes, the Bible is truly a Catholic book. They were members of the Catholic Church who, under God's inspiration, wrote the New Testament in its entirety.

It was the Catholic Church which treasured it and gave it to the world in its original and unaltered form. It is the infallible authority of the Catholic Church that always has been the only sure guarantee of its inspiration.

There are obscure and difficult passages in the Bible, some of which may seem confusing. But with the complete revealed truth of God, delivered to her from the beginning, the Catholic Church has faithfully unfolded the meaning of the written Word of God to past generations of mankind—and does so today.

Those who are familiar with the Bible, as well as those reading it for the first time, will find many important questions concerning it answered in an interesting booklet which we shall send you in a plain wrapper free on request. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-3.

Come see and hear this Man of God . . . How God called him from the coal pits to the pulpit.

—Subjects—

- Why do I pour out my spirit, soul and body in preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ?
- Why am I more than willing to forfeit the vanity of youth, the love of this present world, the pride of life, the deceitfulness of riches?
- Why was I sent to preach from coal pit to pulpit?
- Why does Jesus heal the sick and afflicted during these soul-saving meetings?

—Because—
THE LORD CALLED ME TO PREACH HIS WORD!

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $17.38 and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. Duden uses her phone to find out if a local fabric store has some material she needs.

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far more in traveling expenses than the cost of their telephone service.

Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and football coach, had to make a business trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense—than the cost of having it.

Advises Sanitary Procedures To Keep Food From Spoiling

Garrett County has long been noted for being a resort area, and any unfavorable report of a case of food poisoning would be all that would be needed to curtail the benefits that this county receives from thousands of tourists that frequent this area during vacation time each year. This is an important reason why persons preparing community meals should be conscientious and well informed about safe and sanitary food handling. This advice was given this week by the County Health department. The advice continues:

"A single bacteria introduced into food maintained at a temperature between fifty and one hundred and twenty degrees will produce numerous amounts of its kind. Some bacteria produce a toxin or poison if allowed to multiply, and this toxin is resistant to ordinary cooking temperatures.

"Cooked food may be contaminated through careless handling, as with unwashed hands or unclean cooking ware. Foods, especially creamy mixtures such as cream pies and puddings should be refrigerated at temperatures of less than 45 degrees if they are not used immediately. This precaution is used to prevent bacterial multiplication.

"Be sure to refrigerate potato, chicken, egg or fish salads until serving time, for these are good breeding places for bacteria, as are poultry products. Always prepare dressing and stuffed chicken or turkeys just before putting into the oven to roast. Never stuff poultry ahead of time or stuff and then freeze them.

"Food handlers must practice personal cleanliness by always washing their hands with soap and hot water after going to the toilet. Persons with infected wounds or symptoms of disease should never risk handling food.

"Good housekeeping procedures are just as important in the kitchen at home as they are in the community kitchen in the achievement of good sanitation, and the same practices may be applied to both. The kitchen should be free of flies, roaches, mice and rats. Work surfaces, storage areas, and equipment should be kept clean and special attention given to proper dishwashing procedures. After the dishes are washed, it is necessary to immerse them in water that is 180 degrees or higher for two minutes or boiling water for one-half minute, in order to kill bacteria. When hot water is not plentiful for rinsing, a sanitizing agent of the chlorine type must be added to the water.

"It must be kept in mind that persons who prepare and serve meals for the community and in the home have an obligation to provide good sanitary meals, both for their own and for public benefit to promote better and more effective living."

THE MAYOR & TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND WATER SUPPLY BONDS OF 1960

Sealed proposals will be received by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, at the Town Hall, Oakland, Maryland, until 11:00 o'clock, A. M., Eastern Daylight Time, on

for the purchase of $450,000.00 Water Supply Bonds of 1960, to be dated June 1, 1960, to be in $1,000.00 denominations, numbered consecutively from No. 1 upward, to bear interest at the rate or rates named by the successful bidder, not to exceed five per centum (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually (June 1 and December 1) until the respective maturities of said bonds, and to mature and be payable in numerical order, without option of prior payment in thirty (30) varying annual serial instalments on June 1 in each of the years 1962 to 1991, inclusive, as follows:

Years of Maturity	Annual Amts.
1962 and 1963	$ 5,000.00
1964 to 1974, inc.	10,000.00
1975 to 1981, "	15,000.00
1982 to 1986, "	20,000.00
1987 to 1991, "	25,000.00

All of said bonds will be in coupon form, registrable as to principal only. Both principal and interest will be payable at the principal office of The First National Bank of Oakland, Oakland, Maryland, Paying Agent. Said bank has also been designated by the Town as Registrar for said bonds.

Under existing laws, said bonds and the interest thereon will be exempt from taxation in the State of Maryland and such interest will be exempt from direct Federal income tax.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying the cost of an additional source of water supply for the Town, together with appurtenant facilities and improvements to the existing water system.

Said bonds will be issued pursuant to the authority of Sections 31 to 39, inclusive, of Article 23-A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition), and pursuant to authority conferred by the Town Charter. Said bonds have also been authorized by an Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, adopted pursuant to the above mentioned statute and said Charter. Principal of and interest on said bonds will be primarily payable from the net revenues derived from water rates imposed by the Town in accordance with a schedule calculated to produce sufficient revenue to pay the operating costs of the water system and debt service on the bonds hereby offered for sale. In addition, said bonds will constitute unqualified general obligations of the Town, a municipal corporation of the State of Maryland. By the above mentioned Ordinance, the net revenues from said water rates are pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds, and provision is also made for the payment of such principal and interest from the proceeds of ad valorem taxes levied to the extent necessary by said Ordinance pursuant to said Charter, which empowers the Town to levy ad valorem taxes without limit as to rate or amount upon all taxable property within the corporate limits of the Town, sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal of and interest on the indebtedness of the Town.

Bidders are requested to name the rate or rates of interest, in multiples of one-eighth (⅛) or one-tenth (1/10) of one per cent, to be borne by the bonds, on which rate or rates their proposals are based and submitted. Bidders may name different rates of interest for the several maturities of the bonds offered but may not name more than one rate for any one maturity. No rate of interest may be named in excess of five per centum (5%) per annum. No proposal for less than all of the bonds, nor at a price less than one hundred per cent (100%) of the par value thereof, plus accrued interest to date of delivery, will be entertained.

All of said bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose offer to purchase said bonds results in the lowest net interest cost to the Town. Such lowest net interest cost will be determined, with respect to each acceptable proposal, by deducting the total amount of the premium bid, if any, from the aggregate amount of interest payable on the bonds, at the rate or rates named in such proposal, from the date of issue of such bonds to their respective dates of maturity. Where the proposals of two or more such bidders result in the same lowest net interest cost, the bonds will be apportioned among said bidders but, if this should prove unacceptable the Town will determine to which of said bidders all of the bonds shall be awarded. The right to reject any or all proposals is reserved to the Town.

Each proposal must be submitted on the prescribed form accompanying the Official Circular, must be for all of the bonds, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Town and marked: "Proposal for Water Supply Bonds of 1960." Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check upon, or a cashier's or official check of, a responsible banking institution, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of The Town of Oakland, for $9,000.00. Upon making of the award, checks submitted by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them. The check submitted by the successful bidder will be retained as fully liquidated damages in case such bidder shall fail to take up and pay for the bonds; otherwise the amount thereof will be applied on account of the purchase price of the bonds at the time of delivery. No interest will be allowed on such amount.

The legality of these bonds will be approved by Messrs. Niles, Barton, Yost and Dankmeyer, of Baltimore, Maryland, and the unqualified approving legal opinion of these gentlemen will be delivered, upon request, to the purchasers of the bonds without charge.

Delivery of said bonds, without expense to the purchaser, will be made by the Town to the purchaser or his agent within thirty (30) days from the date of sale or as soon as practicable thereafter, at the place designated by the purchaser, and thereupon the purchaser will be required to accept delivery of said Bonds and pay the balance of the purchase price due thereon. The bonds will be accompanied by the customary closing documents at the time of delivery, including a no-litigation certificate effective as of the date of delivery.

An Official Circular, containing the required form of proposal and setting forth factual and financial data concerning The Town of Oakland, may be obtained from Alex. Brown and Sons, 135 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 84 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., JULY 21, 1960 | PER COPY, 8c | NUMBER 21.

For The Public Good - - - -

The Democratic and Republican parties have been drawing up campaign platforms every four years for a hundred years or more. Every one has presumably been "in the best interest of the people," but just what that phrase means has changed a good deal over the years.

When many of today's political thinkers refer to "the people", what they have in mind is the whole of society. They think of people as a group, a concept indistinguishable from the Marxist idea of "the masses."

In contrast, the American political tradition has always conceived of "the people" as individuals, each endowed with supreme and equal worth by God. The revolutionary idea that each person has certain rights derived from an Authority higher than any government was proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence and written into the Constitution. On it Americans founded a nation in which government was to be the servant of those who created it, rather than their master.

A close look at the platforms coming from the political conventions this year will show how the party leaders interpret the word "people." If they make large promises of more federal duties, powers and programs, watch out. Collection of power in a big central government is in the Marxist manner.

Political leaders who want to protect the American heritage of personal rights and freedoms will advocate keeping as much government as possible at the local levels, where each individual can keep an eye on it and make his voice heard.

Serving Body And Soul

Grantsville Minister Puts Unique Background To Practical Uses

A unique combination of training, background and experience is being put to practical use by Rev. Norman Teague, who has recently settled on the former M. B. Miller farm, several miles east of Grantsville on Route 40.

Coming recently from a charge at Salix, Pa., near Johnstown, Rev. Teague has accepted a call as pastor of the First Mennonite church at Meyersdale, Pa. In addition, he will also serve as administrator of the Penn Alps Hotel-Restaurant on Route 40. He sees this combination of duties a means of serving not only the spiritual needs, but also the physical requirements of the thousands of persons who throng the old National Pike, of historic fame.

Rev. Teague is peculiarly suited, by training and temperament, as well as by ancestral precedent, for the dual role he is to play. He was licensed as a minister in 1949 and ordained in July of 1959 to serve as pastor of the Pleasant Grove Mennonite church at Salix. With a father and three uncles who were chefs, a mother who was a waitress, and a grandmother who owned a restaurant, Mr. Teague's interest in this form of service is hardly surprising and his own personal experience bears this out.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., Rev. Teague received his college education at Hesston College in Kansas, afterwards studying at Goshen College in Indiana, where he received his B. A. degree in Bible.

During 30 months of civilian public service as a cook in Colorado Springs, Col., and Staunton, Va., young Teague's interest in the art of cooking increased, and he became more deeply convinced of the need for clean Christian restaurants across the country.

Included in the experience of Rev. Teague are two years of grade school and four years of junior and senior high school teaching, as well as seven years as a cabinet maker. In recent years he has been in charge of a crafts teaching program which utilized the services of a staff of eight teachers and served some 70 boys and girls of the Elton community, where Rev. and Mrs. Teague resided.

Mrs. Teague, the former Fanny Troyer, of Fentress, Va., also has had several years of experience as a cook in restaurants and summer camps. She shares with her husband the inspiration and enthusiasm which he feels for his work, both in connection with the Meyersdale charge and the program of Penn-Alps.

Mechanized Dairy Cattle Handling Typified By Modern County Farm

One of the newest and neatest examples of a farm layout, planned for the mechanized handling of dairy cattle, was recently completed on the farm of James H. Glotfelty, near Accident.

Glotfelty, who is a new enrollee this year in the Garrett county Farming For Better Living program, operates a 125 acre farm in partnership with his father, Elwood Glotfelty. The dairy operation is new as the farming enterprises change from sheep and beef to sheep and dairy—with 10,000 turkeys on range by Elwood.

James Glotfelty started his dairy set-up from scratch. The line of production starts with the silage and ends with the milk, piped and untouched by human hand to a bulk cooling and holding tank.

The barn, built of creosoted poles and rough lumber and covered with aluminum sheeting, has a floor to ceiling hay storage area in the middle, a loafing area around the perimeter, and at one side a manger running the length of the barn where a mechanical auger will bring silage and feed to the cattle at the push of a button. Likewise, an automatic silage unloader will throw the silage out of the silo onto the auger.

A fenced, concrete floored alley leads from the loafing barn to an eight stall "herringbone" type milking parlor. Here the cows stand on an elevated platform and the milker prepares the animals and attaches the mechanical milkers without stooping. Four milking units are used. The milk goes by glass pipeline directly to a stainless steel bulk milk cooler. The milk room is lined with glazed tile to make cleaning very easy.

Grantsville Bank And Liberty Trust Co. Plan Merger

Resources Of Combined Institutions Would Total About $33,000,000

F. William Winterberg, president of The First State Bank of Grantsville, and William C. Walsh, president of The Liberty Trust Company, Cumberland, announced today that directors of both institutions have approved plans under which the Grantsville bank will merge with the bank in Cumberland.

Mr. Walsh said necessary arrangements are now being carried forward and the merger will be accomplished after approval of stockholders of both banks and the appropriate banking authorities.

It was pointed out that, in addition to receiving approval of the State Bank Commissioner of Maryland, it is now necessary that such mergers be approved by appropriate federal banking authorities. In view of the length of notice required under federal law, the merger probably would not be completed until the latter part of September.

The Liberty Trust, with total resources of approximately $30,000,000, maintains its principal office in Cumberland and has branches in LaVale and Lonaconing, while the First State Bank, with total resources of about $3,000,000, operates only in Grantsville, where it is the only bank.

The merger, it was stated, would strengthen the position of the Liberty Trust company as one of the largest banks in Western Maryland and bring to Garrett county the many benefits of sizeable banking resources to aid in the more rapid development of the county.

It was also announced that Joseph F. Fahey, vice president and cashier of the Grantsville bank, would become a vice president and member of the board of directors of The Liberty Trust company and would also manage the operation of the Grantsville Bank as a branch of the Cumberland institution.

Charles O. Bender and Cleman E. Folk, present directors of the First State Bank, will also become members of the board of directors of the merged institutions, and it is contemplated that all present employees of the Grantsville bank would be retained. It is also contemplated that the present directors of the Grantsville bank will serve as an advisory committee for the Grantsville bank.

Copies of the merger agreement, together with the complete outline of the details of the merger plan, are expected to be mailed to all stockholders of both banks shortly after the middle of August, together with notice of special meetings of the stockholders, which will be called to approve the merger.

Timber Owners Hear Of Potential To Create Jobs

There is a potential of 3,700 more jobs in Garrett county alone if the county's 250,000 acres of commercial forest land were to be intensively managed for full production under modern forest management techniques.

The opinion is that of John B. Veach, North Carolina timberman and conservationist, speaking to a group of woodland owners at Terra Alta last Friday. In a ceremony honoring woodland owners for good forestry practices, Mr. Veach said better management and utilization of the vast forests of the Tri-State area was the best way to bolster the region's economy.

Forests under intensive management, the Asheville, N. C., man said, can produce two or three times the volume of an unmanaged forest. "There are too many idle acres of forests in the area not producing to their capabilities," he declared.

The ceremony on the Elmer C. Grimm tree farm paid tribute to a group of 11 woodland owners from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia for practing the type of forest conservation advocated by Mr. Veach. They were presented signs and certificates of membership in the American Tree Farm system, a nationwide program sponsored by wood industries to stimulate the practice of good forest management. To become members, woods owners must dem-

Search Continues For Attacker Of Oakland Woman

An investigation is continuing into circumstances surrounding an attack on the wife of an Oakland physician, which she said took place last Friday night in the front yard of her home on North Third street in Oakland.

Mrs. Herbert H. Leighton reported to police that she was attacked by an unidentified man using a club as she was removing garbage cans from the street in front of the home to the garage. The attack took place about 9:45. Mrs. Leighton suffered lacerations of the head, bruises of the body and a broken finger. She was treated at Garrett County Memorial hospital and released.

According to Mrs. Leighton, she was in the house with her children when she heard a noise in the vicinity of the cans, which she assumed was caused by dogs. She left the house and had made one trip to the garage with several cans and was returning for others when, she related, "I heard a noise behind me, and as I turned I saw the club coming." Mrs. Leighton was knocked to the ground by the blow.

She then ran to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Reaford A. Purbaugh, who called police. When Percy Lawton, Oakland night policeman responded, Mrs. Leighton had returned to her home. He was joined in his investigation by Sheriff James E. Frantz and Henry Arnold, Oakland chief of police, who combed the area without finding any trace of the assailant.

Arnold said a large piece of wood was found nearby, but it was not determined whether it was the weapon used. Sheriff Frantz said this week the attacker's weapon had not been found, nor had his investigation provided any definite leads.

During the week four persons were picked up and questioned concerning the attack, but all were released. The sheriff said another person wanted for questioning was out of the state and had not been contacted. He said it was very doubtful if Mrs. Leighton could identify her attacker, as her description of him was very vague due to the suddenness of the attack and the darkness.

A neighbor reported a strange car parked nearby about the time of the incident, but it has not definitely been connected with the case.

The Spinning Wheel Comes to Life at Springs Museum

Springs Museum Demonstrates As Well As Displays Pioneer Objects

Most folk museums feature spinning wheels, but the Springs museum, less than two miles from the Pennsylvania village of that name, goes a little further.

Since this is the day of living museums, it is appropriate that the hostess, Mrs. Walter Maust, demonstrates both pattern weaving and spinning on a wool wheel handed down by generations of the oldest family in the area—the Beachy family.

Other pioneer activities depicted by an assembly of more than 1,000 articles are soap making, candle making and flax scutching, to mention a few. With numerous items dating back 100 years, and some 200 years and more, this farmers or folk museum is indeed a treasure store for historically minded guests.

The quaint museum, housed in a seven-room tile structure near Accident, is taking its place along-side America's unique museums which are reviving the life of early pioneer times throughout the nation.

Museum hours are Wednesday from 10:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. and Thursday and Saturday from 9:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m., during the summer months. Special school or other groups desiring to visit the museum at other times should make arrangements with Mrs. Maust at Springs.

The June meeting of the Springs Historical society, sponsor of the museum, was held in the main room of the museum instead of the Springs school, the usual meeting place. The July meeting of the society will also be held in the museum at 8:00 p. m. Monday, July 25.

Broad plans for a Folk Festival in October will be included on the agenda.

Airman Of The Month

A2 William R. Swiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis B. Swiger of Oakland, was voted the outstanding airman of his squadron for the month of July. Special Bloodmobile Visit Set August 3rd

A special visit of the Johnstown Red Cross Bloodmobile to Garrett county will be made on August 3 when the mobile unit sets up at the Kitzmiller school from two until six o'clock.

Mrs. Grover Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county, said it is one of a number of unscheduled trips made by the unit to increase the depleted blood reserve and to prepare for the usual heavy demand during summer months.

She said the quota for this visit is 48 pints of blood, and urged persons from any section of the county to contribute during the four hours the unit will be in Kitzmiller.

Found Guilty of Pilfering Gasoline

Arrested early Saturday morning as he was stealing gasoline from a parked automobile in Oakland belonging to Frank Biser, William Lewis was found guilty of the charge Tuesday morning when tried before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Lewis was one of three men picked up over the week-end for questioning in connection with theft cases in the county.

Sheriff James Frantz said Clarence Lewis, a brother of William, and Grover Brownin, both of Oakland, had been detained for questioning but were released.

Premium Books For Fair Distributed

Premium books listing classes and events of the Garrett County Agricultural fair, to be held at McHenry August 9-13, were being distributed this week by members of the board of directors. The books are available to those interested in entering exhibits or displays and give complete information as well as prize money and ribbons to be awarded in each individual event.

A new class this year is the Garrett County School Exhibits, which is open to creative work of any county school student and includes many classes besides the usual home and crafts projects usually associated with a fair.

Both junior and senior high classes are offered in several divisions.

Premium books are available from members of the board of directors or from the office of the County Agent.

The board met Monday evening to further plans for the exhibition, and announced that a supplement to the premium book would be printed and distributed, covering some last minute changes and additions to the list.

Lions Plan Barbecue

Meanwhile, members of the Oakland Mt. Lake Park Lions club are planning to repeat their popular chicken barbecue, which has been a feature of previous fairs.

Committee members said the week dinner would be available on Friday, August 12.

Commissioners Reply To Petition Filed By Taxpayers

Answer Request For Writ Of Mandamus In Case Involving Payment Of Fees For Drilling Work

A reply was filed Friday on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners to a petition by a group of taxpayers asking a Writ of Mandamus in connection with the payment of $16,206 by the board to a former commissioner and his son for drilling work in 1955.

The taxpayers' petition, filed in the Circuit Court several weeks ago, contended that payment made to A. C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman for work performed at the county quarry was in effect illegal, since A. C. Brenneman at the time was a member of the Board of County Commissioners. Other members of the board at that time were H. D. Swartzentruber and Irvon Roth, none of whom are now on the board.

In answering the petition, which stated that the commissioners, in paying the claim, acted in a manner that was "arbitrary, reckless with public money, without warranty in law and illegal" attorneys for the commissioners presented nine points why they felt the Writ of Mandamus should be denied.

These points were, in essence:

1. That there is a misjoinder of parties, in that Carl Schell, Frederick Glotfelty and Elra Garletts, individually, are joined with the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, and no allegations are made against these individuals in the petition, and no relief is asked against them.

2. The petitioners did not state in their petition for a Writ of Mandamus any cause which would entitle them to the relief for which they ask against the individual defendants.

3. The petitioners did not state in their petition any cause which would entitle them for relief against the Board of County Commissioners, which is a corporate body.

4. That the petition shows that the payment involved was made voluntarily by the Commissioners, acting with full authority, and that the relief prayed, a Writ of Mandamus "directing the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Md., to demand of Aubrey C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman the payment to them of the sum of $16,206 paid to them illegally by Order of the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Md., on February 4, 1959, and in the case of their refusal to make said payment, that the County Commissioners bring forthwith such action or proceedings as are appropriate for the recovery of such sum of money for the Taxpayers of Garrett County, Maryland," would be useless and nugatory, and that no other relief is asked.

5. That the payment made to Brenneman was in the sound discretion of the Board, and that the petition does not show gross abuse of discretion by the board, and that the payment was one which involved the exercise of discretion, under authority of the General Laws of Maryland.

6. That the petitioners ask, in effect, that the Board rescind an

Few Violations Of New Laws Noted At Lake

Boat operators on Deep Creek Lake have generally cooperated with officials in observing provisions of the new boating laws, it was said by Leo Friend, district game warden. Mr. Friend, who patrolled the lake along with Francis Ruge, of Deer Park, district game warden, said he was "greatly surprised" at the manner in which the boaters have complied with the new regulations.

Last Thursday, he said, from 300 to 400 boats on the lake were without license numbers, but on Sunday he could find only about five or six who had not displayed their numbers. Last Friday was the deadline for displaying the numbers.

Friend said summonses were issued to at least two Marylanders and three out-of-state boaters. He said he issued about five warnings to boaters with temporary Coast Guard numbers. They were instructed to pick up an application and purchase their licenses, which cost $6.00.

Mr. Friend and Mr. Ruge patrolled the lake Sunday afternoon and evening, and were on the lookout for those who did not display their identification.

The law went into effect June 1, but boat owners were given a grace period in which to register their craft with the state.

Violations are treated just like traffic cases. The owner is given a summons and ordered to take his boat to shore. Out-of-state boaters are taken before a magistrate to post collateral.

The maximum penalty for violations is $300.00.

Licenses are required for all power boats with an engine greater than 7½ horsepower and for all sailboats longer than 25 feet.

Water Situation In Oakland Good

The present water supply in Oakland was considered "good" yesterday by Mayor Russell L. Smith, who said there was no evidence of the usual mid-summer scarcity, at least not at the present time.

Mr. Smith said a representative of a Baltimore engineering firm would be in the area today to investigate possibilities of putting to use a well drilled last year near the Sterling Processing company, but never used.

The well was successful from the standpoint of striking water, but never completely sealed from surface pollution, and it was felt with proper treatment the well could be salvaged.

If this is not possible, and if the need arises, Smith indicated another well in the general vicinity might be drilled, under supervision of the engineer.

It is doubtful if plans to use Youghiogheny river water can be effective until late next summer, at the earliest.

Two Enlist In Army

Two young men of the Oakland area enlisted recently in the Regular Army for a period of three years.

They are William Clem Butler, age 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nethkin, and Ronald Delmar Dilley, also 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Dilley.

Both men were graduated from Southern High school this spring. While in school, Butler was a member of the baseball team and Varsity club. Dilley was a member of the football team.

Both enlisted under the "Buddy Assignment Plan" and after basic training they will attend an Armor Track Vehicle Mechanic course under the Army's high school graduate specialist program.

They were sent to Fort Knox, Ky., for further processing and assignment to a basic training unit.

Rattlesnake Stories Are Making Rounds

Several recent reports of rattlesnake kills indicate the vipers are still with us, whether we like it or not.

James Hinebaugh, driving near Swallow Falls, killed one this week with his automobile, measuring three feet and having seven rattles.

On Saturday, Junior Kimble, of Barton, and William George, of the Swallow Falls section, snake hunting on Snaggy mountain, bagged four of the black and yellow snakes, all about three feet long and having from 7 to 11 rattles.

Roads workers have also reported seeing rattlers in various parts of the county.

In nearby Allegany county, a truck driver traveling along Route 135 spotted a rattlesnake crawling across the highway.

He stopped the truck to kill the snake following it some distance off the highway into some brush when he ran smack dab into more than he had bargained for—a den of 12 more!

He promptly grabbed a stick and killed all 13 of the reptiles and went back to be sure with the season's biggest snake story.

New Blue Cross Rate Increase Requested

Blue Cross and Blue Shield asked Maryland insurance officials last Thursday for permission to increase their monthly medical and hospitalization insurance rates from 13.3 to 33.1 per cent, with part of the raise due to proposed new benefits.

The additional benefits would include coverage of X-rays and other tests or examinations for patients not admitted to hospitals.

Executives of the non-profit insurance plans called this "a major step in promoting the more effective use of higher-cost hospital in-patient facilities and, even more important, in encouraging the detection and diagnosis of conditions requiring care in earlier stages, when they can be treated most successfully."

Third In Three Years

The request for higher Blue Cross hospitalization plan rates is the third in three years. A 19.2 per cent increase was approved last year.

Also proposed was a deductible coverage plan similar to deductible automobile damage insurance, in which the subscriber pays the first $25 for a one-day hospital stay or $50 for a stay or two of more days.

Only a smaller portion of the proposed boosts was attributed to the cost of new benefits, such as the X-ray examinations in doctors' offices or hospital out-patient rooms. The larger share is needed because present rates are not sufficient to cover the cost of care Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscribers are receiving under the present programs," the services said in an announcement to news outlets.

Study Shows Costs Of Drying Hay By Artificial Means

What does it cost to dry hay artificially? Dr. John W. Wysong, University of Maryland agricultural economist has compiled some figures from a study of hay drying costs on Maryland farms.

High quality forage is essential to obtain relatively high levels of milk per cow and rapid rates of gain in young cattle with relatively low levels of grain feeding. A recent development in the production of quality hay is the use of a hay drier. However, Dr. Wysong points out, considerable additional expense is incurred on farms which dry hay artificially.

The total fixed investment in hay drying equipment ranged from $600 to $6,825 on the 24 farms studied during the summer of 1959. Total investment in mow drying equipment with the use of unheated air ranged from $600 to $1,580. In contrast, the investment ranged from $2,093 to $6,825 on farms with hay drying systems which used a heat exchanger, he reports.

The tonnage of hay dried by farmers who used driers ranged from 18 to 400 tons. Total hay drying costs, which include fixed costs as well as the variable costs ranged from $2.81 to $20.15 per ton dried for the systems using heat. The weighted average cost was $5.05 per ton, Dr. Wysong says.

For the mow system without heat, the range in total costs was from $ 3.98 to $6.21 per ton dried. The average cost of unheated mow driers was $4.24 per ton dried.

According to Dr. Wysong, the critical questions with most dairymen, trying to decide whether or not to artificially dry hay are: Will the additional milk response and sales of milk more than pay the costs of drying hay? Will I have large tonnages of hay to process through the drier? Do I have more profitable alternatives in which to use the capital funds such as additional fertilizer or additional feed grains?

Act Now To Control Dutch Elm Disease

The American elm is a valuable shade and street tree in Maryland. Many elms beautify our highways, roads and villages within the State.

The Dutch elm disease causes a loss of trees each year, this loss can be held to a minimum by observation and prompt measures. A large number of dead and dying elms is a depressing sight.

The disease spreads by flights of bark beetles from diseased trees to healthy ones, according to Dr. L. O. Weaver, plant pathologist at the University of Maryland. For this reason trees with Dutch elm disease should be cut down and destroyed. The wood may be saved if bark can be peeled off. Bark beetles live and multiply in dying trees or logs when bark is attached.

Eradication of diseased and dying trees is only one part of the control program. Prompt removal of diseased elms is very important along highways and in towns where a spray program cannot be conducted.

Consult your county agent for aid and advice for tree removal.

Couple Weds In Hoyes Church

The Hoyes Methodist church was the scene of an afternoon wedding, Sunday, June 5th, when June Marie Leydig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Leydig of Accident, became the bride of Robert Edward Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Harvey, Sr., of Swanton.

The three o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. C. P. Anderson before an altar decorated with arrangement of white gladioli, mums, palms, ferns and lighted candelabra.

Miss Betty Savage played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Joanne Collier who sang, "I Love You Truly", "Oh, Promise Me", and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of embroidered nylon tulle over taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice with a square neckline and long pointed sleeves. The very full skirt with a bridal train was edged with scalloped lace and featured in the back with tiers of nylon tulle trimmed with white satin bows. Her shoulder length veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid with streamers and lily-of-the-valley on a white Bible covered with a lace handkerchief, a gift of her grandmother. Her only jewelry was a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Maxine McKenzie of Frostburg, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of white cotton batiste with a pink veil hat, pink organdy pleated cumberbund pink gloves and carried a cascade arrangement of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hostetler and Miss Ruby Green. Their dresses were white embroidered eyelet. Their accessories and cascades were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Renae Harvey, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a white flocked organdy dress. A headband of pink roses and pink gloves completed her outfit. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations.

The rings were carried on a satin pillow by Jeff Hostetler, nephew of the groom. Earl Harvey, Jr., served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Ralph Kelso and Guy Harvey.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a beige dress with brown schiffli embroidery. Brown and beige accessories complemented her outfit. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

The groom's mother chose a light blue lace dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social room. The bride's table carried out the pink and white color scheme. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was cut and served by Mrs. Clark Kolb. Presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Janet Paugh. Assisting were Mrs. Merrill Wilburn and Mrs. Webb DeWitt.

For traveling the bride wore a beige and white dress with white accessories and her white orchid corsage. After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Canada they are residing at Harvey's Peninsula, Swanton.

Boys From Area Attending 4-H Camp In County

Members of 4-H clubs from four Western Maryland counties are attending Camp Algawa at Bittinger this week, where they are enjoying a week of camping activities.

Some 146 boys from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick are among the group. James B. Arnold, assistant county agent of Allegany county, is in charge and he is being assisted by Barry Carr, and Rankin Lusby, assistant agents here, and Richard Schukraft, assistant county agent of Washington county.

The campers were divided into four Indian tribes: Cherokee, Mohawk, Seneca and Shawnee. Competition is keen among the groups in sports, campfires, and clean camping areas in order to become top tribe. Each tribe has its own chief and assistants, made up from the campers.

Each morning the young campers "rise and shine" at 7 o'clock. A typical camping day will include flag raising, breakfast, assembly and cleanup, meeting periods and tribe meetings, general sports, swimming, vespers and campfire activities. The day ends at 10 p. m. when the lights go out.

Each evening program has been begun with vespers. Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland, spoke to the group on Monday evening. The choir of Emmanuel Lutheran church, Bittinger, participated in the Tuesday evening vespers. Night programs consist of campfires, a treasure hunt and carnival time.

act already accomplished, rather than to perform an act which it is under affirmative duty to perform.

7. That the petition does not show, nor does it allege, a duty on the part of the Board to perform the matters sought in the petition, nor do the facts presented show any clear legal right on the part of the petitioners which would entitle them to the Writ of Mandamus.

8. That the petition and Order is bad in substance and insufficient in law.

9. That for other good and sufficient reasons apparent upon the the face of the petition.

When the petition was filed last month, Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley gave the Commissioners until July 15 to file a reply.

The reply to the petition was signed by Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., and Walter W. Dawson, attorneys for the defendants.

The taxpayers' petition was filed by Blaine Friend, James Ross, Donald Frazee, Friendsville; Arthur C. Savage, Mellenry; Parker Warnick, New Germany, and James Broadwater, Sang Run.

They stated that Brenneman, elected as a commissioner in 1954, in that capacity also functioned as a member of the County Roads department. In 1955, the petition stated, the board contracted with John J. Brenneman to drill 1,500 feet of rock at Bishop's quarry at $2.49 per foot. After four months, with the contract completed, he continued to drill without contract on the "overburden" with the price reduced to $2.00 per foot, and submitted a total of $24,438 for drilling 12,219 feet.

Subsequently, Ervin Roth, then a member of the board asked for an injunction to restrain the commissioners from paying for future work and charged with Brenneman, as a commissioner, with "doing business with himself." Former Judge George Henderson heard the case and instituted the injunction.

The Maryland Court of Appeals later upheld Judge Henderson's ruling, but did not rule on the question of the work done in the overburden, indicating that this would be determined by future proceedings.

onstrate that they are taking positive steps to insure the continuous growth of better quality trees.

Among those receiving the awards were Logan Weber, of Oakland, and Herbert C. Wildesen, of Gormania, W. Va., who operates timber lands in this county. Elmer C. Grimm, of Terra Alta, and Lawrence Idleman, of Hartsmanville, W. Va., also received awards.

The more than 100 foresters, forest industry officials, farmers and other landowners attending toured the Grimm tree farm to observe firsthand the forestry steps he has taken to increase timber growth.

Mr. Veach, who is associated with the Harco Corp., in Oakland and is head of the Bemis Hardwood Lumber Co., Robbinsville, N. C., and Hardwood Corp., of America, Asheville, also hit public apathy toward wise management of forest land. "If the public realized how vital our timber resources are, we wouldn't have room for the crowd coming out here today to learn how to make better use of them," he said.

The Tree Farm Program in the three states is sponsored by Forest Industries Committees with the cooperation of state agencies concerned with forest conservation. L. D. Peterson, of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., Luke, is chairman of the Maryland committee.

Fishing Success Listed For Week

Most successful fishing this week was done in the vicinity of the Deep Creek Dam and the area of the Deep Creek bridge, it was revealed by the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Anglers reported exceptionally good fishing for Chain Pickerel in the area of the Deep Creek bridge. They had better luck trolling spinners and doing slow trolling with minnows than fishing from the banks.

Although fishing was generally good, the number of large species caught was somewhat fewer. Trolling an "Abu" spinner near Beckman's Peninsula, Linn Phillips, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., booked two nice Walleye. One checked in at 17½", 1 lb. 9 oz., and the other was a 2 pound, 13 ounce.

W. L. Campbell, Morgantown, W. Va., landed a 20" Walleye while he was still fishing with nightcrawlers in the area near the dam. Another big Walleye was caught by Mrs. George Millstead, Falls Church, Va. This one measured 20 inches and was caught while she was trolling a Flatfish lure at the Deep Creek bridge.

A teen-age angler, Allen Dawson of Cresaptown, reported one of the largest Pickerel caught this past week. He creeled a 24 incher while trolling a flat fish in the Green Glade inlet.

Bernard Costello, North Braddock, Pa., landed a 24 inch Pickerel on a dead minnow and a 15" Smallmouth Bass. The Bass was taken on a nightcrawler. Mr. Costello was still-fishing in the Pawn Run section of Deep Creek Lake.

Leo Firesstune, Youngwood, Pa., checked-in a 21" Smallmouth Bass. This one was hooked on a plug off the shores at Red Run.

Fishermen are reminded to check-in all large catches with the Information Center, the Creel Census Manager, or Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake.

Scouts At Jamboree

In a picture and article in The Republican last week concerning local scouts and leaders attending the national Jamboree at Colorado Springs, Col., the name of Carl Pelton, of the Mt. Lake Park Explorer troop, was inadvertently omitted.

The five who left Sunday for the affair were Pelton, Foster Riggs, scout leader, John Sharps, Sonny Riggs and David Gonder.

GOP Will Choose Slate Next Week

There is a question mark surrounding the Republican National convention, which opens next week in Chicago.

Until recently, it had been assumed that Vice President Richard Nixon was a shoo-in for the Presidential nomination, with the blessing of President Eisenhower.

But a cloud appeared in the sky by the name of Nelson A. Rockefeller, governor of New York, who in the past ten days has been making noises strangely resembling those of an opposing candidate.

Nixon keeps an almost unshakable clutch on the nomination, but there is a strong campaign to "draft" the New York governor by those who contend that Nixon can't win in November and that Rockefeller is the big hope of the GOP to defeat the Democrat's John Kennedy, nominated in Los Angeles last week.

Close associates of Rockefeller took differing positions on whether the governor has agreed to let his name be put in nomination, but draft director William M. Brinton told a news conference, "I am absolutely sure it will be."

Rockefeller has indicated he would respond to a "genuine draft," but would not otherwise seek the nomination. He has flatly stated that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for Vice President. He says he feels he can be of more service as governor of New York state than Vice President of the United States.

The Democrat's Lyndon Johnson, Senator for Texas, said almost the same thing prior to the convention, but did accept his party's bid for second spot on the ticket.

A poll of five key states this week showed Nixon trailing behind Kennedy in popular support. It was pointed out that the Republicans will have to take three of the five states to win the general election.

But next week will see the final lineups for the big decision to be made by millions of voters in November.

4-H Camp Members End County Camp

Maryland 4-H Club members learned the importance of natural resources during a full week of instruction at State 4-H Club Conservation camp at Bittinger, July 11 to 16.

Special emphasis was given forest management, according to W. Sherard Wilson, state 4-H Club agent at the University of Maryland. The program emphasized a study of fish, ponds, wildlife, soil and water conservation.

Friday's program included a tour through northern Garrett county to see the three phases of conservation in practice. In addition to developing an appreciation for natural resources among campers, instructors stressed management practices in all areas of conservation.

Club members from 13 Maryland counties attended the affair, sponsored annually by the University of Maryland College of Agriculture.

Teachers Ask Hike In State Pay Aid

The teachers of Maryland called upon the Legislature yesterday for $13,000,000 in new State aid to support pay increases and minimum salaries in the $4,000 to $6,000 range.

Their plan, basically a continuation of their unsuccessful plea to Governor Tawes and the 1960 General Assembly, was laid before the influential Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, of the Legislative Council.

It was ountlined by Milton C. Raver, executive secretary to the Maryland State Teachers association. He announced that allowance had been made in the quest for the $4,300,000 program approved earlier this year for veteran teachers.

The amount of raises for individual teachers would vary from county to county. Mr. Raver said the amounts, phased into the complex system of aid to education, would range from $330 for a certified teacher in Baltimore city to $653 in some of the smaller counties.

Mr. Raver warned that Maryland must compete with other states in order to secure competent teachers. The state is now seventh in average salaries, he said, but has direct competition from neighboring states which are in the higher brackets.

Stretch Sox Okay
● Bifocal Contacts
● A Rumor
● Natural Childbirth

Q. Can the wearing of stretch sox cause any sort of foot trouble, especially in children?
A. No reference to injurious effects of wearing stretch sox can be found in the medical literature. There would seem to be no reason to expect trouble from the wearing of stretch sox.

Q. Are contact lens satisfactory? Do they come in bifocals?
A. Most eye doctors consider contact lens satisfactory but with certain reservations. Optically, they are ideal: practically, they leave something to be desired. They will probably never entirely replace ordinary spectacles. Yes, bifocal contact lens are being developed but as yet are more or less experimental.

Q. Will food cooked in aluminum vessels cause cancer?
A. No. Where this rumor started is a mystery, but there is no truth to it.

Q. Exactly what is "natural childbirth?"
A. It is a drugless method by which delivery is made easier. The concept originated with an English physician who theorized that among civilized people the pain of labor is due to fear. This, in turn, prevents relaxation and generates painful reactions. The pain creates further fear, and so a vicious cycle is set up. The doctor's method is designed to eliminate the fear of labor by instructional measures during pregnancy. Women are taught the simple facts about pregnancy and labor, how to relax, and what exercises to take during pregnancy. This paves the way for more natural labor, according to the doctor.

Our prescription service is based on this policy—The finest quality drugs, dispensed by professional pharmacists at reasonable prices.

$25 Million Project Under Way in Terra Alta Gas Territory

To make more natural gas available to its customers, Atlantic Seaboard Corporation has work under way to convert the Terra Alta field in Preston County from production to underground storage, James S. Phillips, vice president and general manager, announced. The cost will be over $25 million.

Mr. Phillips said that when the underground area is completed, it will have a storage capacity of 33 billion cubic feet and be able to deliver up to 255 million cubic feet on the frigid "peak days" of winter. Gas for injection in the pool will be relayed to Atlantic Seaboard from suppliers in the southwest.

Gas from the vast underground pool will be pumped into the 26-inch 'Toughest Inch" pipeline of Atlantic Seaboard for transportation through the rugged Allegheny mountains to the eastern seaboard. There it will serve major cities, including Washington, Baltimore and Richmond.

Atlantic Seaboard Is a subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., and sells gas at wholesale to other companies.

Mr. Phillips said th big project includes the following major features:

1. Laying 4 miles of 20-inch pipeline from the storage pool to Atlantic Seaboard's Seneca Compressor Station, located on the company's main 26-inch pipeline extending from near Charleston, W. Va., to near Baltimore, near Seneca Rocks, Pendleton County. The line will cost approximately $3,577,000.

2. Building a 4,400-horse-power compressor station on West Virginia Route 53, two miles south of Terra Alta, at a cost of about $9,977,000.

3. Converting approximately 10,200 acres from production leaseholds to combination production-storage leases and reconditioning 21 of 33 existing Oriskany production wells.

He said that workmen will be engaged for many months in installing high pressure well and field lines, telemetering equipment and controls and individual wellhead measurement facilities. Additional wells probably will be drilled in the future to realize the maximum deliverability.

The company hopes to start injecting gas into the underground rock formations by mid-summer. Withdrawal of gas to meet wintertime demands is expected to start next winter.

In order to establish the Terra Alta underground storage pool, Atlantic Seaboard will purchase the interests in the field held by other companies. From Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, it will purchase production facilities and wells having a depreciated value of $3,400,000.

From Hope Natural Gas Company of Clarksburg it will acquire 2,700 acres of production leaseholds. Total depreciated cost of all physical property and Oriskany gas reserves acquired from Hope will amount to $2,640,000.

Mr. Phillips said property owners will benefit from the establishment of the pool. Lease payments which would have been discontinued when the field became uneconomical to operate for production, now will continue into the future.

Construction is under way on all phases of the work, most of which will be contracted. Contract for construction of the 43 miles of 20-inch pipeline is held by Williams Brothers of Tulsa, Okla.

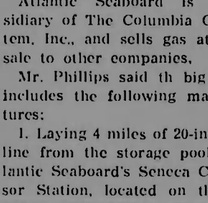
Beginning at Seneca Compressor Station, the line will extend northward across the Allegheny Front and past into the eastern top of Randolph County. After entering Tucker County at Laneville, it will pass by the Cabin Mountain ski area and pass about a half-mile east of Blackwater Falls. The pipeline will then cut between the towns of Davis and Thomas and enter Preston County at historic Fairfax Stone.

It will continue across Backbone Mountain and pass under U. S. Route 50 about one-half mile east of Aurora and terminate at the Compressor station site.

The 21 production wells to be used for the injection and withdrawal of gas have been reconditioned.

To deliver gas to and from the storage wells there will be a network of well and field lines varying in diameter from four to 20 inches.

The Terra Alta Compressor Station, will be constructed by J. F. Pritchard and Company of Kansas City, Mo. Its horsepower will be turned out by four gas reciprocating engines of 1,100-horsepower each.



The station will have a dehydration plant for removing liquids from gas. The gas will be stored at pressures up to 2,350 pounds. As it is compressed for storage it will be necessary to have cooling to reduce its temperature. As the gas is withdrawn from storage, it will have a tendency to freeze. To prevent this, three heaters will be provided at the station.

Transition of the Terra Alta field to storage follows an exploration and production history which goes back some 36 years. The first drilling in the field was in 1924 when a well drilled to 4,900 feet was abandoned.

The partnership of Snee and Eberly completed a dry hole into the Oriskany sand in 1944. Continuing drilling at the rate of one well a year, Snee and Eberly finally hit gas in 1947. They entered into a gas purchase agreement with Cumberland and Allegheny at that time. C & A purchased a portion of the field in 1951 in order to step-up drilling and gas production.

Hope got its first production from the field in 1948 and built its first lines into the Terra Alta area in 1951. The field was the scene of competitive drilling during its period of greatest production. It is estimated the field is over 90 per cent depleted today.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"IS THE TIDE TURNING?"

Today is not just a day for firecrackers, flag-waving and reminiscing over the Good Old Days. Nor is it a day to overeat and underthink, musing all the while that manana is soon enough to consider tomorrow. Today is a day to plan for tomorrow for unless we do, we shall suffer more insults and make more miscalculations about a clever implacable enemy motivated by one overwhelming desire—to bring about American defeat and burial.

We must understand and remember this simple deadly truth despite all the blandishments, smiles and promises of the Soviets. We must scrutinize every Communist proposal with the suspicion that it may contain the seeds of our destruction. For example, nuclear testing: If we agree to stop testing can we afford to trust the Soviets to keep their word or must we insist on adequate inspection notwithstanding what our allies say or how they protest? Clearly, inspection is integral to any Soviet-American agreement. Further, we must be prepared to act in the ultimate best interests of the United States and the non-communist world without regard for the immediate reaction. For example, we might soon be forced to reduce the Cuban share of our sugar quota or we might even be compelled to sever diplomatic relations with Cuba.

We must become less anxious to be popular and more eager to be right. Prestige is a bubble that bursts whenever it is grasped too tightly, and man's memory is embarrassingly short. Despite Hungary in 1956 and Tibet in 1959, the Soviet and Chinese Communists continue to court and be courted, to fete and be feted. Their goal, however, is not affection but aggrandizement, not friendship but fear.

If this Nation begins with the basic premise that it is engaged in a protracted conflict with Communism, which it may have to meet in battle as well as economic, everything else falls into place. We have the resources and the will but they must be drawn together in balanced perspective and focused on our enemy.

Equally important, we Americans must stop rubbing each other's nose in the dust. We live in a glass house with open windows with our every action visible and our every word audible to the world. If we despair, how can we generate confidence in others to resist Communism? The answer to our present crisis lies in directing the strength and energy of our Nation outward against communism and not inward against each other.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Members of The Methodist Church of The West Virginia Conference:

Do you contribute to the support of the Children's Home at Burlington, West Virginia.

I doubt if you would be very happy about it if you knew how your contributions are being used.

Some people who have learned of these conditions have discontinued their contributions. My wife and I started working at the Children's Home, October 20, 1959, and continued there until June 19, 1960. We found certain conditions there that we felt the Church would not want to exist. We have discussed these matters with Dr. Reece Burns, district superintendent. Also certain members of the Board. I feel that we did not receive any cooperation from them. We also wrote to Bishop Halloway and asked to see and talk with him, and according to the reply we received, he too felt he would let Dr. Burns take care of things, and we are of the opinion that he did not want to talk with us. I feel that the situations still exist, in fact, I have been told that they appear to be growing worse, but I doubt this, for I don't see how any thing could be much worse than some of the things that have happened in the Children's Home while I was there.

I have also been told that these conditions have existed for several years. I will list just a few of these conditions. To my estimation the waste is very great. Does it make sense to spend from $45,000.00 to $50,000 a year to maintain a home for from 20 to 26 children? I think the actual cost is much more than this amount.

It is apparent to me that the moral, spiritual, educational and cultural training of the children is being badly neglected.

These conditions existing in our Church make me ashamed to say I am a Methodist. Surely some steps should be taken to make this home one which our Church could be proud of.

To anyone that is interested I would be glad to give more details.

There may be other letters dealing with this situation.

This may be copied.

Review of The Play

Every now and then, as publishing persons or critical openings of amateur plays, Variety, the theatrical newspaper, will list some particular play as being a "sure" for a potential New York hit—but an excellent possibility for stock or the stock bill circuit. Such a play is being presented at the playhouse this week. Not an adult message to get on the soapbox of civic award winners, but a Pulitzer prize winner. Indeed, sometimes one wonders how or why certain dramatic efforts happen to achieve such signal honor. Many times such works have not been particularly entertaining, not have they dealt with subjects which are appealing in any sense of the word. On the other hand, quite often a play which is well written and superbly done with a subject matter which is sordid, is passed over completely.

A two-act comedy by Ruth Somers, which is being presented this week at The Playhouse is an effort which in the New York appearance was apparently successful, but which in the hands of an adequate cast manages to provide an evening of delightful theatre. It tells the story of a teen ager who has developed a somewhat cynical attitude in an attempt to hide her own loneliness this following the divorce of her parents. The attempt is made on the part of the mother and her friends to try to break down the barrier of hostility and distrust. How this is finally accomplished provides a look into a phase of family life which is of considerable interest. The Playhouse group manages to get their teeth in this weeks attraction and in so doing comes up with a well knit and, on the whole, a well paced performance.

"A Room Of Roses" introduces to us a number of the repertory group who have good accounts of themselves. In fact, one must say that Judy Knaiz in the role of a well intended, but somewhat upsetting matron, almost steals the show. This young lady has an excellent sense of timing and handles her lines quite well. She has a good sense of comic values and makes for a most valued addition to the 1960 players combine.

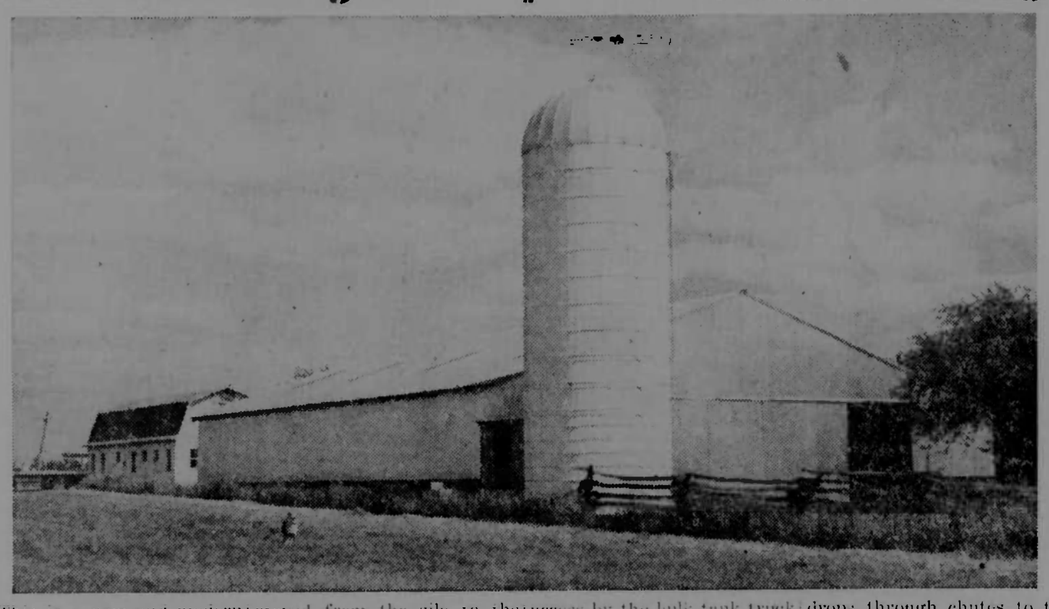
This production also makes use of the efforts of two charming teen agers as well as a local young man, all of whom come through quite well. Jennifer Yell, daughter of producer Gene, is cast in the part of Bridget MacGowan, the teen ager with the problem which must be resolved. Jennifer gives a good interpretation of the part, except that she hurried the last scene through so fast, one would have thought there were commuter trains to be caught. We imagine that Gene Yell will have this corrected long before these scrivelings appear in print.

Galen Fontaine, a most attractive young lady, is the teen ager who help Bridget to become more trusting of her associates. Galen plays what she is, a most delightful young person, and does it quite well. This young lady, it would seem, has potentialities for the future should she be inclined in the direction of the stage.

Young Ronnie McDaniel, a local boy, playing the brother, makes his debut this week and is to be congratulated for his efforts.

Judith Weimken, who is cast this week as the distaught moher, turns in another well delineated performance. This is Judith's third straight week in an important part. Each of these has been a different type of individual and in each of these she has managed to give an interpretation which is well thought out and appealing to the viewer. Miss Weimken is to be commended on her stage craft.

Fred Burrell plays her husband, Jennifer's stepfather, in a way which is forthright and convincing and aids materially in making the play appealing.



As Dick, the boy who gives his all, Jim Friedman provides a rather good change of pace performance. Peggy Lewis is a maid and Richard Dorian, the other newcomer to the cast, has a somewhat short role as the father who is the root of all trouble. That he succeeds in making himself somewhat of a surly, unfriendly type of person indicates promise for this performer in future weeks.

As was mentioned in the review of the opening show, this year's group is most interesting and hardworking and could be our best group since the memorable first year of the Playhouse. You owe it to yourself to get down and see this week's show and then decide if you agree with this reviewer..

It's a thought provoking show and one which all the family will enjoy. Not all of it is as serious as it would seem, for there are plenty of laughs during the time that Jennifer is working out her problems of confused adolescence.

New Assembly Line Speeds Milk Handling

This is a new and modern "assembly line" for milk on the James H. Glotfelty farm near Accident. The aluminum sheeted building is the loafing shed that has ample room for the 30-cow herd. The silo at the right is electrically controlled and silage will be moved from the silo to the feeding manger by a push of a switch.

The milking parlor at the near end of the building at the left contains elevated space for eight cows at a time. The milk room is at the front, close to the highway where access by the bulk tank truck is easy.

Hay is stored from floor to roof in the center of the loafing barn, where it is easily fed to the cows, and grain is elevated by a blower on the feed dealer's truck to bins above the parlor where it drops through chutes to the cows below when they come in to be milked.

A mechanical devise for measuring out grain for each cow is operated at one point in the parlor by the pull of a rope by the operator.—Additional story on page one.

He was a member of the Methodist church. Mr. Lockhart had lived in Preston county for the past 40 year and previously had resided in Parkersburg.

Survivors include two sons, Harry Lockhart, Mineral Wells, and Curtis Lockhart, Terra Alta; two daughters, Mrs. Goldie Lantz and Mrs. Beulah Dunbar, Rowlesburg; seven sisters, Mrs. Charles Enoch, Mrs. Howard Virdon, Mrs. Susan Stanley and Mrs. Henry Stillingbar, all of Parkersburg; Mrs. Guy Parsons, Akron, and Kathryn and Lillie Lockhart, at home; two brothers, Joseph Lockhart, Mingo Junction, Ohio, and Dewey Lockhart, Ironton, Ohio, seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

"Girls In 509" To Be Playhouse Bill

Political satire, a rare element in modern plays, will be flickering brightly at the Garrett County Playhouse for the week beginning July 26, when Howard Teichmann's New York comedy success, "The Girls in 509" will be on view.

This play is concerned with two staunch Republican ladies who were so overwhelmed when That Man entered the White House in 1933 that they holed up in a New York hotel room and never ventured forth again for the next 25 years.

Judy Knaiz (Hettie) and Peggy Lewis (Mersey) are starred as this pair of eccentrics in the playhouse production. Miss Knaiz is playing the part of a snappish dowager who had led the way into self-imposed isolation when the Day of Doom came, and Miss Lewis is portraying her pert niece who has reluctantly endured the exile, wondering all the while how to get a husband.

Playwright Teichmann gets in an assortment of uproariously satirical jabs at politicians, social workers, lawyers, newspapermen, college deans and other assorted subjects by having his heroines discovered in their lair by a raucous newspaper reporter.

The exposure to the light and air of the couple who had been locked in a hotel room from the early 1930's until the late 1950's, provides a number of hilarious situations. Relieved at first to find that the Republicans have returned to office, the recluses are appalled to find that the nation is just as imperilled as ever. Far from being restored to the halcyon Coolidge and Hoover days, they are enmeshed in more taxes and government meddling than FDR dreamed of.

Trying to become accustomed to a world they never knew had developed outside their hotel room they are aghast to learn of such things as television, and plans to visit the moon.

The play's satirical swipes, according to the New York dramatic critics who enthusiastically praised it on its Broadway opening in the fall of 1958, are pretty evenly divided in being aimed at Republicans and Democrats. To keep a fair balance, the lampooned figures of the National Chairmen of both parties, who come to call upon the exhumed ladies soon after their discovery, are going to be played by the actor, Fred Burrell.

Others in the cost will be Marty McGuire, as a wistful teacher of journalism, whose effort at proving himself a practical newspaperman turns up the two ladies as a feature story; Richard Dorian, Judith Wiemken, Jim Friedman, John Fisher and Steve Wagner.

The farce is being directed by Ray Caton and produced by Gene Yell.

Normal School Class Shown In Old Photo

Mrs. Maude Browning, of Oakland, has supplied this week's old photo, which will undoubtedly be recognized by many readers who remember the Oakland Normal school.

Mrs. Browning was a member of the class shown, and she recalls the picture as having been taken in 1907 or 1908. The school was held in what is now the Center Street school building, and classes ran from April through the summer.

She has identified the group as follows:

Second row: Martha Howell, Margaret Bowman, Clara Little Welling, Ellen Kerns, Bridget Maroney, Julia Kerns, Ruth McRobie, Blanche Inskeep, and the last person unknown.

Third row: Julia Enlow Hauser, Merle Fowler Adams, Miss Walker, Ola Junkins, Cora Michael, Mary Salzman, Marie Wend, Mande Nicholson Browning, Mabel Cuppett.

With this week's "Picture Out Of The Past" beginning the second year of publication, a review of those printed during the past twelve months shows that readers of The Republican have been stumped only three times by the old photos.

At least partial identification has been forthcoming in nearly every instance where identities or locations were in doubt. The three which "stumped the experts" were a picture of an old blacksmith shop, a small stone barber shop and a group of young men and boys on Railroad street in Oakland. Of the ten or twelve shown in the latter picture, none were recognized.

A picture of a falls caused the most controversy, however, and the question of location was settled only after an exploring trip by members of the newspaper staff.

Following publication on December 10, 1959, of a waterfall identified as Deep Creek Falls, a number of readers objected, saying the view was actually that of Muddy Creek.

The controversy continued until an expedition to the area confirmed unquestionably that the original photograph was that of Muddy Creek, and not the Little Falls of Deep Creek.

Not all identifications of the more than 59 photographs involved has received unanimous agreement, but in all cases the differences have been slight, and undoubtedly the result of frailty of human memory, as many of them have been more than a half-century old.

Since its inception, the series has been received with interest by readers of The Republican, and many have shared their own old photographs through its medium.

The continuance of the series depends on this interest, and readers having interesting old views of local scenes or persons are invited to submit them for publication as time and space permit.

Personalities . . . Out of the Past

He was a slave and was sent by express from Richmond, Va., to Miss Otto Cullen, who lived near Oakland. He was set free by Miss Cullen and for some time was employed by Horace West, later to become coachman and drayman for the late William P. Totten, by whom he was employed for about 25 years.

The picture belongs to Mrs. Ilda Coddington, a former resident now living in Salem, Ohio.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS

GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting—"at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

One of our old teachers used to say, "I can lead you to knowledge, but only God can give you wisdom."

And how right he was. A string of diplomas and degrees does not make a man wise. Many of the wisest never had a formal education.

For knowledge is the accumulation of facts. But wisdom is the ability to apply a few facts — perhaps only one — to a life-situation.

We know a distinguished scholar who has written volumes on ecclesiastical architecture. And we know an elderly widow who told her grandchildren, "Churches ain't made to look at!"

And the scholar — earnest Christian that he is — humbly bows to the wisdom of the widow!

For whether it be a cathedral or chapel, the Church cannot enrich our lives until reverently we enter its portals to worship and serve God. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are; (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Steadfast Love

Lesson for July 24, 1960

LONG AGO there lived a man by the name of Hosea. God marked him for a prophet, but perhaps Hosea did not know this until after his tragedy. For he went through a great tragic experience, one of a sort that cannot simply be tossed into memory's trash-basket and forgotten. Hoseas experience was one that left scars upon his soul.

The Woman In His Life

Hosea's story, told in the first part of the book which bears his name, is a puzzling one as it stands, and it remains a puzzle even when it is reconstructed. What follows now is a very widely accepted interpretation of that story, though no interpretation is beyond mistakes.

There was a woman in Hosea's life; her name was Gomer, from the same Israelite people as himself. It is clear that he loved her, and that she bore him children. The names of the children, however, suggest that all was not well in that household. The oldest child was named Jezreel, the name of a well-known fortress city of those times. There was nothing odd about that way of naming children.

When the second child was born, Hosea (still not yet a prophet) gave her a curious name. It sounds strange in English; it was much more strange in Hebrew, the language Hosea spoke. Lo-Ruhamah "No-Mercy" was the little girl's name.

Life's Bitterest Cup

Did Hosea give that innocent child that gruesome name because he had discovered that his Gomer was a woman without mercy? If he did, the third baby bore a name more sinister still. It was a little boy; and Hosea named him Lo-Ammi—"Not My People" or "No Child of Mine." He had lost all belief that his wife was any longer true to him; in fact he publicly branded her by giving the child that name. Gomer did what you might expect: she left him with the children, and he had the three of them to bring up by himself, trying to be father and mother both.

The Woman In The Slave Market

Long afterwards, Hosea found a woman in the slave market and bought her and brought her to his home. The interpretation of the story which we are following takes this woman (not named in the Bible story) to be no other than the lost Gomer. It is very likely that she was. It would be a delicate courtesy not to give her name, for she had indeed sunk very low, as the story shows. If it was Gomer, sure enough, then Hosea had discovered something besides his former bride. He had discovered in his own heart a love which bridged all the rifts and chasms that a wayward woman's merciless selfishness had cut across the fair face of their happiness. He discovered a love which was stronger and more enduring than anything.

Love of God

Other writers in the Old Testament speak to us of the love of God, but the word they used has often been mistranslated, or played down in the translating. The Hebrew word is now (in the Revised Standard Version) given its rightful meaning: Steadfast Love. The translators worked hard to find one word that would say what the Hebrew word says, but they could not find one. So "steadfast love" it is. Hosea's experience taught him two things. One was the depth of his own love, as we were just saying. The other was the depth and endurance of God's love. Hosea, who became known as a prophet, but never fully recovered from the shattering experiences of his early life, always spoke of God and Israel as husband and wife. Just as Gomer had been unfaithful to him, so the nation of Israel had been unfaithful to God. But just as Hosea's love was so steadfast that he could take back and care for a horribly damaged Gomer, so Gods love is steadfast in spite of his Israel's sins. Yet—we cannot suppose that Hosea, once his wife was at home again, did not care what she did; and we must believe that God, though he loves the sinner, hates the sin.

More About Ashby Family in Kentucky

More information about the members of the Ashby family who moved to Kentucky early in this nation's history, was provided this week by Mrs. Bess Norton Lohr.

She discovered she was in error in a recent story as to the generation of Isaac, great grandson of Jesse, brother of this county's William, of Revolutionary war time. It was stated he was a son of Jesse, born in 1738, which could not be possible. Isaac was born near Centertown, Ky., in May, 1891, and was just 66 when visiting in Oakland recently.

Other data, however, has been uncovered from old letters dated 1820 from Kentucky. Evan Williams was writing to his widowed sister Sarah Williams Ashby, in reply to request for information about Kentucky relatives.

The latter was addressed to "Kingwood, Preston County, Maryland." One time William and Sarah lived in what is now Preston, then Monongalia County, West Virginia. Post offices were few, and mail scarce. The land line between Maryland and West Virginia was not settled before William died in 1804. Nathan a son of William and Sarah, lived in the old stone inn near Terra Alta, after William. It is even possible that Sarah was living in that area in 1820. At any rate, the family lost sight of those three or four brothers who had gone to Kentucky until recently when through kindness of the postmasters, and clerks of courts, in various parts of Kentucky a fairly reliable amount of data is being collected. Who the parents of these oldest brothers were is still a matter of mystery.

It has come to light that the war services of the old Ashby brothers have been well matched by several of their descendants in later war services.

One of the men killed at Pearl Harbor was a descendant of Jesse.

A half-brother of Isaac Ashby lost a son last January when President Eisenhower was in Rio de Janeiro when Charles Bardwell Ashby of Beaver Dam, Ohio County, Kentucky, was in the U. S. Navy plane that crashed over the city. Isaac's only son, David Rowe Ashby, is in the armed service at Ft. Meade. The family has not lacked for patriots. At least three of the pioneers served in Indian Wars and in the Revolution.

The other brothers about whom we have found data are as follows: Peter, who married Winifred Timmons in 1789, was born in 1751, and died in Hopkins County, Ky., in 1833. He reared at least four sons and four daughters.

George, whose wife was Susaniah ————, was a commissioner of Ohio County in 1800, 1802 and 1803. His will was probated in 1811, so he must have died in 1810 or 1811.

Henry must be the brother who went on farther west to Ohio or Missouri. Letters from Keytesville, Mo., from a cousin "Daniel" to a descendant of Jesse leads to the belief that Daniel may be Henry's son. Research is being continued on Henry's line.

Another Revolutionary soldier who is now believed to be a brother of Jesse, Peter, George, Henry and William was the Stephen Ashby who married Susan Foote, and left a large family when he died in Caldwell County, Kentucky. His will signed in 1797 was proved in 1830, hence his death must have been in 1829 or 1830. Mrs. Masten, a descendant, now nearly blind, says that he was a brother to Jesse, Peter, George, and Henry. Ashbyburg, Onton, Anton, and other Kentucky towns have Ashby descendants of one or the other brothers. The postmaster at Onton, Cornelius Ashby, is a descendant of Peter, many generations removed.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

A Threat To Our Freedom—Many Americans who have been watching the relentless expansion of Communist power throughout the world are gravely concerned for the future of our nation—and mankind's freedom. They are aware that in 40 years of extraordinary success the Communists have already achieved most of Lenin's blueprint for conquest, summarized and paraphrased as follows: "First, we will take eastern Europe, next the masses of Asia; then we shall encirle the last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack: it will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands."

With infiltration, control of propaganda outlets, and cunning political maneuvering, while our nation looked on, the Communists gobbled up eastern Europe; then most of the masses of Asia, including China's 500 million. And now we witness Cuba, 90 miles from Florida, being converted into a Communist stronghold, the base for widespread Latin American activities. Thus Lenin's blueprint for expansion, no matter how fantastic it may have sounded when he said it, has become a reality. The U.S.A. is encircled, and within our borders the Communists are undermining our will to resist.

Let us be alert, and recognize Communist propaganda for what it is, regardless of its source.

Adjournment—Until After Conventions—The leadership in the Congress decided rather suddenly last Wednesday that, rather than wind up the 86th Congress and adjourn sine die ("without day"), Congress would adjourn only until after the two national political conventions. We were asked to return to Washington to continue the legislative session at a time when those running for office—and this includes one-third of the Senators and all the Congressmen—should be out campaigning. I felt that this calling us back was a mistake; I felt that more harm than good might result from such sessions particularly in the Senate, where at least one of the Presidential candidates (Vice President Nixon) and possibly both Presidential candidates would be present, with such presence promising to be more than could be resisted by opposition needlers looking for headlines. I think the leadership in the two Houses should have managed things so that the business of the 86th Congress could have been completed prior to the opening of the first of the two national conventions. I cannot conceive of any worthwhile progress being made in the period between the two nominating conventions and the November General Election.

Our Committee's Bill Now The Law—The Military Construction Authorization Bill which our Committee on Armed Services wrote is now Public Law 86-500, having been passed by both Houses and signed by the President. New authorizations are as follows:

$127,566,000 for the Navy.
$727,305,000 for the Air Force.
$20,000,000 for the Department of Defense.
$56,122,000 for Reserve Forces.

"Home Improvement" Racket—This past week I held hearings, as Chairman of the D. C. Business and Commerce Subcommittee, on a bill designed to stop unscrupulous contractors from filching from home owners. Numerous cases were brought to my attention where home owners wanting to make improvements had been victims, first, of false advertising, and then of sharp practices. The bill I had before me would go a long way toward correcting an ugly situation; among other features, it would require the bonding of contractors, and it would require them to live up to their advertised claims. I agreed with the proponents of the bill that such legislation is long overdue and should be enacted. The bill was ordered favorably reported to the Senate.

Baltimore Channel: Another Boost—We had considered it a victory to get the 1.5-million-dollar allotment to start the deepening of the Baltimore Channel to the sea. The Channel project was one of the biggest new undertakings called for in the Omnibus Rivers and Harbors Bill, and although the White House had been opposed to starts on new improvements, the President had made an exception in the Baltimore project. Now, comes an extra million approved in committee, and if this prevails, we will have 2.5 million, and this should get the work well started. With the channel job on its way to an actual start, the project will be pushed steadily toward completion.

Federal Activities In Maryland—Postmaster General Summerfield informs me that Kensington is to get its new Post Office; also that he is asking for bids to build and lease to the Dtpartment a new post office vehicle maintenauce and garage facility for Baltimore, the bids to close on August 24.

The Urban Renewal Administration has announced grants to Wicomico County ($25,000) and the City of Laurel ($10,900) for planning "growth and development". Senate cloakroom two two ..... It has also authorized Baltimore City to mako plans for its "Mt. Royal-Fremont Extension No. 1" urban renewal project—113 acres adjoining the central business district, now containing 2,298 dwelling units, mostly substandard. Anticipating that the project will cost $2,331,531, this amount has been earmarked for the project.

The Army has awarded a $1,539,122 contract to Carl Gonnson & Sons, Inc., of Baltimore, for a Wherry Housing rehabilitation project at Aberdeen Proving Ground.

The Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, has awarded contracts totaling $7,427,500 for construction work to be done at Dalecarlia, Maryland.

The A. C. F. Corporation of Bladensburg, Maryland, has been awarded a million-dollar contract to perform "classified" work for the Signal Corps, U. S. Army.

The Signal Corps awarded a $1,954,000 contract to Fairchild's Aircraft and Missile Division, Hagerstown, Maryland, for the production of a drone surveillance system, the work to be done at Hagerstown.

"While The Cities Sleep"—Nike Ajax missile batteries defending 7 metropolitan areas are to be replaced immediately by the more modern Nike Hercules batteries, the Department of the Army has announced. The metropolitan areas are: Washington-Baltimore, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, and Detroit. The Hercules has the same high degree of accuracy as the Ajax, but a greater range, and can carry either a nuclear or non-nuclear warhead. It was the Nike Hercules, which, in a recent test, sought out and destroyed a Corporal missile 10 miles high.

The powerful Atlas missile, steered for the first time by a new inertial guidance system, deposited its nose cone on the intended target 5,000 miles away, in a test a few days ago.

And about the same time, the Navy announced that Bullpup air-to-surface missiles had been successfully launched from helicopters.

Post-Mortem Appearance — The prospect of anyone seeing in the management of the 2nd Session of the 86th Congress anything to boast about brings to mind a story. A man went to Florida for his health, two weeks later he died. His body was sent back to his home town for burial. At the undertakers the wife of the deceased and a friend were looking at the body, which had been prepared for funeral services, when the friend said, encouragingly: "Doesn't he look wonderful?"—to which his wife answered: "Yes, I think those last two weeks in Florida did him a world of good." P. S. This will be our last Senate Cloakroom until Congress reconvenes in August.

Warns Against Home Made Suntan Lotion

Suggestions from the Maryland State Department of Health regarding exposure of the skin to the summer sun include a precaution about improvised "tanning" preparations made by mixing iodine tincture with mineral or baby oil.

Although such mixtures will stain the skin and give the effect of a sun tan, a person so stained is still subject to the burning rays of the sun, according to F. S. Balassone, Chief of the Department's Division of Drug Control. Users should not be mislead by the discoloration, and assume they have acquired a protective coating from the sun. However, the oil does lubricate the skin, Mr. Balassone explained. Continuous application of the oil would act as a physical barrier to the sun's rays and offer some protection.

Mr. Balassone advised "moderate exposure and adequate protection according to the susceptibility of each individual."

Some Health Department suggestions are:

1. Know your type of skin and how easily and quickly it burns. Skins differ in their sensitivity to sunlight. Babies under two years and delicate children of any age need close watching when they start their sun baths.

2. Learn when and where the sun has greatest burning power. When the sun is high overhead, its rays are short, direct, and burning. As the sun goes down, its rays are slower to burn. Extra precautions are necessary at the beach. This is because there is a reflected glare from the sand and water in addition to the direct sunlight. Even when the sky is overcast, the sun can burn cruelly. Be careful on hazy days as well as bright ones.

3. Get your sun tan gradually. For added protection use a sun tan preparation. There are many sun tan preparations sold under trade names. To varying degrees, they are all intended to promote a tan and discourage a burn. Ask your pharmacist for advice regarding the type of preparation you need. Remember, even the best preparations give only partial protection, so watch the clock during your first days of sun-bathing.

How right she is! Cooking with a FLAMELESS Electric Range is COOL. The heat goes into the food, not throughout the kitchen. But that's only one of the reasons why electricity is the best way to cook.

Electric cooking is spotlessly clean — safe — the heat and the cooking time can be controlled exactly. Even difficult recipes turn out cook-book perfect time after time. Electric cooking is best for hot summer days—best for the other three seasons, as well.

Not In One Bite - - - -

The Department of Economic Development is working on a brochure which sells tourists a package picture of Maryland, without the usual geographical divisions of Western Maryland, Eastern Shore, Southern Maryland and other traditional terms of a sectional nature.

We wonder if in doing this, Robert A. Liston, chief of the tourist development and publicity section, realizes how large a project he has bitten off. It will be interesting to see how he chews it.

In spite of what he accurately calls the "smallness" of the State, Marylanders are, from the east to the west, as different in their personalities and cultures as a Maine Down Easter and a Texas ranchero.

The three hundred miles which separate the ocean from the mountains in Maryland are as varied in topography and people as the three thousand miles which stretch from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon.

This new idea is probably all right, but we never saw anything wrong with the old idea of selling Maryland as "America in Miniature." For Maryland is a state which can be savored only a little at a time, not gulped in one swallow as an oyster. To attempt to sell the crab pot and the maple sugar keeler in one package is going to take a lot of doing.

Mr. Liston points out, "Maryland is a small, compact vacation land in which there is much to do and see." This is true, but the visitor who attempts to do and see it all in one trip is apt to come away with the experience of one tasting a new recipe for the first time—"It's good, but what's in it?"

Maryland's varied ingredients are best when sampled separately.—W. W. C.

The tennis dance will be held at the Oakland Armory, Saturday, August 6 from 9:30 to 12:30. Gas Production Shows Big Drop In Three Months

County Receives $16,627.75, More Than $8,000 Less Than Previous Report

Reflecting a seasonal decline in gas usage, the quarterly report of production from local field, received yesterday, showed that 917,-946,930 cubic feet had been taken from the wells, compared to 1,352,-850,000 for the first three months of the year. The report this week covered the months of April, May and June.

The decrease was reflected in the amount of the check received from the gas companies by the County Commissioners as its share of the seven percent tax on marketable gas.

During the first quarter, the check amounted to $24,832.73; this time the total was $16,627.75. The total wholesale value of the gas produced was $237,539.20.

Thirty-eight wells were listed as producing gas, the same number as the previous report. Seventeen wells were listed under joint names of O. Eberly with 46.875 percent; Robert Eberly, 06.250 percent; William E. Snee, 45.31 percent and L. N. Murray, 1.562 percent.

These wells again were the biggest producers with the most productive being the Bowser well with 218,769,000 cubic feet.

Next on the list was the Barbara Miller well with 114,196,000 cubic feet. Other large producers were Earl Knox, 76,448,000 Herman and Hanlin, 74,677,000 and Black and Frazer, 62,560,000.

The Norris K. Welch well, which was the area's first producer, is still in the running, supplying over nine million cubic feet during the quarter.

The check is the third one to be received by the Commissioners this year, and brings the total for 1960 to $63,989.36. One more check is to be expected covering production during July, August and September. The check for the fourth quarter of 1960 will not be received until 1961.

The first $50,000 in any one year goes toward liquidation of the school indebtedness. The next $25,-000 goes toward expenses of the local hospital and any amount above $75,000 goes into fund for new school boildings, repairs, or additional new construction.

A percentage of the total received by the Commissioners goes to incorporated towns if a producing well is located within the corporate limits.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July, 1951, the county's governing body has received $509,909.62.

The complete report of the production by wells for the ninety-day period is shown in tabular form in today's issue.

Boat Licenses Increase

The Game and Inland Fish Commission reported this week that, during the past 20 years, the number of boat licenses issued for [illegible] craft on Deep Creek Lake had increased from 200 to 2,500.

Nixon Nominated On First Ballot

Richard M. Nixon was put in nomination for the presidency at the Republican National Convention Wednesday night on the first round of balloting.

Nixon, who had been assumed for some time to have the nomination in the bag, encountered only token opposition as the Republican delegates state after state chanted their votes for his nomination.

Previously, the long-debated Republican platform was adopted without a hitch and without a floor fight—a circumstance which had been feared by some party leaders.

The declaration of party principles—the GOP's answer to the "revolutionary turbulence that is wracking the world"—represented a merger of conflicting views along lines Nixon wanted.

It sailed through the convention with only a feeble chorus of "no" votes. The threat of a fight over the touchy civil rights issue had evaporated, even though the plank on the racial issue was the strongest the Republicans ever accepted.

The platform stands by the guiding principles of the Eisenhower administration but promises any necesssary increase in defense spending.

Nixon stood out alone, with nothing more than a token challenge to his nomination in the offing.

Dead certain of his own future with the party, the vice president named four men as front runners for nomination to second place on his ticket, although he said other men would be considered.

Henry Cabot Lodge, who talks tough to the Russians as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, headed the list, although Nixon specified no priority.

On it, too, were Sen. Thruston B. Morton, of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman; Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, who sparked the fire with his keynote speech to the convention Monday, and Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, a Texas Democrat who was converted into an Eisenhower Republican eight years ago.

To a degree probably unparalleled in history for a man seeking the political summit for the first time, Nixon had a firm, controlling grip on his party and its convention.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, of New York, the one man who might have given Nixon a run for the nomination, threw his arms around the vice-president's shoulder and pledged his "all the way" support of the Nixon cause.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, who is coming out of the convention as the new champsion of the GOP conservation wing, followed Rockefeller's lead in announcing he would withdraw his name if it were placed in nomination for the presidency. This vetoed the desires of a loyal following in Arizona, South Carolina and Mississippi.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower made farewell appearances at party gatherings before stepping off stage, to leave it all to the man he groomed for his successor.

Shaw's "Misalliance" Next at Playhouse

George Bernard Shaw's 1919 play, "Misalliance," is the next booking at the Garrett County Playhouse, and will be presented Tuesday through Saturday evenings at next week at 8:30.

One of the surprise hits of the theatrical season in New York, the play is a long-neglected but stimulating one which ran for all of three performances when it was first produced on the London stage in 1910.

The success of the revival enabled it to move to Broadway after an initial, widely-praised presentation at the New York City Center.

Whatever the reasons for this late acclaim, the production in 1953 was the first professional presentation in the United States since 1917 and won the unstinting praise of New York reviewers.

In this comedy of an English country family, John Fisher plays Mr. Tarleton, a wealthy underwear manufacturer, and the host for the incredible week-end party.

Judith Wlemken is Mrs. Tarleton, Peggy Lewis plays Hypatia, their daughter, who is a girl with a decided mind of her own.

Judy Knaiz and Fred Barrell play unexpected guests who literally drop in for the week-end, adding to the complications of an already involved house party.

Continuing through Saturday of this week is "The Girls in 509," a comedy with pseudo-political overtones.

$450,000 Oakland Water Bonds Sold; Construction Contracts Signed Monday

WATER CONTRACT SIGNED—Mayor Russell Smith this week signed contracts for construction of Oakland's new water system, which involves taking water from the Youghiogheny river instead of deep wells, as at present. Bonds to finance the $450,000 undertaking were sold during the past few days. In the picture, standing behind Mayor Smith, are Harold Harned and Emory W. Adams, members of the Water committee. On the right is Mrs. James H. Nordeck, clerk-collector for the town. (Story on this page.)

Largest Project In Town's History Now Underway

Completion Of Four Phases Of Work Expected In 360 Days

Two actions this week cleared the way for the most ambitious and expensive project ever undertaken by the Town of Oakland.

The first was an announcement that the town's $450,000 water bond issue had been sold to investors, and the second was the signing of contracts for construction of the plant and related projects.

Alexander Brown and Sons, of Baltimore, investment brokers chosen to handle sale of the bonds, advised town officials that the issue had been completely subscribed through various underwriters, with one firm contracting for $300,000 worth of the securities.

The bonds were sold at par at an interest rate of 4.1079 percent, which was considered "very good" by those familiar with the sale of municipal securities.

These bonds, it was pointed out, are serially maturing beginning with the first maturity in 1962 and continuing until 1991. They are in denominations of $1,000.

The First National Bank of Oakland will act as registrar for the bonds, and both principal and interest are payable at their offices in Oakland.

Contracts Awarded

Following sale of the bonds, town officials lost no time in signing contracts for construction work, on which bids had been opened June 16.

Four separate firms are involved in various phases of the work, which will result in a completely new and enlarged water source for the town and surrounding area.

Contract No. 1, calling for construction of a raw water intake and pumping station, on the Youghiogheny River, went to J. R. Savage, of Columbus, Ohio.

The second contract, for water mains, was awarded to the Tri-W Construction Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The largest single contract, that for construction of the water treatment plant, was given to White, Reynor, Marion Co., also of Pittsburgh.

Electrical work on the project will be done by the Perry Electric company of Pittsburgh under terms of Contract No. 4.

All firms submitted low bids on the various construction phases. Twelve bidders submitted estimates on the work outlined by Chester Engineers, of Pittsburgh, who have been consultants to the town and its water problems for many years.

Work on the first phase, Contract No. 1, was began last Thursday by the contractor, just one day after the contract was signed.

All contracts call for completion of the work within 360 days.

Resurfacing Work Planned At Accident

Route 219 through Accident will be receiving a resurfacing treatment during the first week in August according to the State Roads commission.

The work will consist of an application of bituminous material, followed by an application of No 7 stone chips which will produce a seal as well as a wearing course over the present surface.

This type application was recommended by State Roads Commission engineers, since the reconstruction of Route 219 between Accident and Keyser Ridge is now in the planning stage and at the time of reconstruction will include a surfacing of bituminous concrete pavement.

The announcement came following discussions between Senator Bernard I. Gonder and John B. Funk, Chairman-Director of the State Roads commission.

Football Light Fund Totals $5,000

The drive to raise $6,100 for lighting the Southern High school football field now stands at $5,000, according to Marvin Jones, president of the Boosters' club of the school, leaving a balance of $1,400 still to be raised.

Jones urged those who anticipate making contributions, and any person who has not been contacted by a committee member, to contribute now, as materials for the projects are expected to be on the site by August 15.

A number of persons have offered to contribute their services and labor for the erection of poles and stringing of wires, he said. Contributions may be made to Earl Adolfson or Dr. H. R. Gibson, Oakland, or to Mr. Jones at Mt. Lake Park.

Jones said a meeting of the club had been called for Monday, August 8, at 8:00 p. m. in Room 112 of the high school.

"This is an important meeting," he said, "and we urge the attendance of all people who are intrested in seeing the lights installed.

"We feel it is important that parents of football players attend, for we will be discussing matters which concern the players."

Two Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Only two persons were apprehended for violations of the Maryland motor laws during the past week, according to records in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney.

Clara Lucille Sanders, Crellin, charged with exceeding 50 miles per hour, forfeited collateral of $25.00.

Another Fined For Violation Of Dog Law

Another person was charged this week with violations of the county law requiring dogs to be licensed.

When tried before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney, Bushrod Hardesty pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00 and costs.

Joe Murphy, of the Pleasant Valley section, who was tried on the same charge last week and who pleaded not guilty, indicated he would appeal his $25.00 fine levied by the magistrate.

Murphy, who is said to have 17 dogs, none of which is licensed, based his plans for an appeal on his belief that "every man is entitled to have a dog and a gun."

Bus Operators Are Advised of Dates For Vehicle Check

Three days have been set aside for pre-school inspection of school buses, in order to allow more time to go over each vehicle thoroughly, according to Robert R. Martin, supervisor of transportation.

He said that inspections would be held on Monday, August 15, at Friendsville, from 9:00 to 10:00 a. m.; at Accident from 10:30 a. m. to 12:00 noon and at Grantsville from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

On Tuesday, August 16, vehicles will be inspected at Southern High school from 9:00 a. m. until 2:00 p. m.

Wednesday, August 17, operators may present their buses at Rohrbaugh's filling station from 9:00 until 10:00 a. m., and at Bloomington, from 10:30 a. m. until noon.

Martin urged bus contractors to prepare their vehicles carefully for the inspection. He said special attention would be given to steering, brakes, wheels, condition of tires, flasher lights and emergency doors.

He pointed out that all buses that have been in use ten years or more at the end of the coming school year would have to be replaced with new equipment.

"Our aim," he said, " is an accident-free year."

Violators of Boat Law Being Charged

State officials were continuing their campaign to enforce the new boating regulations on Deep Creek Lake, and a number of persons were charged with violations during the week.

On a charge of having no boat license, James E. Starba, of Hunkers, Pa., forfeited collateral of $10.00.

Donald G. Daugherty, also of Hunkers, on the same charge, forfeited the same amount of collateral.

Richard O. Burnside, of Kingwood, forfeited $10.00 collateral on a charge of failure to display his boat license.

On the same count, Walter Erbrecht, of Bridgeville, Pa., pleaded guilty and was fined $10.00.

Legislators Tour State Park Areas

Members of a sub-committee of the Legislative Council, toured state forest and park areas in this section over the week-end to inspect the sites and to note improvements which might be needed.

Included in the group were Sen. Bernard I. Gonder, of Garrett county; Sen. Charles M. See, of Allengany county; Delegate William M. Hoack, Frederick county; Delegate C. Clifton Virts, Frederick county; Delegate Charles W. Coss, Washington county, and Delegate J. Grahame Walker, Montgomery county, all members of the sub-committee.

Sen. Gonder said the group plans to inspect state park areas in other sections of the state and will then meet with representatives of the Department of Forests and Parks to discuss its findings and to recommend appropriations.

Women's Democrat Clubs Plan Meeting

The Women's Federated Democratic club of Garrett county will meet with Mrs. Harry Seggie, vice president, at her home in Accident on Monday evening, August 8, at eight o'clock.

An invitation to attend this and other meetings of the organization is being extended to all Democratic women of the county. The second Monday of each month is the regular meeting time.

Few Changes Noted In Program For Fair; Committees Completing Plans

Some changes in schedule events for the Garrett County Fair, to be held August 9-13 at Mellenry, are listed in a supplement to the premium book prepared by the Fair board.

The order of two parades has been reversed, according to Harry Collier, parade chairman. He said the Farmers' parade, originally set for Friday, would be held instead on Thursday, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

A commercial parade will be held Friday at 6:30 instead of Thursday as previously announced. Collier urged all persons or groups interested in participating in either procession to contact him at Accident. Prizes are offered for participants in the Farmers' parade.

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club will sponsor a chicken barbecue dinner on two evenings, Thursday and Friday. Serving will begin at 4:00 p. m. This has been a popular feature of past fairs.

Frankie's Amusements will set up on the grounds Monday and will operate each evening throughout the week. This is the same carnival company which has provided entertainment in previous years.

Monday Set-Up Day

Monday will be chiefly concerned with setting up the fair, and Tuesday, August 9, will be Entry day. From 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. entries will be placed and listed by the exhibitor.

C. & O. Head Now Opposes Three-Way Merger of Rails

The president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad informed two other rail presidents Tuesday that he is not interested in any three-way merger at this time.

The position, not exactly a new one for the C. & O., was made known to the operating heads of the Baltimore and Ohio and the New York Central railroads.

The effect of the announcement is that it puts the rail merger situation, so far as it concerns these three roads, back where it stood a month ago.

One week ago, directors of the B. & O. authorized their president to open talks which could lead to a merger of the three roads.

It was the C. & O.'s reply to the no-merger comment.

The announcement, however, did not close the door to an eventual consolidation, but made it clear that none would be attempted at this time.

CHEVROLET

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right; takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

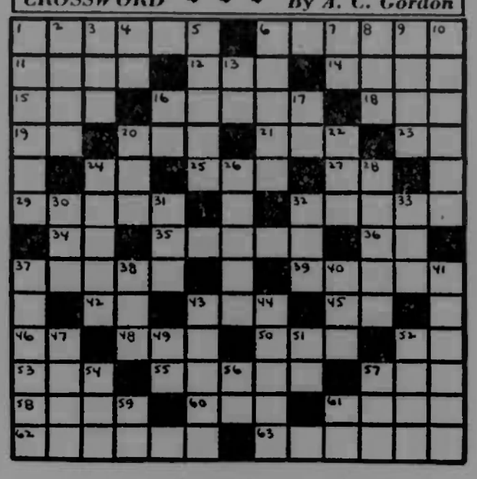
NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

Books in memory of William Hare have been presented to the library.

Gifts of books have been received from Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Jones, Sr., and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, the Rev. Luther Hare, the Geare family and Hazel Kennedy.



Summer in Garrett County offers excellent opportunities for nature study. The library has many books to help the amateur naturalist identify plants, birds, rocks and animals and to organize collections.

The "Golden Nature Guides" edited by Zim are pocket-sized handbooks which can be used by all members of the family. The "Peterson Field Guide Series", including among others "Field Guide to Trees and Shrubs" and "Field Guide to the Ferns" are more complete and detailed handbooks. They contain a great deal of information in compact form. "The Complete Field Guide to American Wildlife" by Collins covers birds, mammals, fishes and reptiles in one book convenient for carrying.

For rainy-day nature study at home or in the library there are a number of larger books with beautiful illustrations. "Minerals and Rocks", a new book by H. W. Pough, has many striking photographs in black-and-white and color. Many other books on birds, wild flowers, insects and snakes offer a great variety of nature photographs and paintings.

"Discovering Nature" by Gantz, Hammond's Guide to Nature Hobbies," "The Golden Book of Crafts and Hobbies," and "Field Book of Nature Activities" give many suggestions and directions for nature projects. Families who have tried some of these ideas have found them fun and worthwhile.

Helen Hittinger, Mabel Holliday, Dorothy Hotzel and an adult sponsor planned the evening in honor of the couple's sixteenth wedding anniversary.

The social room was decorated with roses, ferns, rhododendron and evergreens. The program was planned as an almost exact duplicate of their wedding day. Rachel and Kathleen Yoder, two small girls, sang "I Love You Truly." Patty Tice appeared in the dress of the little girl who had been flower girl. The vows taken by the couple sixteen years ago were played on a tape recorder.

Rev. Milton Miller, the minister who had married Rev. and Mrs. Tice, was present to help reminisce. Dorothy Wiley recited a prayer poem for the couple, followed by special prayer for the couple and the church.

Plan Butler Reunion

The annual Butler reunion will be held Sunday, July 31, in the Grantsville Fire hall, it has been announced.

THE AMERICAN WAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

This is the season of promises—political promises. From now until the election in November, politicians of all parties will regale you with the innumerable wonderful things they will do for you. All you must do in return is to vote for them. At least, that's what they tell you. But it might be a good idea to remember that before a politician can give you anything, he first has to take something away from you.

It is funny—perhaps a better word is sad—that free and independent Americans seem to be falling for the "let-the-government-do-it" idea at the very time when other nations are starting to question the wisdom of this intriguing but dangerous notion. Some years ago, New Zealand went all-out for what is known as the Welfare State—so-called government security from the cradle to the grave. Now the welfare chickens are coming home to roost in the form of terrible taxes and bureaucratic controls. And many New Zealanders are asking what is going to happen to their country. The government bureaucrats grab so much of the people's substance in order to make their endless handouts that enterprisers are giving up in disgust. They don't want to start new businesses or expand old ones—it's hardly worth the bother.

Over on the other side of the world, the Scandinavian countries are running into trouble with their Welfare State schemes. One of these countries has the highest suicide rate in the world—in a welfare-state "paradise", mind you! An expert speculated that this was due to sheer boredom. The government takes care of everything, so there is no challenge and no excitement. Another expert thought the high suicide rate came from an inability to face up to the smallest problems. If you leave all decisions to government, eventually the point is reached where making a decision for yourself seems an impossible task. This is another way of saying that under the Welfare State, or "letting-the-government-do-it," the character of the individual becomes soft through disuse.

But the most important point for Americans is that welfarism and freedom won't mix. No free society can go in for the Welfare State and remain free. Inevitably, the time arrives when a choice must be made. There are only two: Abandon welfare-statism—which means stop government handouts of all kinds—and return to freedom: or continue to the logical end of the Welfare State, which is complete socialism.

If you can keep from being blinded by the politicians' promises, the reason for the choice should be obvious. In a free society such as ours, government has nothing to give. Before it can give anything, it must first take away. There is no one to take from except the people and industries and commerce of the free system. For a while, such is the genius of the free society, it is able to support itself and the incipient welfare-state bureaucracy. But the bureaucracy grows and grows. So do the handouts. Eventually, the burden becomes too great for the free system, which produces everything, to bear. We must always remember that is is impossible to "give" anything which is not first produced—including money income. Bureaucrats produce nothing—they simply give away what other produce. So inevitably we reach the point which is now bothering the New Zealanders. It becomes no longer worthwhile to produce because the government grabs too much of what is produced.

But if people stop producing, how is the Welfare State to be maintained? Where will the bureaucrats get the wherewithal to make their handouts? There is only one way. The government—which means the bureaucrats—must step in and take over everything. And when they run everything, what becomes of the Welfare States earthly "paradise" — the "paradise' the politicians promise?

Well, take a look at Soviet Russia, where welfarism and socialism are fused into the Red Slave State. The average Russian may have something called "security," but where is his freedom? As for his "security," what is it worth? An American works three minutes to buy a pound of sugar. A Russian works more than an hour. The shirt on his back cost him two days' labor—at least 16 hours. An American buys a shirt with less than an hour's work. And when the Russian tries to drown his government-guaranteed "happiness" in a pint of vodka, he has to work six hours for it. An American can buy the same kind and amount of bottled cheer with a little over an hour's work. We might keep all this in mind during the coming weeks—whenever a politician promises us more government handouts.

Check Hunter Preferences

The Game and Inland Fish Commission, in an attempt to determine hunters' preferences regarding deer, has mailed a questionnaire to 337 deer hunters in Western Maryland. Opinions were asked as to whether they favored an antlerless deer season.

To date, replies received from about half of those questioned resulted in 66 in favor and 68 opposed. Thirteen had no preference. Follow-up questionnaires were sent to those who failed to reply.

The commission reported the game population outlook, up to now, as "very good." Reports from field men, farmers and others indicate that there are plenty of rabbits in most sections, squirrels, quail, deer, pheasants and dove. The commission has received encouraging reports from Western Maryland on turkeys and deer.

Revival To Start

A ten-day revival meeting will begin August 19 at 7:45 p. m. at the Dunkard Brethren Church at Swallow Falls.

Services will be held each evening, closing with an all-day meeting August 28 with a dinner on the church grounds.

Brother Eiden Flory, of Hart, Mich., will be the evangelist. The public is invited.

Is Your Name CASTEEL?

Casteel, an old and honored surname, is principally of English and Scottish origins. It is a transformation of Castle and therefore was often bestowed during mediaeval times upon those who lived in or near, or worked in, a large fortified building. This is in line with the practice, frequently followed, when surnames first came into vogue, of naming people in accordance with their occupation or place of residence.

Samuel Casteel served as a private in the Pennsylvania troops during the Revolutionary War. He was born in 1741 in Washington County, Pa.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has a listing of Catherine Casteel who was a resident of Maryland and head of a family at that time. She lived in Prince Georges County. As additional evidence that members of the Casteel family were among the early settlers of this country, it should be noted that the census figures of the same year for Pennsylvania show that Archibald, Ezedoch and Shedrick Casteel lived in that state. Shedrick Casteel lived in Bedford County and the other two made their homes in Elizabeth Township, Allegheny County.

Nathan Casteel was a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Oakland, Maryland in 1882.

Russell R. Casteel entered the employ of Olin Industries, Inc., in 1936, advanced through the ranks of the organization, and is now vice-president of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, with offices in East Alton, Illinois.

John Lawrence Casteel, a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University in 1927, started his career as a teacher of speech and some years later turned to the field of theology. He was ordained to the ministry of the Congregational Christian Church in 1942 and at present is professor of pastoral theology and director of the department of field work, Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Harland I. Casteel, an attorney of note, is a member of the firm of Campbell, Casteel and Thomas, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ernest W. Casteel is a member of the board of directors, Beaver Trust Company, Beaver, Pa.

Summer Cottage Is Damaged By Fire

Deer Park firemen were called at 4:30 p. m., on Saturday, July 23, to the Hazelhurst section of Deep Creek Lake when an oil stove exploded in the kitchen of a summer cottage. The cottage was owned by DeHert Mills, of Keyser, and occupied by William Wright, of Westernport.

Mr. Wright reported the family was fixing supper on an oil stove when it apparently exploded, sending blazing oil over the kitchen and a portion of the living room. Chief Charles Haines stated the rear portion of the structure was a mass of flames when the department arrived on the scene. The fire was promptly extinguished. However, extensive damage to the cottage and furnishings resulted. Some of the furnishings and a pocketbook containing a large sum of money were recovered.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Alice Humberson, who died one year ago, July 27, 1959.

one
Since God took you away,
And in that year of sorrow
We've missed you more each day,
We've missed your loving presence,
Your bright and sunny smile
We've missed your voice, your touch, your love.
That made our lives worth while.
But there's one consolation
And we all know it's true
That in God's House of Mansions
A place was made for you
So as we tread our paths of life,
Our hearts are filled with pride
We feel your loving guiding hand
Forever at our side.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

Male Menopause?

- Body Odor
- Rifle Deafness
- Indigestion

Q. Do men go through a change of life?

A. Some men, though not many, go through a "change" similar to the female menopause. Onset is later than in women and symptoms, if any, are usually vague. The "change," if it is noted at all, occurs gradually and without any effect as dramatic as the cessation of menstruation in the female. Doctors have effective ways of relieving male "change of life" symptoms as well as those experienced by the female during menopause.

Q. Are food odors, such as garlic and beer, given off through the skin?

A. Food odors may emanate from sweat, and hence may come "through" the skin.

Q. Is the loss of hearing due to firing of a rifle or pistol temporary or permanent? Should ear plugs be used?

A. It is generally stated that if the loss of hearing caused by firing of guns lasts longer than a week or so, it will be permanent. Once the condition has become permanent, there is no effective treatment. Ear plugs help prevent ear injury due to loud noises.

Q. Certain hard to digest foods, especially cucumbers, give me indigestion. Could this be a form of food allergy?

A. It could be, but food allergy very often causes symptoms not associated with the gastrointestinal tract. Eggs, for example, may cause hives, migraine headache, asthma or eczema, to list only a few of the possibilities. This business of "indigestible" foods causing indigestion is hard to pin down. English doctors ran various tests on 36 patients after they were given food that many people consider "indigestible." Only 4 experienced discomfort. The cause of the indigestion could be pinpointed in 2 cases but not in the others. The doctors concluded that the composition of food was not very important as a cause of dyspepsia or "indigestion."

Safeguarding the potency of certain biologicals, antibiotics, insulin and other drugs requires that they be kept under correct temperature control. To provide this essential safeguard, a glistening electric refrigerator is an important part of our prescription room equipment.

Venezuelan Agent-Farmer to Visit Here

A 25-year-old credit agent for an agriculture and livestock bank in Venezuela, who is in the United States to observe the American way of life, is scheduled to arrive Tuesday to spend most of August with a Garrett county farm family.

He is Ivan Nagel of Yaracuy, Venezuela, a Spanish native who has studied English, speaks Arabic and understands the French language. He is visiting this country in conjunction with the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Magruder and sons, Thomas, 18, and William, 13, who live on Aaron Run road, will be hosts to the young Venezuelan who completed a three year course in practical agriculture in this country.

Mr. Nagel and the two Magruder youths will have plenty of ideas to exchange in that the local boys are active in 4-H work.

Thomas, who graduated from Bruce High school in June, was an all-around student and plans to enter Western Maryland college at Westminster this fall to study music and minor in agriculture.

He is a 4-H All-Star and president of the Garrett County 4-H Council, a position he has held for three years. He recently returned from Penn State college where he represented Maryland in the Pennsylvania Boys' 4-H Leadership school.

He and his brother both belong to the Chickasaw 4-H club, one of the most active in Garrett County. William will enter the tenth grade in Bruce High this fall.

Last year the two brothers entered vegetables, rabbits, turkeys, chickens, flowers and 4-H projects in the Garrett County Fair. Thomas has taken top honors in the state in the turkey competition.

The two brothers and Mr. Nagel plan to attend the Maryland 4-H Club Week activities August 8-13 at College Park.

Mr. Nagel's trip to Garrett county was arranged through Rankin Lusby, assistant county agent, and the state extension office. The Magruders have a 315-acre farm and raise beef cattle.

Mr. Nagel will arrive from a farm near Lafayette, Ind.

Review of The Play

As timed and timely as some of Dave Hickey's wry comments in The Farce "The Girls In 509" which is being presented this week at the Playhouse, Producer Yeil is to be commended for his foresightedness in arranging for this comedy to be presented during the week of the Republican convention. We hope the former lends by Thursday night in order that the SRO sign may be hung out Friday and Saturday. It is good fun to have the two political parties spoofed in the manner of this week's show.

In passing it seems unfortunate there aren't more comedies written having to do with politics. In retrospect it occurs to me there was one around the turn of the century having to do with the Local Game of Politics as practiced in Indiana. Later there was the hit musical "Of Thee I Sing" which lampooned the political campaign, as well as the utter futility of vice presidential candidates. More recently we have had Born Yesterday" which dealt with influence peddlers and lastly this week's opus. This is about the list of those of a comedy nature. There have been some melodramas but not too many of this type. Among the best of these is Gore Vidal's "The Best Man" now running on Broadway.

"The Girls In 509" introduces to us two delightful fruit cakes who are related, in a fashion, to the Brewster Sisters in "Arsenic and Old Lace". The lady stockholder in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," as well as Elmer Dowd's memorable sister in "Harvey". In short the Josephine Hill or Marion Lorne type.

We have this week a show that is basically a two-person effort, aided and abetted well by two additional characters. There are the Vanderwyks—Aunt Hattie and Mimsy—Old Jim and Adam Pusey. The story is that of an elderly woman of pronounced Republican beliefs who takes herself and her niece to a New York hotel on the night "That Man" defeated Herbert Hoover for the Presidency. They become recluses and do not come out again until 1958. The change which they find in political philosophies provide much of the belly laughs as written by author Howard Teichmann.

Judy Kranz is Aunt Hattie and Peggy Lewis is Mimsy short for Mimosa. It is their show, particularly Miss Kranz who make the most out of the lines and business of the elderly aunt. As their two principal associates we have Jim Friedman as old Jim, a jack of all trades in the hotel where the Vanderwycks live, and Marty McGuire who is excellent as Adam Pusey. The very timid instructor in journalism who arranges for the belated debut of the two ladies into modern political activity.

Doubling at brass this week is Fred Isereil, who does a sort of Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee role as the two peas from the same pod heads of the national committee of the two major political parties. He, as a typical political mahout, provides some of the funniest lines in the show—as for example when asked what he stands for he states "We are for getting in again". Fred has his political cliches so well in hand that he might campaign for either party this fall. (Offers will be received.)

At the conclusion of the performance on Tuesday night the cast received the loudest ovation we've ever heard at the Deep Creek showplace, and justly so for a performance well executed. The first nighters loved it—so will you. Get down and renew your faith in the political party of your choice. Perhaps at the end you'll wonder which you are, a liberal conservative or a conservative liberal—but which ever—you'll have a lot of laughs in finding out.

This week's production was directed by Ray Caton, his first this year. He is to be congratulated for his staging and the pace he has achieved for the performance.

Today's old picture will no doubt bring back recollections to many readers, for it shows the office and force of one of Oakland's once-popular newspapers, The Garrett Jounral.

Founded in 1897 by James D. Hamill, the paper was published until about the time of the First World War. In 1913, the business was moved from the site shown in the photo, the room now occupied by Hamill's Stationery and Book Store, corner of Alder and Third streets.

Mr. Hamill sold his interest in the publication in 1912, and had a varied business experience as assistant postmaster and later with Thomas Little under the firm name "Hamill and Little" in the general merchandise business, corner of Oak and Third streets.

The two men in the picture have been identified as Charles Newman, in the center, a printer, and Mr. Hamill on the right. The identity of the two young ladies was not determined. Miss Isabel Hamill, who until a few weeks ago operated the stationery business at this location, said she could not recall who they were.

In addition to the newspaper business, a number of other activities occupied the attention of the staff, according to various signs visible in the original photograph. Among these were blank books and office supplies, magazines, stationery, school supplies and hand printed pictures.

In March, 1915, it was announced that "Mr. H. A. Rasche has purchased the presses, types and material of the Garrett Journal Office and consolidated them with that of the Mountain Democrat."

The Mountain Democrat, under a succession of editors, continued publication until fairly recent years, when it, too, was discontinued.

The photograph originally belonged to Miss Hamill, who turned it over to Henry Arnold for his old picture collection when she sold her business recently to John Murphy.

Persons interested in water skiing have formed an organization at Deep Creek Lake and have a number of activities planned during the coming weeks.

Two meetings have been held at Kight's Blue Barn, with the organizational session being on July 9. Then, William Hottman was elected president; Gale Townsend, vice-president; William Sisler, treasurer, and Joan Hoffman, secretary.

At the second meeting last Saturday, plans were made for a water ski show to be presented on August 28, sponsored by the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce and the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council. Events will include slalom and jump competition, floats, trick skiing, synchronized slalom skiing, clowns, pyramid building, brass bands and water ballet.

Additional plans include regular meetings, a regulation slalom course, building a ski jump, a club house, an official club jacket and instruction in skiing.

Purpose of the club, according to officers, is to promote and encourage safe skiing and enlarge the facilities for this sport at Deep Creek Lake.

Fishing Still Heavy In Deep Creek Area

Fishing reports from Deep Creek Lake, indicate exceptionally good fishing in the Deep Creek Dam-Red Run section of the lake. Fishing pressure remains good and large catches of Walleye are being taken in all sections of the lake.

The water temperature remains constant at 72 degrees. The weather conditions have been fair, sunny, and cool in the evening when fishing has been best.

Here is a run-down on who caught what and where:

E. G. Scott, Catonsville, Md., landed a 27", 5 pound Great Northern Pike while trolling an Abu Spinner in the Green Glade section of the lake. James L. Royce, Rockville, Md., fishing in the same area, took a 21", 2½ pound and an 18" Northern Pike. He too was using the Abu Spinner and was trolling. Later in the week, Royce hooked a 21", 2 pound, 6 oz. Chain Pickerel.

Baltimorian, Raymond Hardin, checked-in a 5 pound 20" Largemouth Bass which he took on a plug off a dock in the Penn Point section. Mr. C. M. Waltz, Jr., Sykesville, Md., creeled a 20", 4 pound Largemouth on the Abu Spinner. Mr. Waltz was using a light spinning rod.

A 15 inch, 2 pound Smallmouth Bass was caught by Jerry Jirgl, McLean, Virginia, while trolling a flatfish in the Pawn Run section of the lake. Charles Bowman, Oakland reported catching an 18 inch Rainbow Trout on a small flatfish while he was trolling in the Red Run inlet.

Dave McCuskee, Fairchance, Pa., hooked a 20½", 2 pound 10 oz. Walleye in the Red Run area. Fishing across from Smith's Run, Roy Purbaugh, Myersdale, Pa., took a 19" and 21" Walleye while trolling minnows. Another Pennsylvanian, Fred McGee, from Connellsville, caugh a 19½", 2 pound 7 oz. Walleye and a 19½, 2¼ pound Eastern Chain Pickerel at Holy Cross. Fred was trolling a flatfish.

M. Borgovn, Baltimore, fishing across from Point View, landed a 19" Walleye. This one was taken on a June bug Spinner and worms. Trolling an Abu Spinner in the Penn Point waters, Henry Baine took a 19½", 2 pound Walleye and a 21" Pickerel.

A fishing party composed of George Myers and Charles Smith, Westernport, and John White, Franklin, W. Va., brought home four Pickerel averaging 18 inches each and a 24" Walleye. They were all trolling flatfish in the Deep Creek Cove.

Oakland photographer, R. W. Morrow, displayed a catch of an 18" Walleye and a 17" Pickerel which he creeled while trolling the Abu Spinner at Red Run. Ralph Unke, Pittsburgh, Pa., landed a 20" 1 and ¾ pound Pickerel while casting a Club Minnow at Deep Creek.

A trolling Abu Spinner was the lure used by Fairchance, Pa., fisherman, Robert Wagner, to take a 2½ pound 22" Eastern Chain Pickerel from the Cherry Creek inlet. Fred McGee, Connellsville, Pa., found the Holy Cross area a good fishing spot Sunday, July 17. He took home a 19½" 2 pound 7 oz. Walleye and a 19⅛," 2 pound Pickerel. McGee was trolling a flatfish.

Another fishing party composed of John Yates and son, Uniontown, Pennsylvania reported a large catch of panfish. They were still fishing with worms in the Red Run area. The Yates' had an 8½" and 9" Bluegill among their catch.

Don Yoder, Meyersdale, Penna., still-fishing in Harvey's Peninsula, landed a 20" Pickerel and a 19½" Walleye on nightcrawlers. Anglers Russell Armbruster, Cumberland, Md., and Bill Ross, Monessen, Pa., reported a catch of four Smallmouth Bass measuring 19", 9½", 13" and 13½". They were all caught while Ross and Ambruster were still fishing with minnows in the Glendale Bridge waters.

According to creel census reports, Chain Pickerel fishing excelled fishing for most other species at Deep Creek Lake. The majority of the catches were taken in the Green Glade-Pawn Run vicinity.

Fishing success dipped from Wednesday through Saturday although fishing pressure increased. Week-end fishing pressure was particularly heavy.

Water temperature remained fairly constant with the average temperature being 75 degrees. Weather conditions were exceptionally favorable for vacationing with warm, sunny days pre-dominating although Monday and Tuesday were overcast and cool.

Here is a resume of fishing results:

Largemouth Bass

Three and one half year old Janet Pusey, Bethesda, Md., reported a 20" 4 pound Largemouth which she caught while trolling a "Cisco Kid Lure" in the waters of Turkey Neck Saturday, July 23. Smallmouth Bass James Hayden, Rowlesburg, West Virginia, checked in the largest Smallmouth this past week. His prize, a 21" 4½ pound fish, was taken near the Glendale Bridge. Hayden was still-fishing with a crayfish bait.

Malcolm Kight, Westernport, hooked a 19" Smallmouth while still-fishing with a lizard near the Greend Glade inlet. Pork rind was the lure used to creel a 14" 1 pound 3 oz. Smallmouth Bass fer E. C. Scott, Catonsville. Scott was trolling off the shore at Will O'the Wisp. Another angler, Richard Niccoli, trolling a sonic lure off Beckman's Peninsula, took home a 14½", 1 pound 5 oz. Smallmouth Bass.

Heiger, Jr., Baltimore, landed a 21", 2¾ pound Pickerel while trolling a Tony-Aseta Spoon at Will O'the Wisp.

Oakland All-Stars Bow To Frostburg

A 5-1 setback at the hands of Frostburg eliminated Oakland's All-Star Little League baseball team from district playoffs Monday evening on the local diamond.

The Frostburg team scored heavily in the first inning by coupling three walks issued by Bobby Lohr with three hits for three runs. Frostburg added single tallies in the fourth and fifth innings.

Oakland's lone tally was a round trip wallop by pitcher Lohr in the second inning. Bobby Seibert, pitching for Frostburg, shut out the local team after the second inning.

Frostburg nicked Lohr for five safeties, including a two-base hit by Stewart Shaner. Lohr's homer and single and Sharpless' double were all the hits credited to Oakland.

Looking over a section of the 45-acre corn planting on the W. H. Wildesen farm near Gormania in this county are L. Bush Swisher, Farming for Better Living project director, Mr. Wildesen and his son, John.

Progressive Farming Pays Off For County F.F.B.L. Enrollees

One of the largest acreages planted to corn in Garrett County is located on the farm of the W. H. Wildesen family near Gormania. Not only is the 45-acre planting a large one but Wildesen is using an experimental method of planting that may produce a higher ratio of yield in proportion to the work and investment required.

The fields were chiseled with a spring tooth harrow last fall. This opened them so that the winter rains were absorbed. This spring, the acreage was plowed and the corn planted by machine before 24 hours had elapsed. When the corn plants were 3 to 4 inches tall, the area was sprayed with a weed killer - 2, 4, D, and the corn cultivated once. After that, no more care is necessary, says Wildesen, until harvesting.

The corn will be used for silage and will feed the sheep, beef, and dairy animals on the farm. Wildesen has as his principal enterprise a milking herd of 35 Holsteins and a beef herd of 50 cows and calves. The farm of 580 acres took top county Farming For Better Living honors for Garrett county in 1955 when Mr. and Mrs. Wildesen were named the Garrett County Farming For Better Living champions. Since then, the farm program has been expanded with the Wildesens practicing a continuing program of crop, meadow, and pasture land reclamation. Many acres of land have been cleared of rocks and trees, and fertilized and limed, to bring the total acreage of woodlands on the farm down to just 60 of the 580 acres of the farm. Much of the timber cleared has been sold. Timber that could be used for lumber was sold to the Ilarco Lumber Company in Oakland, a new industry in Garrett county, and smaller hardwoods were sold to the Kingsford plant for conversion to charcoal.

As the corn is harvested and the four silos on the farm are filled, Mr. Wildesen said he is going to use a method recently developed by the University of Michigan to cut down on spoilage and improve quality. This is the topping of each wagon load of chopped forage with 10 pounds of urea and ten pounds of ground limestone. The addition is said to increase the protein content of the silage by one-half per cent and is thought to increase the lactic acid content also.

Wildesen has been reclaiming much of his undeveloped better lying land through the use of fertilizer, lime, and manure. The loose rocks are piled in natural ravines to assist in holding the soil in place, and to permit the more economical use of labor-saving farm machinery.

When the Wildesen family was named the Farming For Better Living champions in 1955, young Johnny Wildeson was ten years old. Now, at 16, he is becoming a big help on the farm and is developing his own farming program. He now has the chapter and regional degrees in his F. F. A. Chapter and is shooting for the degree of American farmer. Now with his junior year in high school coming up, he is using a flock of 151 ewes and lambs to put money in the bank for agricultural school at the University of Maryland. In addition to the sheep, John has 12 acres of corn, and eight steers and eight beef heifers. Fifty of his sheep flock are purebred Suffolk ewes. Johnny's brother, Tom, who is now 9 years old, has a dairy cow and a beef steer as his 4-H project for the year.

All in all, the Wildesen family is proof that farm families don't stop progressing just because they win a Farming For Better Living award. On the contrary, the Farming For Better Living award has apparently just spurred the Wildesen family on ahead in their goal of a better living through farming.

Tree Plantings Up In Western Maryland

Western Marylanders are planting more trees every year, according to District Forester F. Thomas Thayer.

During the 1960 spring planting in the four counties of his district—Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick—some 2,296,150 trees were planted, Mr. Thayer said.

This was the fifth successive year in which more trees have been planted. In 1956 there were 1,309,700 planted. The following year, the number planted was 1,609,000. In 1958 there were 1,854,300 and in 1959 the total was 1,907,300.

Most of the trees planted this year were placed on privately owned land. About 373,500 were planted on state forest land and about 25,500 on other state lands.

More than half of the rest were planted in Garrett county. Mr. Thayer's figures show 1,075 acres of this county were reforested. Allegany and Washington counties together reforested 551 acres. Frederick's tree planting covered 297 acres. It takes about 1,000 trees for each acre.

Development Corporation To Offer Stock Sale

Marylanders are being offered for the first time an opportunity to acquire stock in the Development Credit Corporation of Maryland, a unique corporation created by an Act of the 1959 General Assembly.

The Development Credit Corporation of Maryland recently published a Prospectus which describes the offering of its common stock to the public. This stock has been registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Alva G. Gortner, a director at the First National Bank in Oakland, is one of the Corporation's directors. The Advisory committee for Garrett County is composed of Frank Peters, Chairman, and Stuart F. Hamill Jr., Howard Naylor, and Henry E. Hupp.

The Development Credit Corporation of Maryland is complimentary in function to the State Department of Economic Development. Whereas the function of the Department of Economic Development is to publicize and to inform industry executives of the economic advantages of Maryland, the function of the Development Credit Corporation of Maryland is to furnish money and credit for the development of business, when such money and credit is not otherwise available.

According to its Prospectus, the Corporation "provides a medium through which resources of financial institutions of the State can be pooled to meet needs that no one of these institutions can supply alone." For example: A business concern that needs $150,000 to expand its plant may only be able to borrow $100,000 from a bank on a first mortgage basis. If the concern's finances are otherwise sound, it may then request a long-term loan from the Development Credit Corporation of Maryland for the remaining $50,000.

The law establishing the Development Credit Corporation of Maryland stipulates that its credit can be used only for projects which are expected to increase employment, otherwise stimulate economic growth, and only in situations where financing cannot be arranged through conventional channels. Thus, the Corporation serves to stimulate business, but does not complete in any way with normal lending institutions.

Among the Corporation's directors are prominent representatives of banking interests from all parts of the State. In each of Maryland's 23 counties and in the City of Baltimore, there is an Advisory Committee composed of leading citizens.

Travel Folder To Bid For Tourists

Maryland's Department of Economic Development is working on a four-color brochure which will attempt to promote Maryland as a "compact" vacation state in tourist information racks across the country.

"It will be an activities brochure, showing people what they can do—as well as see—in Maryland," Robert A. Liston, chief of the division of tourist development and publicity, said this week.

Liston said the publication, the first in a series planned to lure more tourists to Maryland, will get away from the sectionalism that has been traditionally associated with the state.

"We don't want people to think of Maryland in terms of geographical sections—such as Western Maryland, the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland—but as a small, compact vacation land in which there is much to do and see," Liston said.

He said the pamphlet will capitalize on the fact that the state covers only 300 miles at its farthest points—from the seaside of Ocean City to the mountains of Garrett County—and can be easily traveled.

The body of the B-47 pilot shot down by the Russians was returned to the United States.

No Fatalities In June

Garrett county experienced no fatal automobile accidents during June, according to a report of the State Police. They reported nine accidents occurred resulting in four instances of property damage and five accident resulting in personal injury to six persons.

Floods in Pakistan during the past week claimed 20 lives.

visions

When you are eight years old, it is not difficult to transform yourself suddenly into an Indian scout and to see a procession of chiefs, with their brightly colored feathered headdresses, galloping across the horizon astride magnificent stallions.

Children are fired with imagination, just as they are filled with faith. The faith of a child is something so simple and so beautiful that many an adult, viewing it, finds himself crying a little, deep down inside, for his own lost childhood and the touching innocence that was once his.

Yet before God, all men are children, His children, and Faith is there to be accepted, if men will but take it as a gift. The Church has the answer, showing you how to live like a man, while still possessing the heart of a child . . . helping you to get the very most out of life. If you haven't been to church lately . . . why not go this Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Road To Ruin

Lesson for July 31, 1960

THE BIBLE often speaks obscurely. There is much in it which is not clear even to men who have spent a lifetime of study in it. This is particularly true of the Old Testament prophets. They are hard for us nowadays, for several reasons. One is the translation, perhaps. But even the original is difficult, partly because many names of places and persons are used, and events are referred to, which are now unknown to us. Then the manuscripts were not always kept carefully (of course the original copies have been lost long since) nor copied accurately. And sometimes, on top of all that, the writer puts his thoughts in a very jerky, back-and-forth fashion. That is what we have in the prophecy of Hosea. In fact, most experts believe that we do not have continuous straight-away writing in this "book," but only what we today would call sermon notes instead of written-out sermons.

Dr. Foreman

Then and Now

Frankly, there would be little use in struggling to find out what Hosea is driving at, if he has nothing to say to our day and time. The book would be interesting as history, it would give us an insight into far-off times. But it would not speak directly to us. The reason why the church cherishes Hosea, and the other prophetic books of the Old Testament, is that we believe God still speaks through these words to us. Wherever we find a parallel case, wherever we find conditions today much like conditions in ancient Israel, whenever we find a prophet revealing the will of God regarding conditions which have parallels in modern times, there we hear the authentic voice of prophecy across the years.

One way in which Hosea's time and ours parallel, is that his nation of Israel was undergoing a period they would have said enjoying a period of prosperity such as had never been known before. Our level of living rises and rises in America. It may be true that our poor people possess certain luxuries unknown even to the rich and great in ancient Israel. But luxury is a comparative thing. The point is, as compared with a century ago the U.S.A. is a land of tremendous comfort and luxury, the most lavishly luxurious country in the world. So, as compared with a century before Hosea, his nation was far "fatter" as he would put it than it had ever been.

Luxury

Luxury is something nearly everybody wants. But a flame is something every moth wants. And one is about as dangerous as the other. There are invisible dangers in the luxurious life. One is that it makes cowards out of people. An Indian poet put his finger on it: When a man thinks of comfort first, he said, he has given up his freedom. He becomes such a slave to his comforts that he will not fight to preserve them. Not only so, but luxury eats into a man's moral strength. We have seen in our time how men and women cheated on the TV quiz programs. They knew they were not honest but they excused themselves by the fact that they were making their lives comfortable on a scale their school-teacher salary — or whatever it was — could never reach.

Destruction

Whenever a great nation has collapsed, the final catastrophe has usually been preceded by a period of immense wealth and luxury. It has been true of ancient dynasties in China. It was true of Hosea's Israel. It was true of Greece and Rome, of Carthage and Spain. It can be true of ourselves. The nation that runs to luxury has the means to preserve itself, but it has lost the will. Besides, a nation that clings to luxury is falling into idolatry. For an idol is, essentially, something for the sake of which you will sacrifice everything else. In times gone by idols were made of wood and stone; now they are made of chrome and porcelain and steel and aluminum. God has withdrawn His protecting hand, before now, from idolatrous nations. Will he make us an exception?

Tomato and Potato Fields Need Spraying

Tomato and potato fields should be sprayed to protect them from loss due to plant diseases.

Late blight, apparently originating from seed-piece infections in potato fields, is reported from southeastern Pennsylvania, (Adams, York and Lancaster counties). Cool, wet weather favors the spread of late blight.

Dr. L. O. Weaver, University of Maryland plant pathologist suggests that tomato fields be protected from losses due to early blight, anthracnose, grey leaf spot as well as late blight. Early blight and leaf spot cause yellowing and rapid defoliation of leaves when the plants are carrying a heavy crop. Anthracnose is a disease of ripe fruits.

Tomato spray mimeos are available from county agents. Limitations of pesticides with regard to residues are listed on the mimeo. Fungicides zineb and maneb are recommended. Spraying is necessary to produce a crop, especially in wet year or when vines are rank.

Rugged Indicidual - - -

It seems a young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus, and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his national life insurance. He then enrolled in the State University, working part time in the State capital to supplement his GI check.

Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse, and bought a farm with an FHA loan and then obtained a Small Business Administration loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the Government.

Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments helped pay off his debt. His parents lived comfortably on the ranch with their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity. The Government helped clear the land. The county agent showed him how to terrace it, then the Government paid part of the cost of a pond and stocked it with fish. The Government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products.

Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a Goverament agency insured. His children grew up, entered public schools, ate free lunches, rode free busses, played in public parks and swam in public pools. The man owned an automobile so he favored the Federal-aid highway program.

He signed a petition seeking Federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new Federal building and a new post office and went to Washington with a group to ask Congress to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get "cheap electricity."

Then, one day, he wrote to his Congressman:

"I wish to protest excessive Government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting Government handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution."

Grantsville Polio Victim In Ambulance "Ride For Life"

Little Stella Merrbach, 12-year-old Garrett county girl, who was rushed to City hospital in Baltimore from a Cumberland hospital last week, was reported improving in health and was undergoing extensive laboratory tests this week to determine the extent of the attack of bulbar polio.

The girl had a race with death at 105 miles per hour as she sped toward the hospital. Doctors had said Stella, of near Grantsville, was in "dire need of oxygen" when the ambulance, red lights flashing and siren screaming, screeched to a halt at the emergency entrance to the hospital. She was rushed to surgery where a tracheotomy was performed and a breathing tube placed for emergency use.

The girl became ill several days ago and was admitted to Memorial hospital in Cumberland last Wednesday. Her condition deteriorated and her doctor made arrangements for the trip to Baltimore. The race for life began Saturday afternoon at 12:07 when the ambulance driven alternately by Thomas Litton, and Roy Cowgill, roared out of Cumberland behind a police escort. Besides Stella and the two drivers, two nurses from the hospital and the child's older brother were in the ambulance. The nurses began administering oxygen just east of Hagerstown, and the supply was running low as they neared Baltimore. Litton said he spotted a Baltimore city police car and told the officer of the little girl's plight. The policeman radioed for another patrol car. When it arrived they sped off with one crusier before and one behind the ambulance. City hospital physicians said Stella desperately needed a fresh supply of oxygen by the time she reached them.

While classed clinically as suffering from polio the exact nature of the illness will not be known until after the lab tests are completed.

Stella is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Merrbach. She was still listed as critical but was breathing without artificial aid.

The illness seems to be confined to a limited area of the nervous system and apparently has not affected peripheral nerves, so that

Boosters to Meet

All workers who are planning to help install the lights at the football field, and other interested persons are being urged to attend a meeting of the Southern High Boosters on Monday evening, August 8, at 8 o'clock at the school.

Marvin Jones, president, said that materials for the installation of the lights are arriving daily and it is hoped that the work of installing the lights can begin around August 15. Details of the work of installation will be obtainable at the meeting Monday night.

Jones also urged parents of football players to attend. He said the total amount of contributions to date had reached $5,000, but that additional donations were being solicited. He asked the assistance of volunteers to add more red to the sign on the court house lawn. The red thermometer has been keeping people informed as to the amount of contributions.

Escapes Tank Truck Tragedy By Seconds

Mr. and Mrs. James Friend and Ralph Smouse, of Oakland missed becoming victims of the acid-drenched tragedy near Bloomington Tuesday morning by only a few seconds.

Smouse, who operates a fender and body shop in Oakland, was enroute home from Baltimore with the Friends when the accident occurred claiming the lives of two persons.

Smouse said he was traveling along State route 135 when he heard a terrific roar and saw a cloud of white smoke engulf an automobile which was only a few feet away from the wrecked acid-laden truck.

Smouse said Mrs. Friend screamed but he didn't know just what to do. He said he was afraid to stop, afraid to go, and just let the car continue to move along. Acid covered the highway so quickly he experienced trouble in controlling the sedan. When he finally stopped on the far side of the wreckage his front end was resting against guard rails.

Smouse said the fumes were so thick "you couldn't see your hand in front of you." He told officers: "As soon as my car stopped we all jumped out and I went to the scene and helped some other truckers try to pull out the bodies." This was effected at 8:18 a. m. Safety officials of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company praised the work of Smouse, pointing out that he assisted firemen, police and others in every phase of the work.

AT CRASH SCENE—The highway near Bloomington looked like this Tuesday morning following a crash of two trucks, in which two persons were killed. The wreckage on the right is that of a tank truck carrying 2,500 gallons of hydrochloric acid which ran wild into a parked pulpwood truck at the foot of Backbone mountain.—Picture courtesy Cumberland Times.

Runaway Acid Truck Kills Two At Foot Of Backbone

Machine Smashes Into Pulp Truck Near Bloomington Early Tuesday

Two young men were killed about 5:05 Tuesday morning, when a tractor-trailer hauling 2,500 gallons of hydrochloric acid went out of control on Backbone mountain, east of Bloomington and plowed into a loaded pulpwood truck parked near the wood yard of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company.

Dead were Thomas Lee Farrier, 21, of Belle, W. Va., driver of the tanker rig, and Glenn Morehead Snyder, 26, of Levels, W. Va., who was believed to have been asleep in the cab of the parked log truck.

It was not known whether Farrier had lost control of his rig at the top of the four mile mountain or near the bottom. However the impact of the crash hurled large logs and metal as high as 30 feet into the air.

Dale Lyden, Lonaconing night watchman at the wood yard, said he was punching a time clock at the lower end of the yard when he heard the whine of the tractor-trailer as it came through Bloomington at a high rate of speed. He said it was still dark. Within seconds the huge rig zipped across a nearby bridge and tracks used to haul the logs from the yard to the mill and into the parked log truck. The impact sounded like an explosion. Mr. Lyden called the guard at the main gate of the mill to report the accident and asked for police and firemen.

The two victims were buried under tons of steel, pulpwood and the acid which spewed out onto the highway. Police, firemen and others worked about three hours before they were able to remove the bodies from the acid-drenched wreckage.

Several other pulpwood trucks were parked near the entrance to the wood yard, but were not involved. One driver, Olen McDonald, Maysville, W. Va., asleep in a

The group will lunch at Deep Creek Lodge and then in all probability will visit the Garrett county fair.

Treasurer To Notify Taxpayers In Area

Letters are being sent out to all delinquent taxpayers next week informing them that the treasurer is making necessary arrangements to collect delinquent taxes.

Joseph Welch, county treasurer, informs each delinquent that on September 1 he will have an attorney prepare the necessary publication notice, which will mean an additional $7.50 to pay plus taxes and interest for each delinquent to prevent the property from being sold.

In the event the taxes, interest and notice costs are not paid by October 6, the treasurer plans to proceed to advertise the property, in which event the additional costs will be $15.55 plus taxes and interest.

He urges taxpayers who save the additional costs and pay their taxes before September 1. Treasurer Welch pointed out that he had no alternative in the matter, since he is directed by law to follow the procedure set forth.

Flight From Police Of Brief Duration

Ray E. Noland's flight from constituted authority was of brief duration last week.

Brought before the trial magistrate, Robert M. Maroney, on a charge of non-support of his wife and two minor children, State's Attorney Dwight Stover prayed a jury trial and magistrate Maroney set bond at $1,000, property, or $500 cash bond. Since both Noland and deputy sheriff Wayne Wilt had their automobiles, the latter told Noland to meet him in front of the jail. Noland, resident of Mt. Lake Park, failed to meet him at the jail. He was picked up the following day by Sheriff James E. Frantz and State trooper first class, Robert Henline, and remains in custody.

Calvin Baker, also charged with desertion and non support of his wife and five minor children, pleaded not guilty before Magistrate Maroney last Wednesday. He was declared guilty and sentenced to serve a year in the House of Correction.

Bids Are Opened

A Frederick construction firm Tuesday submitted the apparent low bid for the improvement of U. S. route 219, in this county.

Bids opened by the Maryland State Roads commission in Baltimore showed that the T. Edgie Russell firm bid $554,958.10.

The Cumberland Contracting company, the only other bidder, offered to do the work for $671,240.20.

The contract includes 1.72 miles of route 219 running from Hoyes road to McHenry. It calls for the grading, drainage, reconstruction and surfacing of the highway.

Modernization of route 219 is a part of the SRC's five-year speed up of the state's primary highway system.

A third Polaris shot was fired by atom sub, hitting target some 1,150 miles off Florida.

Work Will Begin On Ending Pollution In Youghiogheny River

Concrete plans to end pollution in the Youghiogheny river were mapped out at a second meeting of representatives of two states held Tuesday at Blackwater Lodge, near Davis, W. Va.

State Senator Bernard L. Gonder, who was among those attending said West Virginia had agreed to start its program by clearing up the pollution coming from the strip mining operations around Freeport.

Maryland authorities said it would start its part of the program by clearing up the area around the Banner mine of the Stanley Coal company, near Crellin.

Cooperation of both states was promised at a meeting held in mid-July. The job is to seal off mine openings that are at present allowing sulphur water to enter Laurel run which empties into the Youghiogheny river. Mine pollution for the past forty to fifty years has completely eliminated the Yough from its once important position as an ideal trout stream.

The Maryland work will be in charge of Frank J. Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Attending Tuesday's session were Bern Wright, Paul C. Limpp, C. R. Duncan, Richard G. Hunter, Leslie Ryan, John D. Bell and Tom Laulis from West Virginia agencies; State Senator Gonder, Delegates Elza Bray and Leslie Savage, Garrett county; James H. Close, Mr. Powers, Robert D. Ewing, Paul W. McKee, Sylvin Belkov, from Maryland agencies.

Another meeting is scheduled for October 25th, at which time a report of progress will be made and plans made for additional work.

Elk Garden Youth Killed by Tractor

A 16-year-old Elk Garden boy was killed instantly Tuesday afternoon when he was pinned beneath the farm tractor he was operating.

The youth, Robert Howe Keplinger, who would have been 17 Wednesday, was driving a tractor on the farm of Gilbert Brown when the vehicle upset.

The youth was pulling a wagon full of hay when it overturned as he started up a hill. Two other boys who were riding the wagon escaped injury. Mr. Brown, who was in the field at the time, witnessed the accident.

West Virginia State police investigated and Dr. Ralph Calandrella, Kitzmiller physician, pronounced the boy dead at the scene.

The victim would have been a senior this fall at Elk Garden High school. He was a son of Paul H. and Josephine Sheetz Keplinger.

Surviving are his parents, eight brothers and sisters.

Plans For New Power Plant In Canaan Valley Announced

7,000 Acre Reservoir Would Provide Possibilities For Recreational Use

Plans for development of a major coal-burning electric power plant in the Canaan Valley, on the shores of a 7,000-acre reservoir that would offer extensive recreational possibilities, were disclosed this week by Don Potter, president of Monongahela Power company.

The project, which Potter explained is still in the planning stage, with no time table for construction as yet set up, would mean broad economic benefits to the Davis-Thomas-Parsons area.

First step would be a dam on the Blackwater, three miles upstream from Davis, forming a giant-sized "cooling pond" to serve power generation facilities, at an approximate cost $1,000,000.00.

First unit of the proposed power plant would cost in the neighborhood of $40,000,000.00, with other units to follow. The generating station would mean much in the way of coal mining payrolls, since it would burn large quantities of coal from the immediate area.

Since the primary purpose of the huge pond, would be to provide cooling water for the power station's condensers, the water would be maintained at a constant level, permitting development of the waterfront area for recreational and tourist uses.

Potter said that the development, once it is approved, will be carried on by the entire West Penn Electric System, of which his company is a part.

His announcement of the project came at this time to dispel conflicting rumors that have resulted from the utility system's activities in the area. Engineering surveys and acquisition of land had excited public interest and speculation.

"There's a lot of work to be done on this proposition before actual work is started", Potter said, "but it is very definitely a part of our planning for future power supply. Our requirements are growing and this area, with its extensive seams of coal easily available, lend itself ideally to the

Election Board Issues Reminder On Registration

A reminder of the registration technicalities before a person is allowed to vote in the coming general election was issued this week by the Board of Supervisors of Elections. The general election will be held on Tuesday, November 3.

Persons whose names were removed from the registration books for failing to vote during the past five years must re-register before the registration books again close on September 26, if they plan to vote in November.

It was also pointed out that persons who have come into Maryland from other states must have been in the state for at least one year. Those coming from other parts of Maryland outside the sixth Congressional district must have a residence of six months. Residents from Allegany, Frederick, Washington, or Montgomery counties who have moved into this county may sign up and vote without prior residence.

Wednesday, August 24, district 9, Johnson, in Edward Robeson building, 4 to 8 p. m.

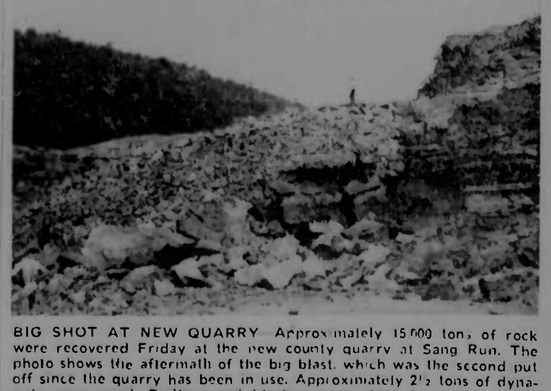
Miss Julia Rowan, chief registrar, announced that the office of the Board of Supervisors of elections would be open Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon. On the days of outside registration the office will be open from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon. The office is located in the basement of the court house in Oakland.

Governor Tawes proclaimed August 13 and August 14 as a Deathless week-end.

Shirer Low Bidder On Harco Buildings



William A. Shirer, contractor, was the low bidder on the buildings to be constructed for the Harco Lumber company just east of Oakland, through arrangement with the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. Shirer's bid was $64,491.

There were two other bids: Hardesty of Oakland bid $72,839, and Sensabaugh, Cumberland, bid $81,900.

Earl Zepp, member of the C. of C. committee in charge of the project, said Shirer would be awarded the contract within a few days.

The contract calls for erection of three buildings of steel and masonry, one building 60 by 190, 24 feet high, one 64 by 30, 34 feet high and a boiler house 10 by 60.

The county plans to do some grading in the area, after which the contract calls for completion of the structures in 60 working days. Zepp said he hoped to have the buildings in operation by fall.

BIG SHOT AT NEW QUARRY—Approximately 15,000 tons of rock were recovered Friday at the new county quarry at Sang Run. The photo shows the aftermath of the big blast, which was the second put off since the quarry has been in use. Approximately 2½ tons of dynamite were used. Drilling and blasting were done by county roads personnel using the department's air propelled, tread mounted drill. Cost of the blast was estimated at $2,500, which roads officials said was from $500 to $1,000 less than comparable blasting at the old quarry for the same amount of rock recovery.

Try Our Want Ads—They Pay

Rev. Jim Harding

In Romans 12:3 the Bible says "... GOD hath dealt to every man the measure of faith." GOD deals to every individual a measure of faith. Everyone comes into this world with it—YOU have it; I have it. Some may not use their measure of faith; Some may lose it; some may misuse it; Some may learn how to use it well, but each of us starts life with a measure of faith.

When someone approaches me and says, "Bro. Harding, I have all the faith in the world," immediately a question comes into my mind: If you have, why has it taken so long for YOU to put it into practice? You can have all the faith in the world but until it becomes action positive, motivating attitude, your faith is powerless.

Faith is the very heart of the BIBLE, a teaching. YOUR faith can become a living force, when it does it becomes a weapon, an instrument of deliverance, a mighty power that brings you to GOD and what He has promised you.

Here is a word from a lady in one of our meetings:

This is to certify that I, Mrs. Norris Fike, was prayed for in one of Brother Harding's meetings at the Grand Theatre in Friendsville and God removed a goitre from my neck that had been on there for 42 years. I have proof that it isn't there anymore.

Box 87
Friendsville, Md.

Power Plant

Potter said his company hopes to have the active cooperation of local, state and federal agencies in the development of a comprehensive land-use plan for the area affected by the project. Development of the area's recreational and scenic potentialities would be a part of this planning. And, anticipating that the low-cost power supply would be an incentive for manufacturing plants to locate in the area, Potter said there is a real need for zoning which would permit industrial development close to the power supply but removed from the immediate area of the pond so as to preserve its scenic and recreational advantages.

The pond is necessary as a source of cooling water for a steam power plant, he pointed out. Stream flow in the Blackwater would not be adequate for a modern power plant, but the water supply problem can be met with a storage reservoir such as is planned. The water would not be consumed but would merely pass through the plant to cool the condensers before being returned to the pond.

Most of the area to be covered by the impoundment would be "cut-over" forest and marginal land owned by another company in the West Penn Electric system. The company several years ago gave to the state of West Virginia a tract of 1,003 acres from its holdings in Tucker county to permit the development of Blackwater Falls State Park.

A Dangerous Type

Bulbar polio was designated by Dr. Arthur Jones county health officer, as one of the most dangerous type, necessitating in many cases the use of the iron lung, and sometimes causing sudden death.

The case brought to the forefront again the apparent lack of interest in having the polio vaccine administered. This particular patient had received no previous inoculations against the disease. Dr. Jones once again stressed the importance of polio immunization. He said the price of caring for one polio victim is more than equal that of the cost of immunizing the entire county.

He added that at present the manufacturers are somewhat behind in making the vaccine and that requests for vaccine may be held up for as much as two weeks, but he said the local department did have the vaccine and that all eligibles throughout the county could be accommodated.

Cost of the present case will fall to the Garrett county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Charles L. Briner, county chairman, said expenses would have to be curtailed as receipts from the drive last January amounted to less than $1,000. Ambulance, nurse and doctor charges were estimated at over $300 with an additional $27.50 per day for hospital. Briner also urged that parents make certain that their children receive the Salk vaccine.

Vandals Damage Baseball Diamond

Vandals wrecked the Loch Lynn baseball field last Friday night, July 29, according to some citizens of that community.

They tore down and damaged all of the fence surrounding the field and broke up all the benches.

No arrests have been made and thus far no clues have been found that would indicate who the guilty parties are.

Lough Gets New Position

John D. Lough, Morgantown, W. Va., has been appointed to the position of area development representative by the Hope Natural Gas Company, effective August 1.

truck directly behind the Snyder truck, said he heard a roar and awoke to see the tanker ramming into the pulpwood truck. He leaped from his truck and stepped into a two-foot ditch which was overflowing with the acid. He then jumped into Savage river to wash off and was taken to the first aid station at the Luke mill for treatment of minor acid burns of his right leg.

Firemen from Bloomington and Lake connected hose to water hydrants at the wood yard and washed down the area in an attempt to dilute the acid.

Enroute to Mill

The tanker was hauling the 14 tons of acid to the paper mill from Charleston, W. Va. The substance is used to wash out boilers at the plant and the project was slated to begin Tuesday. Officials said the acid from the Dow Chemical company was 28 percent weight and 72 percent mostly water solution. Also on the trailer were about 600 pounds of caustic in cans and about 600 pounds of soda ash in bags which tended to neutralize the acid.

Police said at some spots on the highway the acid substance was as deep as a foot. Authorities were unable to determine whether the truckers died from the impact of the collision or from burns from the potent acid, which is also used in the reduction of wood to pulp. The "Mess" at the scene handicapped authorities in piecing together minor details of the accident.

Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., Oakland physician, as deputy state medical examiner, officially pronounced both truck drivers as dead.

The mishap occurred just a few hundred feet from the Allegany-Garrett county line.

Sgt. Harry S. Bosley, Tfc. Bruce Diehl and Tfc. B. J. Chabot, of the Maryland State police were on the scene, as were many other persons to help in cleaning up the wreckage and extricating the bodies.

"3 Men on a Horse" Next Play Offering

"Three Men on a Horse," will be the next offering of the Garrett County Summer theatre at the playhouse at McHenry. The play will be presented next Tuesday through Saturday under direction of Gene Yell.

The offering concerns a bewildered Erwin Trowbridge, as played by John Fisher, who tries to cope with some new found race-track friends who are made wealthy by his uncanny ability to dope out all the races.

Nothing more exciting than quarreling with his wife and brother-in-law, and writing greeting card verse for $10 a week, had ever happened to Erwin until one morning when, instead of going to the office he became friendly with some horse-players. Once they had latched on to Erwin they had no intention of letting him get away. Erwin gets caught up in the excitement that follows quite innocently, because the minor poet, it seems, had until this time merely figured out "on paper" the winners of horse races, a harmless enough hobby, since he had never bothered to back his guesses with a bet, or even a visit to a track. But his prescience about winners is a gold mine to the gang who wish to exploit it and Erwin becomes their helpless captive as hilarious complications pile upon one another.

Others in the cast are Judith Wiemken, Judy Knaiz, Peg Lewis, Fred Burrell, Jim Friedman, Stephen Wagner, Richard Dorian, Ray Caton, Sallie Lutin and Marty McGuire.

The balance of this week the playhouse cast is offering "Misalliance."

Asked To Save Ice Cream Sticks For T. B. Patients

Officials of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association are urging citizens of Cumberland and Garrett County, along with the youngsters, to join the many persons who collect ice cream sticks, to wash them and send them to the association for the use of tubercular patients in Maryland hospitals.

These patients at Henryton, Victor Cullen, Mt. Wilson and Pine Bluff Tuberculosis hospitals, pass the lonely hours by making trays, ashstands, lazy-susans and many other useful articles out of the ice cream sticks.

They use about 20,000 sticks each week, the association officials said, and the sticks should be sent to the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association, 129½ So. Liberty Street, Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proudfoot and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Shaffer are vacationing in Myrtle Beach, S. C.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT... Better Health Through Knowledge

Rover's Hearing

- Gargling
- Cancer & Transfusions

Q. My dog can hear my whistle perfectly well but seems to have no idea which direction the sound is coming from. Does this type of hearing difficulty occur in man?

A. The ability of man or animal to localize sound requires equal hearing in both ears. It is for this reason that a person who has lost the hearing in one ear, or whose hearing is appreciably different in the two ears, has considerable trouble in pinpointing sound.

Q. Does gargling with salt water have any value in preventing or overcoming sore throat?

A. We know of no medical evidence that gargling has any effect in preventing or curing throat infection. However, gargling with warm salt water may be somewhat soothing.

Q. If a person with cancer donated blood could the individual receiving the blood develop cancer?

A. No, not as a result of the blood transfusion. At the present time there is no known way for cancer to be passed from one person to another. Cancer seems to be infectious or disease-producing only in the person who has the disease. For example, in a person with breast cancer, some of the tumor cells could break away and start a growth in some distant part of the body. On the other hand, the same cancer cells can be injected into another person without harm. It is only in specially bred laboratory animals that resistance to "outside" cancer cells has been broken down. Such animals must be inbred and subjected to procedures that would never be used in humans.

Three o'clock in the morning is not the time to acquaint your physician with symptoms that have bothered you for days. If you develop trouble, call or visit your doctor during his office hours. Don't wait until the illness becomes acute.

Top Quality Players In Tennis Tourney

After being delayed for part of a day because of rain the thirty-ninth annual tennis tournament for Western Maryland championships expected to resume play today with seed players coming through as expected.

There are forty-two entries in the men's singles event, with what is considered as the most talented array of players in a number of years. Tim Coss heads the seeded players. He is ranked No. 1 in the Middle Atlantic states and has won the Middle Atlantic championship upon a number of occasions. Other seeded players include Fred McNair, Philippe Neff and Doyle Royal.

Today's matches will bring the conclusion of the second round, providing the sun remains out to dry off the courts.

In the women's events, some eleven persons were entered. Play in the women's singles will get started possibly today. Doubles entries will get underway tomorrow.

All finals matches are set for Saturday afternoon on the Mt. Lake Park courts.

A feature of the week's entertainment for tennis entrants and others is the public dance to be held in the National Guard armory in Oakland. Music for the event will be furnished by Wally Gingers and his orchestra, featuring ten musicians, including Jacky Nicolette, of Pittsburgh, noted pianist.

May Form Civil Air Patrol Squadron

The possibility of forming a civil air patrol squadron in this county was announced this week by Civil Defense workers here.

A meeting is scheduled for Thursday evening, August 11, at which time two top officials of the Maryland Wing Civil Air Patrol will discuss the program with interested persons.

The meeting which has been in the planning stage for some time, will be senior members, 18 years of age and over. However, it was pointed out, as soon as a charter is given and a squadron formed, then a cadet program will be inaugurated which will be open to youth aged 14 and up. Women as well as men are eligible to belong to the group.

The place of meeting is to be decided the first of next week and those interested may call Fred Tichnell, DE 4-2168. At least fifteen people must be interested in the program to make a charter available.

Escapes Injury

A Swanton area man escaped injury Monday night when he ditched his two-ton truck on route 135 about a mile west of Bloomington.

James Christopher, 28, route 1, Swanton, was driving east on Backbone mountain when the vehicle came out of gear. The driver went over the embankment to the right of the highway. The vehicle turned over on its side but the driver apparently was not hurt.

The accident occurred at 7 p. m., according to Tfc. Bruce Diehl, who investigated.

Rains from tropical storm Brenda dumped over 2 inches of rain in Baltimore, and flooded areas of Southern Maryland and eastern shore.

Review of The Play

This week's offering at the playhouse in a way puts the reviewer in a bit of a spot. The reason for this being that finally George Bernard Shaw has been presented in Garrett County.

For one to say that he didn't care too much for this week's play puts one in the somewhat unenviable spot of being accused of not being properly appreciative of one of England's better known modern writers. One may also be considered an intellectual snob if he thinks everything which bears the Shavian imprint as being the last word in theatrical endeavor. Actually it is considered in some areas quite the thing to become just a little too enthusiastic concerning the bearded Irishman's barbs. So in any attempt to discuss Shaw objectively one is apt to be damned by some and praised by others, depending the ideas of the particular individual.

George Bernard Shaw was one of the most controversial figures of his period. He was well known as a dramatist, critic and writer on public affairs. In his early days had no great love for the stage - but instead reorganized this media as a sort of platform for the exposition of certain ideas of political and social reform to which he dedicated himself. Shaw's approach to dramatizing was somewhat different in that he aimed at the minds of play goers rather than at their emotions and physical sensations. Thought and not action characterized the Shavian type of theatre.

"GBS" was one of the well known playwrights who wrote many of his plays to be read rather than played - and this week's offering falls in this group since it was not until 1953 when a successful production of the play was launched in New York.

To give an outline of the plot of "Misalliance" is difficult. Actually we have the author discussing a number of subjects which winds up as fairly pleasant theatre. There is a middle class family, a father, mother, son and daughter. Father, a bit of a rake, has been quite successful financially. The daughter, engaged to a somewhat eccentric son of a member of the aristocracy enters an aviator, a Polish lady acrobat, a possible illegitimate child, and a lot of interesting conversation basically having to do with liberty, infidelity, Radicalism, the British empire, prostitution and family disturbances.

It takes a bit of effort at the beginning but through acts two and three everyone in attendance has a good time listening to erudite dialogue, and at the end all is well, so to speak.

The group must be congratulated as a unit for the good job it has done. This week's endeavor requires collective effort and it is really present. There are, however, a few performances which must be singled out for special commendation. These are: John Fisher, as father Tarleton, the cause of it all. This young player has his best opportunity so far this season and comes up with a characterization well studied and sustained. Jim Friedman does it again this week as Lord Summerhays, Tarleton's vis-a-vis. His somewhat unusual son, Bentley, is portrayed by Marty McGuire in a manner most satisfactory. Steve Wagner in a key role gives a monologue which for rapidity of speech reminds one of Danny Kaye in his recitation of the Russian composer in "Lady In The Dark." Judy Kranz is the Polish acrobat who is responsible for some of the most entertaining portions of the evening. Again the versatility of this young performer is well demonstrated, and kudos are extended her for an excellent performance. Other members of this well knit cast are: Peggy Lewis, Judith Wiemken, Richard Dorian and Fred Burrell, not to mention them individually does not detract from their performances.

That about wraps it up for this week. Something a little different, something to be seen to widen one's experience with the theatre.

Three Fail to Buy Licenses for Dogs

Three persons were cited this week for failure to get a dog license. They were given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney.

Those listed:

Floyd Durst, failing to get license for two or more dogs, $10.

Ervin Liller, failing to get license for two or more dogs, $10.

Victor W. Pritts, failing to get dog license, $5.

Unwilling to Appear

Blaine Wilburn, Accident farmer, was determined he would not appear before Trial Magistrate Maroney on a charge of refusing to get a license for his dog, but the constables decreed otherwise.

Raymond Schlossnagle attempted to get him to come peaceably, but when Wilburn said, "If you want me you'll have to take me," he took him at his word. He got Junior Evans, Oakland area constable, and the two of them brought him in, but had to carry him from his field to the automobile which was waiting nearby.

At a hearing before Magistrate Maroney Wednesday afternoon he prayed a jury trial and furnished bond for his appearance at the September term of court.

Teen-Age News

Things are beginning to come alive at the Teen Club once again and it is certainly nice to have all the teens back. Received a letter from Clark Race show which is on KDKA TV every Saturday afternoon, and they have allotted five couples to audition for their show. That means that five boys and five girls will have to get teamed up and really go to work for the next two weeks. This Friday night and the following Friday will be dance contest and elimination night. To make it fair we will have judges to pick whom we think are the best all around dancers to appear for this audition, in Pittsburgh. So come, you hep cats, pick your partners and let's get in the groove and do some practicing and be at Teen Club to try out for this show. The ones who get to attend the show will have a chance to meet some of the country's top talent also. It will mean actually two trips to Pittsburgh. Everything is shaping up for Doo Jays for hops so get the gang and come out and join the fun. If you have any records in mind you would like to have call DE 4-2462, anytime. See you Friday night for the dance contest.

"Sidewalk superintendents" had a field day when the First National Bank of Oakland began to take shape in 1902. This week's old photograph shows some of the workers and spectators on the scene when foundation work was underway at the corner of Second and Alder streets.

The area must have been a busy one, judging from the amount of stone, lumber and other building supplies piled high along Alder street. The late Joseph Cogley was master stone mason for the job, and perhaps he is one of the workers shown in the picture.

Prior to erection of the bank building, the site was occupied by the Central Hotel, on the corner, and a small frame building next to it on Alder street. The meanderings of this latter structure were told in The Republican, issue of July 7 of this year, in connection with another old view of Alder street.

In the original photograph, although probably not so discernible in the printed reproduction, can be seen the old Lutheran church on the corner of Third and Alder, now occupied by the Rolyan furniture and hardware building.

More About The Journal

A few more facts have come to light concerning the former Garrett Journal, which was featured in last week's old photo.

Reference to old newspapers of the period disclose that on March 6, 1913, "The Garrett Publishing Company will move the Journal plant from the Hamill building into the rooms in the Nally building now occupied by Lawton and Son." The Hamill building location was the one shown in last week's issue, the Nally building referred to was located on the opposite side of Alder street.

Prior to this, on December 7, 1912, it was announced that Messrs. Shartzer and Rudisill, Oakland, have bought the Garrett Journal newspaper business from James D. Hamill." Mr. Hamill had established the publication in 1897.

Prentiss H. Porter Given Promotion

Prentiss H. Porter, former cashier and manager of The County Trust Company's branch in LaPlata, has been named vice-president of The Citizens National Bank of Laurel.

Mr. Porter was a former employe in the First National Bank in Oakland and a former cashier of the First National Bank of Friendsville. He is a son of E. Ray Porter, who resides south of town.

In making the announcement President Walter M. Cole said "The bank's volume of business is steadily increasing, along with a solid growth in assets, and we welcome Mr. Porter as an important addition to our executive staff." Mr. Porter's selection was made at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors on July 20 and became effective August 1.

Mr. Porter, 31, began his banking career in 1946, following three years of service in the Navy, with the First National Bank of Oakland, when he completed the American Banking course in Cumberland. In 1950 he was appointed cashier of the First National Bank of Friendsville and in 1952 he joined the County Trust Company of Maryland as branch manager in Pocomoke City, a position he held for six years. Since 1958 Mr. Porter has been cashier and manager at the County Trust's LaPlata branch.

A native of Oakland, he is a graduate of Oakland High school and is married to the former Miss Betty Bittinger. They have two sons, David, 10, and John, 6. He is a member of the Charles County Farm Bureau, the County Chamber of Commerce and Crescent Lodge No. 178, of Pocomoke City. At 1:30 p. m. Bishop Doll will be present for the all-mission family picnic being held on the lawn of the Log Church. Mrs. Thomas Paugh, Altamont, president of the Women of the Missions, is chairman of the picnic arrangements. Those planning to attend the picnic are to bring only their eating utensils. Gas Tax Refund

Garrett County Farm Bureau reminds farmers that they may now apply for a Federal tax refund on all gasoline used for farming purposes during the past twelve months, ending June 30.

All farmers who filed for this refund last year will receive forms in the mail. New farmers, and others who do not receive blanks by mail, may obtain such forms from the County Agent's office.

The tax was three cents a gallon on gasoline purchased between July 1, and September 30, 1959, and four cents a gallon from October 1 to June 30, 1960.

A refund cannot be claimed on gasoline used for trucks or cars driven on public roads even though driven on farm business. When custom work is done on the farm, the refund is claimed by the farmer who hires the work done, not by the custom operator, whose charges include the entire cost of gasoline.

Refund claims must be filed before September 30, with the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore, according to G. Emerson Bishoff, Chairman Publicity Committee, Garrett Co. Farm Bureau.

Algerian rebel raiders killed eleven in a beach attack.

"Isn't it wonderful, what man can do?" But when looking at man's work, we often overlook the Hand of God. Man harnessed the power in this great dam, but God created it. Long before man discovered the turbine or the electric motor, God placed the power at man's disposal.

God is the source of every one of man's inventive and ingenious undertakings. He gives us the natural resources and the intelligence to use them. And He wants us to use them constructively.

Our Christian faith teaches us of God's power and the vastness of its scope. It teaches us the right use of these blessings, so that life may be enriched by them. Go to church and learn God's plan of love for us and our fellowman. It will mean a better world for all of us.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. FOREMAN DE FOREST, D.D.

Bible Materials: Hosea 11.
Devotional Reading: Hosea 1:1-7.

God's Children

Lesson for August 7, 1960

MANY ECHOES of the tragedy through which the prophet Hosea passed, are to be read in his pages. He uses figures of speech which suggest sad chapters in his life-history. When his wife Gomer left him and all three children behind her, he had to be a father and mother to the little ones. This may be a memory underlying the opening words of the 11th chapter. The "I" in verses 1 through 9 refer to God. He is presented as a loving father, taking his child (Ephraim, one of the names for the nation of Israel) in his arms and teaching him to walk. It is a heart-stirring picture, the mighty God picking up baby Ephraim and holding him in His "everlasting arms" and teaching him to walk.

Dr. Foreman

"Sharper Than A Serpent's Tooth"

Perhaps Hosea had had trouble with his motherless children. Surely God had untold trouble with Israel. God and Israel are elsewhere called husband and wife; here they are father and son. But the picture is not of harmony and happiness; it is a picture of a broken home, broken because the son will not stay at his father's house, he disrespects his father's orders and wishes. Yet God's love continues. Even when Israel acts more like brutes than men. Hosea says God feeds them, and makes their yokes and bridles as easy as possible. Yet Israel has never appreciated what God has done. Israel has never appreciated what God would do if they would let him. They worship little gods, "Baals," instead of the true God. They owe their whole existence as a nation to his mighty help in bringing them out of a hopeless slavery in Egypt to a land of hope and freedom.

Even At Their Worst

Israel was a degeneration made up of mostly bad people. Because of their rival country, Judah, thought God had no use for them at all. He felt they were worthless bloodshed, its great men were mostly skilled in the arts of destruction, especially war, and worship was cheap and unworthy of the great God. Hosea says they went away from God, they sacrificed to idols, they are bent on turning away from God, they have refused to return to God. And yet, in spite of Israel, in spite of what they were at their worst, God cries out, "How can I give you up?"

No book in the Bible makes it plainer that the love of God is indestructible. God loves man even at their worst, he loves those who run away from him. Many persons are bothered by the suggestion that God is the father of all men. Does that mean that all men are alike in God's sight? Does it mean he loves wicked men quite as dearly as good men? If we follow the hints we have here in Hosea, we can venture these answers to those questions: Men are not alike in God's sight; the Bible clearly marks off good men from bad. God does love all men; but some run away from his love.

Why Be A Beast?

At several points Hosea speaks of Israel not as a wife, not as a son, but as an animal, most likely an ox, a beast of burden. Now it is the glory and the privilege of God's children to honor and serve him. But there is a great deal of difference between serving God really, out of love for him and eagerness to please him, and serving God only because he puts a bridle around your mouth and drives you as a farmer drives a mule. We do not upset God's plan for the universe by being balky. We grieve God, but we do not defeat him, by our stubbornness. No man really runs a successful rebellion against God. God is all-powerful and all-wise as well as all-patient and all-loving. He desires the free devotion of free sons; but if this is refused, the failure and the tragedy comes down on man's head, not on God's.

Jubilee Jamboree

Boom went the aerial bomb and thousands of flags representing fifty nations. Every eight foreign countries and hundreds of council camps sent up a salute simultaneously! It was opening day at the Fifth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America. Here at Colorado Springs, Colorado, July 22-28, Scouts have met, talked with one another, exchanged ideas, swapped patches, and made friends never to be forgotten. They have also learned many skills in camping, cooking, conservation, marksmanship, archery, hiking, personal fitness, outercrafts, and in dozens of other areas.

On Friday, the opening night, all 50,000 of us marched together to the horse arena which has a track the size of a football field. We were marching in columns of fours and one could see these columns extending in each of four directions for a mile or more. An hour and twenty minutes was the time required to mobilize the entire camp. An Indian dance by the world famous Koshare Indians. The Indian Dancers opened the big show. This was followed by an immense flag display and a message from President Eisenhower which was carried 230 miles by Jamboree, Colorado by Pony Express and delivered to the scouts by President Ellsworth Augustus of the Boy Scouts of America. Other important people included Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Executive; Mr. James Arness of T. V.'s Gunsmoke; Mr. Lanny Ross and the son of the founder of Scouting, Lord Baden-Powell. Preceding an international pageant on the Founding of America, the Governor of Colorado welcomed us to the Jamboree. The program which followed the theme of American Scouting for the past four years, "Onward for God and Country," culminated with a gigantic fireworks display.

On Sunday morning church services of thirteen different faiths were held in different areas of the camp. "A Scout is Reverent" at a Jamboree just as he is everywhere at all times.

Monday was Rodeo Day, and we saw some real Western skills performed by the champs.

On Tuesday night at the big campfire we saw the Lennon Sisters and Herb Shriner with the help of the Jamboree he had met to play the harmonica.

Skill-O-Rama was a highlight which exhibited all kinds of Scouting skills.

Today, Thursday, July 28, is our last big day. It is something we knew had to come allthough we were not looking forward to it because it meant another good thing would end. Therefore we will approach the arena with solemnity. A candle-light service will conclude our jamboree. Our greatest cheer is in knowing that as much as we may never again see most of the friends we met here, our memories will always linger

Some Interesting facts About the Jamboree

1. Total Population 56,078.
2. Foreign participants 641 scouts and leaders.
3. Number of countries represented 29 including the United States.
4. There were 36 telephone operators taking over 10,000 calls per day.
5. Nine and one half million pieces of paper cups, plates, and napkins were used during the Jamboree.
6. There were as many as 16,380 charcoal fires lighted at one time.
7. Twenty freight cars of charcoal were used.
8. 87,360 quarts of milk were consumed each day.
9. Twenty-two miles of hot dogs were eaten.
10. Nine-seven freight cars of food were used. All food was delivered to the sections' commissaries by night.

Two 4-H project dairy heifers being groomed for the Garrett County Fair. Holding the one on the left is Dale and at the right is Larry, both sons of Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Wagner, Jr., of Star Route, Oakland. If the boys take after their father, they should bring back the ribbons because the Wagner farm has had the champion adult honors at the fair for the past two years.

This piece of machinery takes care of an hour's shovel work in just a few minutes. It is the new gutter cleaner at the barn of Claude W. Wagner, Jr. The cleaner, of a new endless cable type, is lower in cost than the previous models available and should bring gutter cleaners nearer the reach of more Garrett county farmers. Several gutter cleaner manufacturers are now making a product similar to the one shown here.

Mechanical Helpers Aid Claude Wagner In Improving Farm

Mechanical helpers have enabled the Claude W. Wagner, Jr., farm, Star Route, Oakland, to double the size of the milking herd without increasing the daily work load.

When the Claude W. Wagner Jr., family won the Garrett County championship in Farmers For Better Living back in 1957, they acted as though they still had the prize to win. They practically doubled the size of their barn by adding a 40-foot addition to the 48 foot barn they added 16 cows to their milk herd bringing the milking total to 35 cows.

Added to take care of the additional herd was a new barn gutter cleaner. Two ventilating fans, each operated by its own thermostat to pull fresh air in through ten intake ports, and, just recently, the bulk milk cooler.

In order to bring the capacity of the 115 acres of farm land up to the larger cow herd Wagner began using more and more fertilizer every year. He has applied at least eight tons of fertilizer this year. After the first cutting of the meadows, he top dresses them with fertilizer to improve the second cutting and possibly a third cutting. All cow manure is plowed under as is the chicken manure he obtains from a neighbor who raises broilers in 10,000 to 17,000 bird batches four times a year.
